Senate Will Vote on Bonus Today

PASSAGE SEEMS ASSURED; VETO MAY BE BEATEN

President's Protest Is Unavailing.

Congressional conferees approve government operation of Muscle Shoals with veto apparently only obstacle now in path of resolution. (Story on page 6.)

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Ignoring a protest by President Hoover, sponsors of the house veterans' bonus loan bill today perfected plans to rush it through the senate tomorrow. A unanimous consent agreement entered into by the senate, provides for its consideration at the beginning of tomorrow's session. Predictions were general that it would be passed tomorrow by a large enough margin to make virtually certain passage over the anticipated veto by the President.

The bill probably will be in Mr. Hoover's hands by Friday, thus presenting a "pocket veto," which would be possible if it reached him in the last ten days of the session of congress.

The senate prepared for action tomorrow after Senator Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah], chairman of the finance committee, had reported the bill in exactly the form in which it was passed in the house by an overwhelming majority on Monday. The unanimous consent agreement was obtained at the request of Senator Harrison [Dem., Miss.].

Ignore Hoover's Objections.

The finance committee approved the bill by a vote of 13 to 3 after brushing aside objections offered by President Hoover in a letter addressed to Senator Smoot. The President's objections, which were predicated upon an estimated cost of one billion dollars, was supported by testimony by Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, and Undersecretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills.

President Hoover backed up the position taken by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in his letter last week to Representative W. C. Hawley [Rep., Ore.], chairman of the house ways and means committee, that the bill imposes financial burdens which may tend in the end to prolong the business depression.

Senator Smoot and Senator David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.], an administration spokesman, both told the finance committee that, in their opinion, the President's letter justified the inference that the bill would be vetoed if it reached him in its present form.

Refuse to Adopt Amendment.

The committee refused to adopt an amendment making the proposed loans applicable only to veterans in actual need, which would have assured administration approval. That such an amendment would satisfy the treasury was asserted by Undersecretary Mills, who thought that it would reduce the cost to 200 million dollars, which, he said, could be financed without difficulty.

An amendment by Senator W. H. King [Dem., Utah] to grant increased loans only to veterans who could show distress was rejected by the committee by a vote of 7 to 10.

An amendment by Senator David I. Walsh [Dem., Mass.] to provide for the payment of $150 each to veterans in distress as a deduction from the value of the bonus certificate was defeated, 8 to 9. An amendment by Senator Reed to limit the loans only to those veterans who already have borrowed on their bonus certificates was defeated, 5 to 12. An amendment by Senator Elmer Thomas [Dem., Okla.] to eliminate interest payments on loans was defeated, 3 to 13.

Vote on Final Motion.

In the final vote on a motion by Senator Harrison to report the house bill without amendment, the 13 who voted in the affirmative were Senators James E. Watson [Ind.], Samuel Shortridge [Cal.], James Couzens [Mich.], Henry W. Keyes [N. H.], Robert M. La Follette [Wis.], and John Thomas [Idaho]. Republicans, and Harrison, F. M. Simmons [N. C.], W. F. George [Ga.], David I. Walsh [Mass.], A. W. Barkley [Ky.], Elmer Thomas [Okla.], and Tom Connally [Tex.], Democrats.

The three voting in the negative were Senators Smoot, Reed, and Hiram Bingham [Conn.], all Republicans.

In the vote on the Walsh amend-

DISCUSSING THE PRIMARY

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.—Copyright, 1931, by The Chicago Tribune. McCUTCHEON

"Well, I wonder if Big Bill can put it over again."

"I doubt it, but if he does Tony Cermak'll trim him in April. Tony's got a united party behind him and Thompson has antagonized so much of the Republican party that his old following is shot to pieces. Besides, it's probably another Democratic year."

"Don't fool yourself. Thompson's still got a lot o' strength, in spite of his record the last four years. He's got the city hall bunch, and if they don't come across they'll lose their jobs. Then he's got lots o' money—just see the amount he's spending on fancy campaign literature. That pamphlet alone will cost him more than his salary for the next four years if he is elected. And, of course, he'll get the gang vote from top to bottom, and, believe me, they can swing a lot o' votes in some of the river wards. Then there is the colored vote. Thompson claims to hold it in his mitt. And then there's a lot of the German vote that still feels friendly to him, though as a rule they're an orderly class that won't stand for the crime conditions we've been having. Besides that, Thompson is a clever showman. He knows all the tricks of ballyhooing with these cowboy and circus stunts, and a lot o' boobs still fall for that kind o' bunk."

"It's funny about Thompson. I cast my first vote for him when he first ran, and he won by a whale of a majority—150,000. Most everybody wished him well. He went in with the good wishes of most folks. He had a great chance to make a big name for himself. But what did he do? He started right in to build up a machine, tying himself up with the Lorimer and Lundin factions. And from that time on came most of the troubles Chicago has been suffering from."

"But Thompson has always been loyal to his friends."

"Yes, as long as they go along with him his way. George Harding was one of his closest friends. They say he argued with Bill for two hours trying to persuade him not to run this year, but Bill wouldn't listen. So they split, and Harding is now with Lyle. The same way with Schmidt, another of his cabinet. Schmidt couldn't go along with Thompson any longer, so they split and he's now running against him. Yes, Bill is loyal to his friends as long as they go along his way and no longer."

"I remember the Dever campaign four years ago. Dever had been trying to clean up the city and had closed a lot of disreputable joints. Then along came Big Bill, announcing that if he was elected he would open up all the places Dever had closed and 10,000 more besides. This was a swell invitation to crime, and the criminals flocked to Chicago in swarms. Instead of retail crime, we had it wholesale! And then is when Chicago's bad reputation began to spread around the world. Racketeers muscled their way into our own organizations and gave us a bad name. Bombers terrorized opposition. It was a lovely mess. It was as much as your life was worth to try to stand out against them. And it won't be any better as long as Thompson is mayor."

"Yes, and do you remember how he was saying four years ago that there wouldn't be any bread lines if he was elected? I wonder what he's got to say about that today?"

"Well, you can't blame Thompson for that. This unemployment is all over the country—specially in the industrial centers. No mayor, no matter who he was, could have prevented the present unemployment."

"Not entirely. I recognize that. But Thompson aggravated it. Out of town customers got nervous about coming here with the papers full of crime, and that hurt business. And whatever keeps buyers away hurts us all, you and me and all of us. You never heard of crime helping a city and you never will."

"Lyle seems to be giving Thompson a run for his money. I kind o' like the way that guy handles these crooks. I was strong for him when he began treating the big boys rough. And the more they squawked the more I was for him. Every knock was a boost with me. I guess the training he got when he was chauffeuring a team o' horses around Chicago thirty years ago has helped some. Anyway, he used the only methods that will get you anywhere against these big crooks. They've got their powerful friends high in politics, they've got barrels of money, and they've got tricky lawyers that can buy juries, influence weak judges, and tie up litigation. But they had another think coming when they ran up against Lyle. He's a scrapper! No more $100 bonds! No more o' these idiotic technicalities that are making our criminal justice a farce. The people were dead sick o' the way these big criminals were making a monkey o' the courts, and they welcomed Lyle's methods with three rousing cheers. I'm not so damned strict myself when it comes to certain things, but I've got to live here in Chicago and I've got some children growing up, and I don't want to see the city turned over to a bunch of lousy crooks."

ROVING BANDITS LOOT 3 STORES; GET $700 BOOTY

Roving robbers in a series of raids last night looted two drug stores and a confectionery store and held up a truck driver, obtaining more than $700 booty. In their escapades a score of persons were terrified.

A pair of gunmen using a stolen taxicab held up in quick succession a Walgreen drug store at 1559 West Chicago avenue, obtaining $200, and the confectionery of Michael Maharas, 1400 Milwaukee avenue, where they seized $50. Their third victim was Meyer Price, 1444 South Turner avenue, a truck driver, who lost $45.

A trio of robbers strode into a Liggett drug store at 1820 South Trumbull avenue, held up the manager, three clerks, and four customers and fled with $425 from the safe and cash register.

Kidnaped by a pair of gunmen in front of his south side apartment yesterday, Joseph Snyder, field manager for the Cook County Trust company, 180 West Washington street, was compelled by his captors to drive to a secluded spot nearby where they beat him on the head, robbed him of $3,000 in cash and checks and drove off in his car.

Mr. Snyder, who resides at 6731 Jeffery avenue, was stepping into his car to drive downtown when the robbers thrust pistols at his vest. At their direction, he drove to an alley at 67th street and Clyde avenue, where one of them struck him with a pistol butt while the other seized his brief case, containing the cash and checks.

ARREST OFFICIAL OF DEFUNCT BANK AFTER LONG HUNT

A search for Lee A. King, 51 years old, vice president of the defunct Exchange State bank, ended yesterday afternoon when he was arrested as he stepped from an office in a building at 140 North Dearborn street.

King is a co-defendant with Roscoe H. H. Luckenbill, president of the bank, in a series of indictments charging them with misuse of the funds of the depositors. Luckenbill is still a fugitive. The Exchange bank, which was at Ogden avenue and Van Buren street, was closed by the state auditor on Nov. 21, 1930.

Assistant State's Attorney Henry Ayers had circularized every postoffice in the country in an effort to find King and Luckenbill. He had no success until he was given information yesterday as to King's whereabouts. Detectives were sent to arrest him.

W. Perkins Bull Hies to Canada Despite Injury

The aura of mystery surrounding the activities of W. Perkins Bull, K. C., Canadian barrister and confidant of the wealthy Horlick malted milk family, deepened yesterday as Bull, suffering serious injury from an automobile accident, was taken out of a Michigan hospital, rushed across the American border, and placed in a Canadian hospital.

Bull's hurried exit from the United States began wit. his automobile trip from Chicago in the early hours of Monday morning, was interrupted for several hours near Coldwater, Mich., by an auto crash, and continued into Canada as soon as his injuries were patched up. The journey ended at Windsor, Canada, where physicians announced that the British lawyer's condition will permit removal to Toronto today by motor ambulance.

Wanted Him as Witness.

Meanwhile in Chicago Attorney Jay Fred Reeve started an investigation to learn whether Bull's sudden departure was made in an effort to evade testifying before Master in Chancery James P. Harrold in the suit brought by Dr. John S. Sidley, husband of Mabelle Horlick Sidley, to restrain Bull and private sleuths from harassing him.

Testimony in the case was to have been taken yesterday, but because of Bull's absence the case was continued until tomorrow with the understanding that Bull would be present if able and that, regardless of Bull's condition, J. J. Harrison, head of the detective agency hired by Bull to shadow Dr. Sidley, would be on hand to testify. It was not considered possible, however, that Mr. Bull would be able to leave the hospital for the hearing. His injuries were pronounced serious by doctors at the Coldwater hospital.

Dr. Sidley is asking $250,000 damages from Bull and Harrison, charging that the constant shadowing of his movements has broken his health. Sleuths were put on his trail, Dr. Sidley alleges, shortly after his wife started divorce proceedings against him and has continued for three years, under Bull's direction.

The Motor Car Crash.

Late Monday night Bull, with Bernard Magruder, assistant to Col. William Horlick and vice president of the Horlick Malted Milk company at Racine, Wis., left Chicago in an automobile driven by Carl F. Moore, who is employed by a car rental agency.

It was learned last night that Bull,

DOODY GRANTED NEW TRIAL AS SUPREME COURT REVERSES SELF

Willie Doody, the baby faced killer, won a new lease on life yesterday when the Illinois Supreme court reversed its former ruling and granted him a new trial. Doody was under death sentence for the killing of Chief of Police Charles Levy of Berwyn in a gun battle in May, 1929.

Several months ago the court sustained the verdict in Judge Otto Kerner's Criminal court, but later granted a motion for a rehearing and at the same time ordered stricken from the files as "impertinent" a petition in Doody's behalf by Attorney William Scott Stewart. The court yesterday held that the trial court's instructions to the jury were in error.

Doody was suspected of many crimes during the months that he was a fugitive from authorities who were trying to apprehend him in connection with the murder of Chief Levy. Levy had tried to arrest him as a robbery suspect and was shot down. The village of Berwyn raised a substantial sum of money to help Levy's widow and five young sons.

Doody smiled yesterday when Warden David Moneypenny told him he was granted a new trial. He refused to comment, however, stating that he was following the advice of his attorney.

CAN BLUE EYES BEGET BROWN? NO, REPLIES SCIENCE

A scientific law of heredity, propounded in 1865 by an Austrian abbot, Gregor Mendel, was invoked yesterday before Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg in a lawsuit over the $1,000,000 estate of the late Albert W. Longley, hat manufacturer.

The Mendelian law declares that where both parents have blue eyes no brown eyed children are ever born. The plaintiff in the suit, George Adair Longley, claims to be a son of the hat maker by his first wife, Alice. He has brown eyes.

Attorneys for the defendant, Mrs. Caroline Longley, who was Longley's third wife and inherited most of his estate, called to the stand Dr. Sanford Gifford, professor of opthamology at Northwestern university. The doctor was informed that the elder Longley and his first wife both had blue eyes and was asked if their offspring could be brown eyed.

"Absolutely no," the witness answered, and, when asked to explain, cited the Mendelian law.

JURORS DEMAND POLICE OUSTER IN GRAFT QUIZ

Seven policemen assigned to the Englewood station were ordered suspended from the department yesterday by the special grand jury investigating charges of police corruption. The books and records of the station were seized in a raid by state's attorney's detectives. The jurors are concentrating the investigation on the Englewood district and are looking for the "higher-ups" believed to be extending protection to gambling, vice and booze joints, it was announced.

The policemen whose suspension was asked by the grand jurors are Sergt. John J. Feery, who is said to have posed around the district as "the captain's man"; Policeman Fred B. Kelly, his partner, and Policemen Joseph O'Brien, Ira L. O'Hara, Patrick J. Nolan, Owen Small, and Louis Starr.

Policemen Face Jury.

The policemen were taken before the jury late yesterday afternoon to answer charges made by speakeasy owners and handbook operators, but they refused to sign immunity waivers and testify. They all refused to answer any of the accusations to the effect that they had been collecting graft, Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller revealed after the jury session.

Prosecutor Mueller and A. A. Parmar, foreman of the jury, said that immunity was offered to the policemen if they would testify against the "higher-ups." Immunity was given under the special bribery statute to several handbook owners and proprietors of speakeasies who are said to have entrenched themselves in the Englewood district after they were driven out of the adjoining Stockyards district by Capt. James Allman.

The various witnesses told of paying from $10 to $150 a month to the various policemen for protection from police raids. The identity of most of the witnesses was kept secret by the jurors.

"It does not sound reasonable that any ordinary patrolman could guarantee protection," remarked several of the jurors.

Captain Is Questioned.

Capt. Michael Lee, in charge of the Englewood district, was questioned on Tuesday night by Prosecutor Mueller, but he denied that he had any idea that any of his subordinates were collecting graft. Capt. Lee said he thought his district was clean of vice, gambling, and booze resorts.

The jurors wanted Acting Commissioner Alcock to come to the grand jury room and strip the seven policemen of their stars and suspend them at once. The acting commissioner, however, could not be reached by the time the jury adjourned and Prosecutor Mueller was ordered to convey the order to Alcock and ask for immediate action. None of the policemen was arrested. Sergt. Feery and Patrolman Kelly, who were in custody during the previous night, were released. All were back on duty late last night.

Raid on Police Station.

The raid on the police station was conducted by Sergts. John Scherping and Leo Anderson, acting on orders of the jurors. They seized the arrest books and all other data pertaining to police business during 1930. The prosecutors will examine these records between now and next Wednesday, when the jurors will resume their sessions.

Sergts. Arthur Wacholz and Robert Bennett of the state's attorney's office raided a speakeasy at 1112 West 69th street, in the Englewood district, last night and arrested George Green, said to be the owner, and Joe Jones, the bartender. Fifteen barrels of beer, four cases of whisky, and a quantity of moonshine were seized.

The prisoners were questioned in an effort to learn if they had been paying policemen for protection.

Investigate Carey Case.

The jurors yesterday gave attention to the long pending case against Bishop Archibald Carey, colored member of the Thompson civil service commission, which will be called upon to act in the cases of the seven policemen now under suspicion.

Assistant State's Attorney George Lavin was called before the jury to explain why the Carey case, charging graft and conspiracy in the sale of jobs, had never been tried. The prosecutor explained that he had stood ready since the indictments were returned Nov. 1, 1929, to go to trial, but that the defendant and his attorney, Senator Elect James Hamilton Lewis, have caused the continuances.

Tragic Death of Attorney Ends Romance

Redmond D. Stephens, former Chicago lawyer, who had spent the last few years in travel, was run over by a railroad train and killed last Friday evening at French Lick, Ind. No death notice having been published here, news of the tragedy was discovered only last night.

Mr. Stephens was 56 years old, had been prominent in Chicago society and was formerly a partner in the law firm of Scott, Bancroft, Martin & Stephens. He had served as a captain in the world war, was a member of the claims board of the war department following the armistice, and was assistant director of the budget in Washington during part of the Harding administration.

Twice Married and Divorced.

He had been twice married and divorced. His first wife, Marion Ream Stephens, was divorced by him in April, 1918, on charges of desertion. His second wife, Edna Davis Stephens of California, won a decree in March, 1929, on grounds of cruelty.

It was reported that Mr. Stephens was contemplating a third marriage. At intervals during the last 18 months he had stopped at the French Lick Springs hotel. Registered there at the time of his death was Mrs. Vivian Gabarini, a beauty of Naples, Italy.

Tells of Marriage Plans.

Following his death Coroner R. L. Halladay and Police Chief Elwood Apple were given to understand, they said, that Mrs. Gabarini was Mr. Stephens' secretary. This was denied by H. J. Fawcett, manager of the hotel, and by Mrs. Gabarini, who is still registered there. Mrs. Gabarini declared she was Mr. Stephens' fiancée and that they were shortly to be wed.

None of his Chicago friends was aware of the impending wedding, it was said. Lester Falk, Mr. Stephens' former law partner and co-executor of his will, said he had heard nothing of it. Mr. Stephens' only surviving relative is a sister, Mrs. William Van Doren Wright, who is now traveling in Europe.

Weds N. B. Ream's Daughter.

Mr. Stephens was born on May 30, 1874, at Cedar Rapids, Ia. He attended Harvard university and the Northwestern university law school, beginning practice in Chicago in 1899. He and Marion Ream, daughter of the late Norman B. Ream, were married on Feb. 18, 1903. Their home, still standing at 1565 Astor street, was a show place of the near north side.

Four years after the divorce Mrs. Stephens married Anastase Vonsiatskoy-Vonsiatsky, a 23 year old Pole, who had fought against the bolshevists and was working as an apprentice foundryman in the Baldwin locomotive works at Eddystone, Pa., when she met him. Mrs. Stephens' inheritance from her father was estimated at $40,000,000.

Slip of Foot Causes Death.

The accident resulting in Mr. Stephen's death was peculiar. In the afternoon he had visited with three friends, among them Henry Hooper of Chicago, and afterwards had gone for a motor ride. The driver left him at the Monon railroad station, a few hundred feet down a slope from the hotel. Mr. Stephens was striding along the platform towards a path leading to the hotel when his foot slipped.

Mr. Stephens was somewhat deaf in one ear. He wore bifocal glasses, and dusk was falling. Apparently he neither heard the bell nor saw the headlight of the train, which was just starting out of the station. He fell on the tracks and, before the train could be halted, the locomotive struck him.

TAXPAYERS PAY FOR THOMPSON, LYLE DECLARES

Judge Rips Mayor's Builder Boast.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Hooking up Frank J. Loesch's recent statement that Capone contributed $260,000 to the Thompson campaign funds of 1927, Judge Lyle last night asked Mayor Thompson who paid the $100,000 estimated as the cost of mailing a 16 page rotogravure tabloid to 1,000,000 voters.

He also ridiculed the claims set up in the name of Thompson in the booklet, which consists almost entirely of pictures of school buildings, bridges, widened streets, and similar improvements.

Ridicules Thompson Claims.

"William Didmore Thompson," he said, "would have you believe that he is responsible for every bit of the growth of Chicago in the last decade or two. He built the skyline, of course, but he also made the grass grow and the trees grow. He surely is responsible for the growth of the city and possibly he would claim full credit for all the births that helped the growth in population since the last census."

Judge Lyle's evening meetings were on the north side—at Prudential hall, Lincoln Turner hall, Social Turner hall, and Belmont hall—and there he discussed this subject before crowded houses. But the attendance there was not considered so significant as the crowd that jammed into and around the Apollo theater at noon.

Throngs Surround Theater.

The meeting for Judge Lyle there was unannounced. Some of the newspapers had said there would be no noon meeting for him. But by the time he arrived to speak the men and women were so densely packed around the theater that he could gain the entrance only with difficulty. The entire house was filled, the big stage was overflowing, and during his speech 3,000, it was estimated, stood in the street listening to the amplifiers.

When the judge had finished the crowd applauded until he rose again and added a few words. Then the hundreds on the stage followed him to the sidewalk and down the street trying to shake his hand. Mounted policemen rode alongside to guard against accidents.

Attacks Rotogravure Tabloid.

In attacking the Thompson rotogravure tabloid in the evening, Judge Lyle said that Thompson had taken credit to himself for improvements planned out thirty years ago and that if some other mayor had served during the twelve years he has been in office the extent of the improvements made would have been much greater.

"A striking piece of campaign printing," Judge Lyle said, "is now being received by the citizens of Chicago. It comes from Thompson headquarters. As a specimen of the engraver's art and of picture printing it deserves a place in an art gallery.

"Sixteen pages of tabloid newspaper size on fine paper. It is entitled 'Thompsonism' and the name is apt as it is another example of large expenditures of somebody's money for purely political purposes. Preparation, printing and mailing must have cost $100,000.

"Who Paid the Bill?"

"Now who do you suppose paid for it? The salary of the mayor of Chicago is $18,000, so by no stretch of imagination can the present incumbent of the office have paid for it.

"Perhaps he is paying for it from the $150,000 he is said to be getting for this campaign from Al Capone.

"The pictures represent public improvements that have been worked out in Chicago during the last sixteen years — improvements that were planned by Fred Busse when he was mayor, that were initiated and carried on through Busse's administration and through Harrison's administration, and carried on during Dever's administration, and carried on during Thompson's administration.

Bigger Bills, Bigger Rakeoff.

"But there is something else than brick and mortar and stone and steel involved in these great public improvements and that is the cost of them. The one thing that Thompson and Mike Faherty found out early was that the bigger the bills, the bigger the rakeoff, and so no scheme was too big and no cost prohibitive.

"When you look over this piece of campaign literature and admire it as a specimen of the printer's art, look over your tax bills at the same time, and you will find the million dollar experts and the $150 a day legal and engineering experts, and you will find that millions of dollars were expended, not for the purpose of completing this work, but for the purpose of furnishing a pipe line from the city treasury to the pockets of favored contractors.

"Of course, this pamphlet is Thompsonism — Thompsonism in its most aggravated form, Thompsonism that has issued a political document paid for by the underworld and by grafting and dishonest contractors.

"Let me just ask one question of Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works, who undertakes to assume credit for straightening the Chicago river, a project organized under another administration and carried through toward completion before Thompson came into office.

"Is it a fact, Mr. Wolfe, that the contract for the filling of the old channel of the Chicago river required that it be filled with sand and gravel in order that the new made land might be solid and secure, and is it a fact, Mr. Wolfe, that that channel, instead of being filled with sand and gravel, was used as a dumping place for the refuse and dirt excavated in loop buildings and dumped there on the payment to some one of a fee per cubic yard?

More Questions for Wolfe.

"Is it true, Mr. Wolfe, that the taxpayers of Chicago paid for that filling on the basis of it being done with sand and gravel, when it was actually done in clay and refuse?

"And is it true, Mr. Wolfe, that instead of the channel being filled with sand there is only a thin veneer of sand on top of the dirt and clay and refuse?

"Possibly an honest answer to these questions might explain where some of the $100,000 came from that is necessary to circulate this political document, and possibly, Mr. Wolfe, part of the $160,000 which you paid over contract price for the approaches to the Wabash avenue bridge made substantial contribution toward the circulating of this political document."

Labor Paper for Lyle.

"Let Judge Lyle Finish the Job!" is the slogan carried on the cover of the current issue of the Union Labor Advocate. The leading editorial is devoted to Judge Lyle, and reads in part:

"No resident of Chicago will doubt that racketeering prevails here. A common mistake is in thinking only of Capone, Bugs Moran, or gunmen and thugs in connection with racketeering.

"As a matter of fact, there are racketeers in high places in the administration of government in Cook county and Chicago and the system has been established for so long a time that it will take a man of more than ordinary courage and fearlessness to expose the racketeers, whether found on the bench, in the administrative branches of our government, the police force, or elsewhere."

The Lynching Pictures.

Lyle headquarters made public a statement prompted by reports that one of the eleventh hour moves of the Thompson camp will be to distribute lynching pictures among Negro voters, this being an attack on Lyle because his family home was in Tennessee. The statement was by Judson S. Hill, white president of the Morristown Normal and Industrial college of Morristown, Tenn., an institution for Negroes.

"In the fifty years I have lived in Morristown," said President Hill's statement, "I have not seen or heard of any racial troubles in this section. Lynchings and mob or race riots are unheard of with us. The Negro exercises his right of franchise here and votes as he pleases.

"I have known the family of Judge Lyle for fifty years. They were regarded as citizens of the best type. Judge Lyle, as a boy, attended the public schools in Morristown. Three of my own children were in school with him, two of them his classmates and friends. His reputation as a student and young man was the highest and he was held in high esteem by all who knew him. Morristown and East Tennessee are proud of Judge Lyle and his enviable reputation."

CITY HALL AIDS WIN DELAY IN FLOOD FUND QUIZ

A thorough hearing of the charges that Mayor Thompson improperly used funds contributed by school children and others in 1927 for the relief of Mississippi flood sufferers will be delayed until after the primary. This was apparent yesterday when Superior Judge Denis E. Sullivan continued until March 2 a ruling on a petition to compel three witnesses to testify at the hearing.

The witnesses, who refused to testify at a hearing before Master in Chancery Harry Smitz on Monday, are Commissioner of Public Works Richard W. Wolfe, R. H. Holst, an employe in the city controller's office, and Grover D. Edwards, secretary and treasurer of the Congress hotel.

Attorneys for the defendants argued for a continuance on grounds that the three witnesses were not given a copy of the petition when they were served with a notice to appear before Judge Sullivan. Upon being informed that the petition will be contested the judge placed the matter on Judge Robert E. Gentzel's contested motion calendar. Judge Gentzel is on his vacation and will not return to his bench uhtil March 2.

The suit charges that Thompson failed to disburse to flood sufferers $103,855 of the $139,772 originally contributed more than three years ago and that he has recently diverted large sums from this $103,855 remainder for political purposes.

FORFEITS BOND ON CHECK CHARGE.

Following the failure of Walter Heidelmeyer, 47 years old, to appear in Town Hall court yesterday on a charge of passing a worthless check Judge Leon Edelmas forfeited Heidelmeyer's $500 real estate bond and issued a capias for his arrest.

LAWYERS ON CITY PAY ROLL STAGE A LOOP MEETING

Ettelson's Aids Criticize Lyle Bench Record.

Lawyers attached to the pay roll of Corporation Counsel Ettelson staged a show yesterday in the Cort theater. They called themselves the Chicago Lawyers' Civic association and cards of admission were mailed with the announcement that the qualifications of Judge Lyle for mayor would be discussed.

Louis Rieger, who has an office at 11 South La Salle street, signed the announcement and gave his address as the address of the lawyers' civic association. He called the meeting to order with a few remarks about lawyers being best qualified to pass on the merits of a judge, and then introduced the other speakers.

Joseph Sullivan Speaks.

Joseph Sullivan, an assistant corporation counsel who has been an unsuccessful candidate for judge three times, declared Judge Lyle should have resigned his Municipal judgeship when he became a candidate for mayor. Justice Hughes resigned from the United States Supreme court when he was nominated for President and Justice Thompson resigned from the Illinois Supreme court when he was nominated for governor, Sullivan said, although Judge Dever did not resign when he was nominated for mayor.

Some states prohibt a judge from running for another office, Sullivan asserted, quoting a record prepared by Martin Foss of Ettelson's office.

Attorney Schulman's Story.

Attorney Max Schulman, who was asked from the audience if he is a "payroller like Sullivan," said he went to law school with Lyle twenty-six years ago. He told his grievance.

"I had a case involving $200 before Judge Lyle," he said. "The judge told us we'd have to finish the case in two hours. The plaintiff took an hour and ten minutes. Then court recessed for twenty-five minutes for lunch, and I had only begun to examine my first witness when Judge Lyle said the time was up and he directed the jury to find for the plaintiff.

"It cost me $600, but I went to the Supreme court and forced Lyle to sign a bill of exceptions. Then the Appellate court reversed Lyle."

Rush Johnson Takes Stage.

Schulman bowed himself offstage. Then appeared Rush B. Johnson, who has been defeated in his several attempts to become a judge. Johnson was introduced as a friend of Lyle, which he promptly denied, saying, however, that he was a friend of all the judges.

It was announced that as a friend of Lyle he would answer any question put to him.

Louis Blumenthal, formerly an assistant to former State's Attorney Crowe, read a list of prepared questions.

"What would you say about a judge who was reversed 67 times out of 99 cases that went to the Supreme court" Blumenthal asked.

"That's about the average for all judges," Johnson solemnly replied. Other questions and answers were of the same sort, and furnished laughter.

Resolutions Read, Vote Taken.

Resolutions against Lyle were read by George F. Rutledge and a vote had been called when there came an interruption. An elderly man in the gallery who identified himself as Joseph E. Winterbotham, an attorney, protested that the audience was not composed entirely of lawyers and that instead of being nonpolitical, as announced, it was a political meeting.

His protest resulted in the request that only lawyers vote, and the voting was by raising of hands. A number of hands went up and amidst more laughter the chairman counted fifteen hands representing negative votes.

The meeting was over and Chairman Rieger departed to prepare for his defense of his brother, Attorney Julius Rieger, whose trial on an indictment charging conspiracy to violate bankruptcy laws is scheduled for today before Federal Judge Wilkerson.

CERMAK BLAMES G. O. P. QUARRELS FOR TAX MUDDLE

Anton J. Cermak, Democratic candidate for mayor, in a radio speech last night blamed quarrels among the Republican taxing boards for creating the city's tax muddle and pointed to his administration as president of the Cook county board as a model for efficiency and economy in public office.

Mr. Cermak said that since he became president of the county board the tax rates of all other governing bodies except the county board had increased. The county, he said, had succeeded in saving $1,500,000 annually.

The big problem, Mr. Cermak said, is to reduce taxes and to consolidate the numerous taxing bodies as the first step in lightening the tax burden. He pledged himself to push such plans.

GESSIE PROUD OF JUDGE LYLE; IT'S HIS BIRTHPLACE

Indiana Hamlet Has Eyes on Election.

The town of Gessie, Ind., is proud of its native son. The hundred citizens of this little Hoosier settlement, which is just over the line from Danville, haven't forgotten the red headed John Homer Lyle, who played around the railroad depot and ran down the main street back in the late 80's. They have watched with lively interest his stormy career as alderman and jurist, and now every one of them is following with intense excitement his campaign as the outstanding Republican candidate for Chicago's mayoralty.

"I wish I was up thar in Chicago, for John Homer would get my vote next Tuesday," said Charles Lincoln Carithers, one of the 100 villagers. "You see I was named after a notable man myself and I've always backed them. I follow these politics, for I get my TRIBUNE every day up here at the junction at Rileysburg. Yes, I've been readin' all about the judge and I'm for him."

House Is Still Standing.

In the center of this "stoppin'" place, as Charlie Carithers describes the town of Gessie, stands the birthplace of Judge Lyle, a small weather beaten clapboard house. Here it was that Samuel Thomas Lyle and Lillie Dale Richardson first settled after their marriage and here their son, John Homer, and the daughter Alice were born. Mrs. Lyle was a school teacher in the rich farm land district of central Indiana and Mr. Lyle was a telegrapher in the station of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad at Gessie. For six or seven years they made this country settlement their home—until Mr. Lyle's work took him south to Morristown, Tenn.

Perry Sullivan, another of Gessie's land owners, has fallen heir to the Lyle homestead. Close by the roadside the gabled house still serves a useful purpose, now, however, as smoke house and carpenter shop. Within the partitions, marking living room, dining room, kitchen, and bedroom, remain. Only the simple furnishings of the Lyle family have given way to the necessary work benches and tools.

Church Folks Remember.

Across from Gessie's general store is the United Brethren church, fifty years old if a day, which tells more of this family which worshiped at the Sunday services and attended the weekly prayer meetings with clocklike regularity. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Saltsgraver and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Adams, among Gessie's most venerable citizens, "recollect" well these early experiences.

"Right here in the family album is a picture of John Homer and Miss Alice taken in their Sunday best," said Mrs. Saltsgraver as she produced the great book and unlocked it with care. "Just the other night we were looking at it as we were reading all about the judge. We all are mighty interested in this election and we are wishing John Homer well."

ROB AND STRIP TAXI DRIVER.

Two "stripper" bandits yesterday engaged the taxicab of Chris Garwell, 3646 Thomas street, drew guns, forced him into the rear seat, took his cap, trousers, and $17, and drove away.

G. E. Q. JOHNSON BACKS ALBERT IN MAYORALTY RACE

Alderman Hits Thompson Campaign Antics.

United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson yesterday indorsed Ald. Arthur F. Albert for the Republican nomination for mayor on the ground that he has consistently fought corruption and conditions which breed lawlessness.

The federal prosecutor, who was sponsored by Senator Deneen, has appeared at Albert meetings and it was generally known that he would throw his support to Albert, the Deneen candidate. He had witheld his formal statement, however, until he began a new appointive term a few days ago. His statement was made public at the Albert headquarters yesterday.

Gives Reasons for Support.

"As a citizen of Chicago I am naturally deeply interested in the Republican primary on the mayoralty," said Mr. Johnson. "I am supporting Ald. Albert for the following reasons:

"I believe that he is the best qualified, and it appears to me that he has for the longest period of time and with more consistendy fought corruption and conditions which breed lawlessness. I have been impressed with his sincerity and his honesty. He is young, intelligent and aggressive, and with his years of service in the city council he understands the city government and fully appreciates the needs of Chicago."

Attacks Thompson Show.

The Thompson donkey and elephant show was the target for a new attack last night by the alderman, who contrasted the campaign antics of the city hall incumbent with the attitude of a business executive seeking reelection by the stockholders of his corporation. Albert asked his audience at the Odd Fellows hall at 6318 Yale avenue, where he delivered his principal speech of the day, what would be the result if, at a meeting of the stockholders of the United States Steel corporation, the president were to appear seeking reelection and "leading a jackass, a burro, an elephant, and a camel."

"What do you think those stockholders would do if that president was to offer them a circus instead of presenting reports of the business for the term he had been in office?" Ald. Albert demanded. "How would they welcome his effort in bringing a troupe of cowboys and cowgirls into the board of directors' room to throw lariats, crack whips, and cavort around?"

Hits at Lyle, Too.

The alderman included Judge Lyle in his arraignment with a reference to Lyle's display of guns as a means of calling attention to the crime situation.

Albert will invade the loop today for the second time this week, with a massmeeting at the Adelphi theater at noon. His speakers will include Judges David F. Matchett and Hugo Friend, Dean Shailer Mathews, president of the Chicago Church federation, State's Attorney Swanson, and Mrs. Willa Laird. Ald. Guy Guernsey will preside.

George K. Schmidt, "nonfactional" Republican candidate for mayor, concentrated his efforts yesterday upon the labor vote, declaring in a speech at Wicker Park hall, 2040 West North avenue, that economy in the city hall would reduce taxes and furnish more jobs for the unemployed. If elected mayor, he said, his slogan would be "Chicago men and materials for Chicago work."

Alimony Slacker Tries to Flee Court After Sentence

Edmund Murphy, a real estate dealer, 6214 South Ashland avenue, was sentenced to six months in the county jail by Superior Judge John J. Sullivan yesterday for failing to pay temporary alimony to his estranged wife. Upon hearing the sentence, Murphy ran for the courtroom door but was captured by John Duffy, the judge's personal bailiff.

CAMPAIGN NOTES

Four north side wards, the 47th, 48th, 49th, and 50th, will join a demonstration for Judge Lyle at the Broadway armory, Broadway, near Thorndale avenue, at 8 o'clock tonight. Former Judge Harry F. Hamlin will preside.

An old fashioned torchlight parade will lead the way tonight to a Lyle meeting at the Grand Crossing Masonic temple, 7443 Ingleside avenue.

Radio appearances for three candidates are scheduled for tonight. Judge Lyle will be on WBBM at 8 o'clock. At 8:10 he will be represented over WCFL by Charles J. McGowan, veteran labor leader. Ald. Arthur F. Albert will go on WENR at 9:30. A. J. Cermak will be on WBBM at 9:45.

Lyle headquarters is planning to distribute cards carrying a single sentence from the South Bend speech of Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler: "Any police force can clean up any city in 24 hours if the mayor and the city government want it cleaned up."

"The Lyle forces are intact in the 12th ward," said A. E. Tysiak, acting committeeman. "Neither of the two so-called leaders who went over to Albert could carry his own precinct last year."

A point meeting of the Lake Shore League of Women Voters and the 42d and 43d ward branches of the Woman's City club will be held today at the Hotel Ambassador West.

PEACE PARLEY IN INDIA ADJOURNED; STUDY RESULTS

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi and the viceroy of India had another three-hour conference today, their second, and then adjourned further conferences so both could consult their associates on questions which had been propounded by both sides.

Neither discussed the matters they had talked about and no definite date was announced for resumption of their conversations, but it was believed that there would be another meeting on Friday or Saturday.

Several members of the congress party working committee have come to the capital to talk with Gandhi and the viceroy probably will communicate with Capt. Wedgwood Benn, secretary of state for India, and with Prime Minister MacDonald.

Suspension of the conferences was interpreted as an indication that the two men had brought up questions so important that neither felt competent to pass on them independently.

MOUNTED MILITIA BREAKS UP BREAD RIOTS IN MOSCOW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Feb. 18.—Wielding heavy knouts, mounted militia restored order in the working districts of Moscow on Sunday and Monday, when bread riots occurred following the breakdown of several mechanized bakeries supplying those regions with bread, according to travelers reaching here tonight.

Black bread is the only foodstuff now regularly rationed to the population. When the coöperative stores failed to supply their patrons mobs demolished the premises. Squads of mounted police are now patrolling Moscow and its suburbs.

The official soviet newspaper Pravda confirms reports of the breakdown in bread deliveries and publishes statements promising that the cheka will punish severely those officials responsible for the situation.

MYSTERY SHIP OFF FLORIDA FLIES "3 DARK FLAGS"

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 18.—(AP)—The patrol boat Yeaton was proceeding tonight to Sombrero light to investigate a steamer which was reported to have been flying "three dark flags." The ship was reported to coast guard officials here by the Havana-Miami plane of the Pan American Airways today. Coast guard officials said the three flag signal was not one of distress.

DEFEAT OF FOUR SOUTH PARK BOND ISSUES IS URGED

9 Other Propositions Are O. K.'d by 2 Groups.

The defeat at the primary next Tuesday of four of the seven bond issues proposed by the south park board was advised to the voters in that district yesterday in statements issued by the Chicago bureau of public efficiency and the Civic federation.

Both organizations approved the other three bond propositions of the park commissioners and also the bond issues proposed by Lincoln park, the city and the sanitary district. Defeat of the sanitary district issues was advocated by the Cook county chapter of the Izaak Walton league.

Proposed Bonds Attacked.

The south park propositions which the bureau of public efficiency and the Civic federation believe should be defeated are the $2,000,000 lake front developments bonds, $1,915,000 small parks bonds, $2,000,000 South Western boulevard bonds, and $1,000,000 Yates avenue bonds. The total of the four propositions is $8,125,000.

The issues recommended for passage by the Civic federation and the bureau of public efficiency, which total $46,475,000, are:

CITY.

SANITARY DISTRICT.

West side plant.....11,000,000
Calumet plant.....20,300,000
Southwest plant.....3,100,000
North side plant.....1,000,000

SOUTH PARKS.

Replace piers at 59th and 63d streets.....475,000
Widen Marquette road.....1,000,000
Extend Randolph street eastward.....3,500,000

LINCOLN PARK.

Park development bonds.....3,000,000

Criticizes "Needless Bonds."

"The program thus to be submitted to the voters is unsatisfactory in many respects," the statement of the bureau of public efficiency points out. "Some of the proposals are desirable; others are not. Officials who overload bond ballots with propositions for needless and objectionable projects and excessive amounts are inviting public resentment, and voters, disgusted with such tactics, may fail to discriminate between meritorious and unmeritorious improvements."

The city council was commended by both associations for submitting only one proposition and the south park commissioners were criticized for adding to their three proposals of merit the four bond issues not considered urgent by the two organizations. Both agree that the sanitary district must have additional bonding power this year to comply with the order of the United States Supreme court requiring the immediate construction of sewage treatment works.

Wife and Ex-Wife Seek Alimony on Same Day

Elmer Clausen, a civil engineer, ran into a bog of difficulties yesterday before Superior Judge John J. Sullivan. His second wife, Mrs. Mary C. Clausen of Park Ridge, who is suing for divorce on charges of intoxication, was granted temporary alimony of $85 a month. Then his first wife, Mrs. Louise Clausen, who divorced him in 1929, obtained an order for Clausen's appearance in court Monday to show cause why he should not be jailed for failing to pay $1,000 in back alimony. The law firm of Socrates & Davis represented both wives.

DIES FOLLOWING FALL.

Mrs. Katerina Bartusek, 80 years old, died yesterday in the county hospital of pneumonia contracted while she was convalescing from an injury to her knee, suffered three months ago when she fell in her home, 1832 Blue Island avenue.

STOPS PAYMENT FOR CITY BALLOTS USED ON NOV. 4

Payment of the $200,000 bill for the printing of the Nov. 4 election ballots was stopped yesterday by the county controller pending an investigation by attorneys for the county board as to the responsibility for the debt. For 31 years the county board has been paying all the bills for the printing of ballots used in the city and county precincts.

At a conference yesterday County Attorneys Hayden N. Bell and William F. Struckmann virtually agreed that under two Supreme court rulings the city and not the county should pay for the ballots used in city precincts. The contracts for this work are let by the board of election commissioners, but are billed against the county board.

A written opinion will be presented to the board next Monday. It was recently charged by several commissioners that the bills submitted for the printing of the city ballots were excessive. The price per thousand ballots was considerably higher than that paid for ballots in the country towns.

Adele Ritchie, Stage Star Now Dead, Is on Trial

Santa Ana, Cal., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Adele Ritchie, two decades ago "the Dresden china doll" of the musical comedy stage, although in her grave, went on trial here today for the murder of her intimate friend, Doris Mooray Palmer.

The strange case resulted from a contest over property Mrs. Palmer willed to Miss Ritchie, wife of the actor Guy Bates Post. Mrs. Palmer's heirs attempted to prevent delivery to Miss Ritchie's heirs on the ground she was a murderess.

LYLE LEADERSHIP PUT THE PUNCH IN VAGRANCY DRIVE

Condi Case Pointed Way for Real Effort.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

For the first time in all their police court pampered careers, Joe Condi and Ray Alderman, two typical modern gangsters, found themselves in real trouble when they were brought before Judge John H. Lyle in the felony court last September.

Slender, foppishly dressed young men, with dark, furtive eyes, killers allied with the Moran gang, commanding mysterious money sources, it seemed at first that they would go free again, as no concrete evidence against them was available. It was then that the old vagrancy law was resurrected to punish them, and the judge, ignoring loud cries against the legality of his action, sentenced them to the rockpile for six months.

They did spend some time at the Bridewell, presumably on said rockpile, but they were freed, rearrested, bailed around, their bail questioned, arraigned again at Judge Lyle's orders, and finally sent back to New York on an old charge on which they had jumped bonds. They are now New York's problem.

Start of Drive on Crime.

It was the effort of Judge Lyle to rid Chicago of these two hoodlums that started the concerted vagrancy drive against gangland, stimulated police and court pressure in many quarters and has resulted in substantial gains in that direction.

Of the 28 men listed originally as "public enemies" by the crime commission, 13 gunmen and racketeers have been visited with death, the penitentiary or serious court prosecution, while the other 15 are either fugitives, afraid to walk the streets of Chicago openly, or are awaiting disposition of charges against them. Al Capone himself is a fugitive on a Lyle warrant.

Judge Lyle's war against Condi and Alderman began on Sept. 4, when they were brought before him as police pickups and he directed that vagrancy charges be placed against them.

Read Gun Toting Arrests.

A year before Alderman, a close friend of Bugs Moran, had been taken on the street carrying a .45 automatic. Four years ago he was arrested in a room in the Webster hotel in which four sawed off shotguns and two Thompson machine guns were found. He was indicted in 1925 in New York in the murder of a jeweler in a $25,000 holdup, but the New York authorities had been unable to extradite him.

Condi had been arrested many times and had served a term in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth for violation of the narcotic law. In 1925 he was caught in New York fleeing from a shop with dresses valued at $2,400. He forfeited a $5,000 bond there.

Both men had been surly with the police and had refused to answer questions. They were brought into court by Chief Investigator Pat Roche of the state's attorney's staff.

"You stand charged," the clerk read as they stood in the little court in front of the desk where Judge Lyle gave them his full attention, "with being a vagabond, a dissolute person without visible means of lawful support. How do you plead, guilty or not guilty?"

The question was first addressed to Alderman.

Has No Hope in This Judge.

"I want a lawyer," whined the gangster, seeing no hope for him in the judge.

"He stands mute," announced the clerk. "Do you demand a jury trial or trial by court?"

"I want a lawyer," repeated Alderman.

"He stands mute," said the clerk.

The flashlights of the newspaper photographers exploded and the room was filled with smoke. The gangsters tried to hide their faces.

Lieut. Frank Johnson of the detective bureau was called upon to state the evidence against Alderman. This consisted of his record and the fact that, although he had no lawful occupation, he had $650 in his pocket. Detective Sergeant David Levin gave similar evidence of Alderman's past.

Judge Decides to Beat Writ.

"What have you to say in defense?" asked the judge, leaning over the bench.

"I want a lawyer," said Alderman for the third time. "My lawyer is getting a writ for me now."

Judge Lyle decided to beat the writ then and there.

"There being no further defense," he said, looking Alderman squarely in the eyes, "the court finds the defendant guilty of being a vagrant, a dissolute person, a gangster whose only occupation is that of peddling alcohol, an enemy of society, and the court therefore sentences you to serve six months at hard labor and to pay a fine of $100. Call the next case."

Condi was disposed of with similar disregard of legal obstacles. He said he had been running a couple of handbooks.

"That's no offense," said the judge. "Gambling isn't an offense so far as this court is concerned."

Same Sentence for Condi.

But he imposed the same sentence on Condi, and then forced both gangsters to stand before him, heads up, while more photographs were made of them so that every one could know who they were.

"I'm going to see to it that you get real hard labor out at the Bridewell," he said in dismissing them. "And when your six months is done and you are released, take this advice from me—get out of Chicago. If you don't you will be in for another dose."

On Sept. 9 the two gansters were released on a writ of habeas corpus, but they were arrested as they left the Criminal Court building. They were taken before Judge Lyle again, who ordered them held in bonds of $20,000 each.

"If I thought they could raise these bonds I'd make them still higher," he remarked.

Face Charges in New York.

Condi and Alderman, however, found a bondsman and were released that night by another judge. The next day the bondsman was cited into Judge Lyle's court and an inquiry was started which resulted in cancellation of these bonds. A fraud had been perpetrated, the judge said, and he increased the bonds to $30,000 each.

On Sept. 13 the grand jury returned true bills against the pair on vagrancy charges. They were freed on the old charge, immediately rearrested and sent to the county jail. Later their bonds were reduced by a Criminal court judge to $10,000 each, and Condi, when finally tried, was acquitted by a jury.

Both men, however, had had enough of Chicago and after Judge Lyle had sent them to jail again while awaiting word from New York authorities, they waived extradition and went east to try their luck with more lenient courts, and with less of popular attention directed toward them.

Postcard in Demand

One of the donations of material to the Lyle headquarters that has proved popular with campaign workers was a stock of postcards reproducing an illustration from one of the Chicago afternoon newspapers, the Daily Times. Underneath a reproduced photograph of Mayor Thompson and a burro that he had in his office some two weeks ago there was text describing how to tell the two subjects apart. The first supply of these cards disappeared in a hurry and a new stock is said to have been promised.

HUNT RACKETEER IN SLAYING OF CITY INSPECTOR

Revenge Called Motive in Courchene Killing.

Police last night were seeking Danny McCarthy, killer, hijacker and labor racketeer, in the belief that he decreed death for Albert B Courchene, city plumbing inspector, who was mowed down by machine gun slugs in front of 4224 Langley avenue yesterday morning.

DANNY McCARTHY. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

One motive for the slaying of Courchene, according to police, was revenge for the killing last August of Bernard Ruberry and Charles Mulcahy, business agents of the plumbers' union. Courchene was a suspect in this murder.

Has Opposed Present Rule.

It was also learned that Courchene had voiced opposition to the present officers of the plumbers' union, which is soon to elect new leaders. McCarthy, who has been on the pay roll of the union for years, according to members, showed up unexpectedly at a secret meeting in the union hall at 1340 West Washington boulevard last week. The meeting, which was held behind locked doors, ended in a free for all fight.

Courchene was shot to death while engaged in his duties for the city. Three men in a small black sedan, bearing no license plates, drove south in Langley avenue and a submachine gun poured bullets from the car. Fourteen of the slugs entered the body of Courchene, who was standing on the sidewalk directing the work of two plumbers in the basement. He died a short while later in the Chicago hospital, where he was taken by Le Roy Gaede, 712 West 21st place, a passing motorist.

That Courchene lived in fear of vengeance was indicated by a .38 caliber revolver found in his pocket. He died before police could question him.

Recall Two Other Killings.

Mulcahy and Ruberry were shot down at the site of the new Lane Technical High school, Addison street and Western avenue, last Aug. 30. Courchene was then job superintendent of the Carl John Stein company, which had the plumbing contract at the school. Charles Arthur Stein, son of the elder contractor, and Courchene were arrested when Carl John Stein, now dead, said that Mulcahy and Ruberry had threatened to call a strike unless Courchene was fired.

A coroner's jury exonerated them, but they were later held to the grand jury. When the time came for the presentation of evidence, several witnesses had disappeared and the prosecution was dropped.

Stein Not Threatened.

Charles Arthur Stein said last night that he had received no threats and experienced no labor difficulties on his contracting jobs since the murder of Mulcahy and Ruberry.

"Of course I had nothing to do with the killing," he said. "If Courchene had ever been threatened I didn't know it."

Assistant State's Attorneys Charles E. Lounsbury and Donald Thompson of the racket division, who have been investigating the affairs of the plumbers' union, said they knew of no motive for Courchene's slaying except retaliation for the Ruberry-Mulcahy assassination.

Danny McCarthy has long been identified with labor terrorism. In 1923 he shot and killed Steve Kelliher, business agent of the theatrical janitor's union. This was shortly after he had been acquitted of the killling of Policeman Terrence Lyons. In 1925 he served six months in jail for hijacking of a truck load of whisky.

Couchrene had been a city civil service employé for fifteen years but took leaves of absence at various times to accept private work. He was 55 years old and lived at 7701 Maryland avenue. His wife, Margaret, and a son by a former marriage, Homer, did not see him before he died.

William Jefferson, colored, obtained descriptions of the three slayers. He told police that they parked their car at 4200 Langley avenue for thirty minutes and that he saw the machine gun.

RANDOLPH SAYS LID COMING OFF OF CRIME HERE

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, said tonight that the "lid will be ripped off" Chicago's crime and politics after the "secret six" compiles its mass of accumulated evidence.

Addressing the Champaign Chamber of Commerce Col. Randolph said, "Our attack cannot be consummated in a few days. It may take months and possibly years."

Declaring that the Chicago primary next week is "all important," the head of the "secret six" said, "We've got to clean house from top to bottom, as we must have a decent set of officials."

The "secret six," Col. Randolph said, has had the fullest measure of coöperation from all law enforcement bodies in Chicago and Cook county.

Leone Gould, Clubwoman, Is Found Dead in Garage

Miss Leone Gould, 53 years old, Evanston clubwoman and daughter of a pioneer wholesale furniture dealer, Frank Gould, was found dead yesterday in the garage in the rear of her residence, 1239 Jackson avenue, in the suburb. Returning from a shopping tour the previous afternoon, she had driven her car into the garage and closed the door. For a time the police supposed she had succumbed to carbon monoxide gas, but the fact that the ignition switch on the car had been turned off led them to conclude that a heart attack brought her death. Reputedly wealthy, Miss Gould had spent much time recently in European travel.

Description of Showgirls' Scanties Trips Up Censor

Twenty-five blondes, brunettes and red-heads from the chorus of Earl Carroll's "Sketch Book" giggled and tittered for two hours yesterday while Mrs. Effie Sigler, chairman of the motion picture censor board, sat uneasily in Judge Justin F. McCarthy's Municipal court and tried to tell the smiling judge what she meant by the north end of a chorus girl, what improper implication she found in the word "pink" and many other matters than caused Mrs. Sigler to blush.

But Mrs. Sigler couldn't remember very well what she had seen when she viewed the show a week before it was raided and she admitted that certain matters of anatomy were difficult to describe. Defense attorneys kept objecting to her statements that the girls were "seemingly nude" and "apparently bare."

About that Back Dance.

For one thing Mrs. Sigler had a hard time trying to explain how the northwest section of a chorus girl's figure is exposed when the chorus girl is proceeding south. The exposure which the witness thought wasn't proper took place during what she called the "back dance." "Their backs were exposed," she said. "And I don't mean from the waist up," which cleared things up pretty well.

The bailiff's rapping gavel kept a semblance of order in the court until Mrs. Sigler later launched into a discussion of that bedroom scene in which a doctor sits on the edge of Empress Josephine's bed and advises her how pink her draperies should be. The giggling aroused Mrs. Sigler.

"I think that that word 'pink' is simply insulting," the witness burst out indignantly. "I don't think it's a giggling matter and I think you ought to keep those girls quiet."

Judge McCarthy, who viewed the show himself last Saturday after the chorus girls, the manager, and four principals were brought into his court charged with presenting an indecent show, was able to remember much of the dialogue that Mrs. Sigler forgot. Borrowing a joke from the show, he turned to Defense Attorney Cornelius J. Harrington and remarked:

"I think you're pink."

"Ah, yes, pink," replied the attorney, "but not too pink."

Deputy Police Commissioner James B. Scanlan, who took the stand earlier, said that while he hasn't seen many shows he knows vulgarity when he sees it. While his chief duties are to see that Chicago shows are clean and that Commissioner Alcock's stalwarts keep their brass buttons shiny, he has been able to view two shows in the last year, he said.

City Hall Aid Asked Raid.

Questioning of Scanlan brought out that James W. Breen, assistant corporation counsel, was instrumental in instituting the raid on the show last Friday. Scanlan said he was called to Commissioner Alcock's office, told to raid the show, and that while he was there Breen came in to point out the statutes upon which the warrants could be obtained. Mrs. Sigler also testified that Breen had phoned her and requested her to see the revue.

The testimony did not bring out Breen's interest in the matter, but spectators in the courtroom recalled the political rumors that a henchman of Thompson had ordered the raid because a skit depicting Chicago crime was considered "Lyle propaganda." The skit shows a policeman ignoring a gang murder while he rests his elbows on the bar of a speakeasy and berates a motorist for violating a parking ordinance.

In a lengthy argument Defense Attorney J. J. McDermott moved that the charges be dismissed on the ground that they were improperly brought. The motion was overruled. The case will be heard for a brief period this morning and again Friday. The revue leaves town Saturday night and an effort is being made to conclude the case by then.

A Night Letter from Ring Lardner

East Hampton, L. I., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Back in 1917 and 1918 a bunch of young whippersnappers from this country went to France on a joy ride and forced dotards like myself to leave our pleasant firesides nights and go out dancing and carousing with debutantes who had not yet learned the facts of strong drink. Now congress is arguing the propriety of giving these truants and refugees a bonus. Don't give 'em nothing, is my slogan. Fine 'em a year's salary, even if they ain't getting it.

FARMS GAINING IN POPULATION, FIGURES SHOW

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—The farm population of this country is on the increase for the first time in a decade, the department of agriculture stated today, when figures released showed that, considering the normal increase of births over deaths, the Jan. 1, 1931, population was 27,430,000, as compared with 27,222,000 on the same date in 1930.

Fewer people are leaving farms and greater numbers are moving to them, according to the department. During 1930 1,543,000 persons left farms for towns and cities, as compared with 1,876,000 in 1929, while the movement to farms during the last year was reported as the largest since 1924.

Last year 1,392,000 persons moved to farms, as compared with a peak movement of 1,396,000 in 1924.

Night Clerks in 2 Hotels Held Up by Armed Thieves

A robber held up Robert Dorris, night clerk at the Beaconshire hotel, 4706 Beacon street, early yesterday and escaped with the contents of the till. A pair of gunmen appeared at the Devonshire hotel, 19 East Ohio street, herded the night clerk, bell boy, and bus boy into an elevator, and fled with $40.

RULES JURIES ARE NOT JUDGES OF CRIMINAL LAW

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—A century old Illinois law, that in criminal cases the jury shall be judges of the law as well as of the facts, was held unconstitutional today by the Supreme court.

FREDERIC R. DE YOUNG. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Lawyers in the assembly hailed the ruling as one of the most momentous in years in the battle against crime and gangland. It has been one of the major court reforms advanced by the judiciary advisory council of Illinois and the judicial advisory council of Cook county.

The decision came in a test case, the People vs. Ben Bruner, sent up by the latter body from the Criminal court of Cook county to the high tribunal.

The experts declare it will be of great value in reducing the law's delays and in making sure the visitation of justice.

Invalid on Two Counts.

In a decision written by Justice Frederic R. De Young, the act making juries judges of law, which has been on the statute books ever since 1827, when the first criminal code of the state was enacted, was held invalid on two counts:

First, that it is in conflict with the doctrine of jury trial as known to the common law.

Second, that the law is a usurpation of judicial power by the legislative branch, and is in violation of article 3 of the constitution setting up the three distinct coördinate departments—legislative, judicial, and executive—and distributing the powers of government.

One member of the high bench, Justice Warren W. Duncan, dissented.

Justice De Young, who spent months of research in preparing his opinion, is chairman of the judicial advisory council of Cook county, which includes Judge Denis E. Sullivan, Amos C. Miller, Judge Harry M. Fisher, and John J. Healy.

Last fall Justice De Young wrote the decision of the Supreme court, also on a test case brought by the advisory council, that a defendant in a felony case had the right to waive a trial by jury.

Approved by State Solons.

The two decisions, on jury trial waiver and taking from juries the right to judge the law as well as the facts, were commented on in the senate and house today as a great stride towards modernizing criminal procedure in Illinois.

Senator Andrew S. Cuthbertson of Bunker Hill, chairman of the judicial advisory council of Illinois, said:

"The commission advocated elimination of the law making juries judges of law," said Mr. Cuthbertson. "This decision will become historic in Illinois criminal procedure. It obviates necessity of repealing the law by legislative act. The judicial advisory councils have performed a great service, if I do say it myself, in developing sentiment for specific court reforms.

"Two things we advocated were jury waiver and juries not to be judges of the law, but only of the facts.

"The opinion wipes out section 11, article 13 of the criminal code, which says 'juries in all criminal cases shall be judges of the law and the fact.' It overrules previous decisions to the contrary. It reaffirms the conviction of Ben Bruner for robbery while armed, a case in which Judge Harry Fisher as a test instructed the jury that the court and not the jury is the sole judge of the law in the case."

Authorities Are Ample.

"The authorities amply show," says De Young's finding, "that by common law, the jurors in a criminal trial had no right to decide any question of law. Their duty and their oath required them to apply to the facts, as they found them, the law as stated by the court.

"Section 11 of division 13 of the criminal code, which makes juries in all criminal cases judges of the law as well as the facts, therefore abrogates an essential attribute of the trial of a criminal case by a jury as known to the common law and results in the deprivation of a right which has been uniformly guaranteed by our successive constitutions."

"The interpretation of statutes," the decision says, "the determination of their validity and the application of the rules and principles of the common law, among others, are inherently judicial functions. The constitution vested these functions in the courts and not in juries called occasionally for brief service of an essentially different character.

"If jurors are the judges of the law in a criminal case, then, consistently, their verdict in such a case cannot be contrary to the law, and the trial judge has neither the right nor the power to set aside a verdict of guilty for that reason.

U. S. Supreme Court Cited.

"Mr. Justice Harlan, in declaring the opinion of the court in Sparf and Hansen vs. United States, supra, pages 101-103, well said: 'Public and private safety alike would be in peril if the principle be established that juries in criminal cases may, of right, disregard the law as expounded to them by the court and become a law unto themselves. Under such a system the principal function of the judge would be to preside and keep order, while jurymen, untrained in the law, would determine questions affecting life, liberty, or property according to such legal principles as in their judgment were applicable to the particular case being tried.

"'Upon the court rests the responsibility of declaring the law; upon the jury, the responsibility of applying the law so declared to the facts as they, upon their conscience, believe them to be. Under any other system, the courts, although established in order to declare the law, would for every practical purpose be eliminated from our system of government as instrumentalities devised for the protection equally of society and of individuals in their essential rights.'"

SEE GREAT AID TO JUSTICE.

The Illinois Supreme court decision taking away the right of the jury in criminal cases to be judges of the law as well as the facts was declared to be the biggest forward step in criminal procedure in the last fifty years by Criminal court judges and officials.

Judge Harry Fisher brought about the decision by a Chicago court ruling, and Attorney John J. Healy represented the judge in the Supreme court argument. Judge Fisher also brought about the decision, some months ago, which allows a defendant to waive a jury in a criminal case.

"I feel that this is one of the most important rulings handed down by the Supreme court in fifty years," said Judge Fisher. "It is not so much the immediate effect as that it shows we have a Supreme court of courage and conviction, set upon assuming the responsibility that justly should be borne by the courts.

"We have for nearly a century allowed the courts to be gradually weakened and weakened until in the trial of criminal cases the judges become nothing more than monitors keeping order in the room.

"This reassertion on the part of the courts of their own inherent powers to correct court weaknesses is both from a legal and social point of view the most encouraging thing we have had for half a century."

The judge said that the decision would have the effect at present of shortening criminal trials and particularly the "silly examinations of jurors," which have sometimes consumed weeks. It will also give the judges power to direct a verdict in cases where the state has failed to produce sufficient proof.

One more step is to be taken, it is reported, before the Illinois judges will be on a par with federal court procedure. Another test case probably will be made soon to extend judicial powers to instructing jurors as to the weight of the evidence.

Praised by McGoorty.

Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court, Judge Denis Sullivan, head of the judicial advisory committee, and Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the Chicago crime commission, all issued statements commending the decision.

"This decision is going to increase the influence of the judges very much in criminal trials," said Judge McGoorty. "It will make them a real factor in criminal trials instead of a referee between opposing counsel."

"The decision is a wonderful thing," said Prosecutor Swanson. "It is the greatest advance in fifty years. It will tend to shorten criminal trials and should bring about fairer trials to the public."

DRY ENFORCER IS PUT IN JAIL FOR CONTEMPT

Wilmington, Del., Feb. 18.—(AP)—A writ of habeas corpus for the release of Harold D. [Three Gun] Wilson, Delaware's prohibition administrator, who was held in contempt of court today by Federal Judge John P. Fields, will be instituted tomorrow before the United States District Court of Appeals in Philadelphia.

The action will be taken by Federal Attorney Leonard E. Wales, who will seek the revocation of the contempt order until the case can be reheard.

Wilson was adjudged in contempt after he had refused to tell the court what member of the Democratic League club had given him the key he used to make a raid on the club's headquarters here last October.

CAPONE REPLIES TO BUTLER SPEECH ON TINTED STATIONERY

Miami, Fla., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Al [Scarface] Capone turned a machine gun of words today on Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler of the marines.

The Chicago "public enemy" was wrathy because of published reports the general had said Capone would be deported when public opinion became aroused.

"The general," said Capone, "is ill-informed. He should know that the laws of this country protect an American born citizen like myself and prevent the deportation of any one who, like myself, was born in this country.

"Gen. Butler says I am a criminal. The only charge that I know of or any law-abiding authorities know of is of my being charged with vagrancy.

"I have been feeding between 2,500 and 3,000 people daily in Chicago for the last six months. If this is an act of a vagrant, I want to be classed as one.

"I leave the American people to judge between Gen. Butler and myself, and I am satisfied to abide by their verdict."

Capone, who a few years ago served a jail sentence in Philadelphia for carrying concealed weapons and whose name has been mentioned in connection with Chicago's long line of gang murders, has been wintering at his high walled estate here.

The statement which he gave out for publication was written on tinted stationery.

CUBA HIRES THREE EXPERTS TO HELP REFORM FINANCE

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

HAVANA, Feb. 18.—Secretary of the Treasury Dr. Mario Ruiz Mesa announced tonight that the Cuban government has just closed negotiations securing advisory assistance of three prominent experts in the government's plan to reorganize the nation's fiscal and economic stability, the establishment of new banking legislation, the organization of a Bank of the Republic of Cuba, the consolidation of Cuba's internal and foreign debts, and the reorganization of the public school system. The names of the experts are to be announced later this week when President Machado signs the contracts for their services. The experts will arrive the second week in March, the secretary said.

50% BENHAM IS INDICTED ON FRAUD CHARGES

"Wizard's" Bonds Set at $12,000.

Belvidere, Ill., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—A. W. Benham, the "financier of Belvidere," who has been "out of town" since last Tuesday, was indicted here today on charges of operating a confidence game and obtaining money under false pretenses, by a Boone county grand jury. Benham's bonds were set at $12,000.

A. W. BENHAM. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

The true bills voted by the jury put a formal close to the career of the man who suddenly announced several weeks ago that he would pay from 10 to 50 per cent interest on all money loaned to him. His neighbors, thinking Benham possessed some phenomenal investment secret and trusting him, flocked to his garage office with their savings.

Warrant for Arrest Issued.

Capiases were issued for the arrest of Benham, who disappeared yesterday with his wife, leaving a guard watching his home. He had left word that he was "just going out of town for a few days." The door of his office was locked. Sheriff Floyd Smith, armed with the warrants, injected new energy into the search for the financier, who admitted he was broke several days ago.

Since Benham, starting with a loan of $4,000 secured on his own and a neighbor's property, started to branch out into nearby towns, causing eager investors to deplete their savings accounts, he has been the subject of attack and scrutiny of bankers here.

Started As Shipping Clerk.

Federal investigators endeavored to determine whether he was dodging income tax payments. Benham maintained from the start that "it is nobody's business but my own, so long as I pay the investors."

Benham was a shipping clerk for the National Sewing Machine company. When his custom of driving to work in a taxicab every day attracted the attention of officials of the company they started an investigation, and, learning of his solicitations among the employés, discharged him. A few days later the "Blackhawk Finance company" was formed.

BRIDE FAINTS AT WEDDING.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—George Ware led his bride to the altar here yesterday and though he survived the ceremony with apparently few heart flutters his wife to be, Miss Arviel Yon, fainted when the ceremony was just getting well underway. She was revived, however, and the wedding proceeded as did the gala reception following the ceremony.

LOVED PASTRIES BUT SUFFERED IF HE ATE THEM

"I like pies better than most any food, but I used to suffer when I ate pastry," says M. J. Criok, well-known police officer, of 4037 Twenty-Third Ave., So., Minneapolis, Minn.

"I would have sick headaches; would belch, leaving a sour taste in my mouth; suffered a lot with gas on my stomach; had no appetite.

"I had indigestion like that for over two years. Soda didn't help and I tried many things before I heard about Pape's Diapepsin.

"It took me right out of my trouble. I have a mighty hearty appetite, eat pastry or anything I want and have no after-effects. I am never without Pape's Diapepsin and recommend it to everyone I know."

If you suffer from indigestion, often or just occasionally, get a package of these candy-like tablets from your druggist. They stop heartburn, gas on stomach, belching, nausea, headaches or any other symptoms of indigestion soon as the trouble starts. They are harmless; form no habit; can be taken as often as needed.

ALFONSO BACK IN SADDLE; FRIENDS FORM CABINET

Foes of Spanish King Left Out of New Lineup.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Feb. 18.—The position of King Alfonso, with his new government of men of proved loyalty, and in some cases of great ability, sworn in without a peep from the opposition, is seen by many tonight as very strong. The king has proven himself as clever as of old. Even the Republicans admit that the talent he has shown in the last few days is fully comparable to his old behavior which helped Spain toward a dictatorship in 1923.

Tomorrow his ministry, a civil dictatorship, headed by Admiral Juan Bautista Aznar, a staunch monarchist, and including the former premier, Gen. Damaso Berenguer, as minister of war, will announce a program for some kind of a constitutional cortes to make reforms acceptable to Alfonso on some date conveniently far in the future.

Sitting Pretty—For a While.

Alfonso is sitting pretty—for the moment, and moments are apt to be short in Spain. He outsmarted the assemblyists, outsmarted Sanchez Guerra, who was too old to fence with the Bourbons, armed as he was with an ideal, and tonight it seems that these people hold less of a grudge against Alfonso than against the republicans and socialists, who refused to join their proposed government when they had the victory won. Alfonso outsmarted Sanchez Guerra and his men because they met him on his own ground.

That the grudge of the opposition is considerable was indicated in a statement by Gurgas y Mazo after a meeting tonight with the disappointed colleagues of Sanchez Guerra, Melquides Alvarez and others.

"The king is a common thief," he said. "We have been in touch with our supporters throughout the country, and wish to state that the revolutionary period is about to begin."

Sanchez Guerra Quits Politics.

Sanchez Guerra is facing a total breakdown and will withdraw from politics for good, vanquished by old age more than by anything else in his epic struggle with the king, in which some see tragedy for both of them.

Admiral Aznar, captain-general of the Spanish fleet, was summoned to head the government at the last minute because it was felt that a second Berenguer ministry would not be so well received. The latter himself wanted to get some rest, but he was prevailed upon to stay in the ministry of war and face the music. Admiral Aznar's only previous experience in politics was in the Manuel Prieto government of 1923, which was turned out by Dictator Primo de Rivera.

Enemies in Same Cabinet.

As the only politicians left to the king, the ministers have something in common. But there it ends. Juan de la Cierva and Count de Romanones are violent enemies. They were all for the dictatorship, and were known in Spain during Primo's time for their general behavior as "grave diggers of the constitution."

Premier Aznar said tonight: "The government is going to have elections, municipal, political, and general. We expect that the country will accept the government formula, which is deeply democratic. The fundamental regime will be changed."

He did not mention any dates for the elections. He added that there will be no amnesty "for the moment."

Meanwhile, police precautions have been doubled. A Republican demonstration in Madrid tonight was quickly beaten to earth, and one death has been registered from last night's charge by mounted police into a crowd in the Puerta del Sol.

Was U. S. Prisoner in 1898.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Admiral Juan Bautista Aznar, the new premier of Spain, is remembered here as a prisoner of war at the naval hospital in Portsmouth in 1898. Then lieutenant commander of the Spanish cruiser Vizcaya, which was destroyed along with three other Spanish ships at Santiago July 3-4, 1898, he was brought here with some 20 other Spanish officers. During their internment, for about ten weeks, the Spaniards were prisoners only in a nominal sense, being given a free run not only of the hospital but of Norfolk and Portsmouth.

WHO IS BRAVEST POLICEMAN? IT'S UP TO 3 HEROES

Three members of the police force will have to decide among themselves to which one of them the Lambert Tree medal for bravery during 1930 will be awarded, according to a decision yesterday by Acting Police Commissioner Alcock. The choice between the three had been left to Alcock by a committee that had picked them as the outstanding candidates.

The three men are Edward Lynn and Edward Tyrell of the detective bureau and Herman Meyer of the traffic division. They were selected from 28 men.

All three men have been awarded THE TRIBUNE hero prize of $100. Lynn killed two of three bandits who were holding up the proprietor and patrons of a restaurant. Meyer captured two bandits after they had forced him out of his car by each putting a gun at his side. Tyrell captured two desperadoes after he had cornered them in a dark basement.

Aroused by Marauders, He Accidentally Kills Self

Mishawaka, Ind., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Aroused by his mother, who thought she heard marauders or chicken thieves, Roscoe Squires, 41, seven miles southeast of Mishawaka, was accidentally killed as he took down his loaded rifle in the darkness late last night. The bullet entered his head. His wife died a month ago today. He leaves his mother, three sons, and a daughter.

BROKER GUILTY OF RAPE; GETS 6 YEARS IN CELL

Convicted of Attack on Girl Job Seeker.

Stephen Nemes, 38 years old, stock and bond broker, was found guilty yesterday by Judge Harry Fisher in the Criminal court of raping Miss Helen Flynn, 22 years old, 3542 Wilson avenue. The judge fixed his punishment at six years in the penitentiary. Motions for a new trial and arrest of judgment were overruled by the court, although 30 days was allowed to the defense to perfect an appeal.

Judge Fisher said he would have to discard the story told by Nemes in his own behalf to the effect that no rape was committed. The judge remarked that while on the witness stand Nemes appeared "cold blooded in a way that reflected no credit to him."

The judge explained that because of Nemes' family—the broker is married—he was refraining from making the punishment more severe.

Miss Flynn said that while she was in search of work last fall she met Nemes, who offered her a job and asked her to accompany him to his office. She said that she went with him to his office at 360 North Michigan avenue and that there he beat and raped her.

Nemes, it was charged during the trial, tried to bribe the arresting policemen with an offer of $7,500 in bonds.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Joseph Szymanuk, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Philip Finnegan.

Stephen Nemes, rape, sentenced to 6 years in the penitentiary by Judge Harry Fisher.

$114,240,000 NAVY BUDGET VOTED BY FRENCH CHAMBER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 18.—The chamber of deputies tonight passed the naval bill, providing for an increase of $25,500,000 over last year. The total naval budget is $114,240,000, of which more than $50,000,000 is for the construction of 42,000 tons of new warships, including $4,500,000 for submarines.

Deputy Louis Dupont, in proposing the bill, emphasized the necessity of immediately beginning work on a hidden underground oil tank of 2,000,000 tons capacity. The house voted $5,000,000 for construction of the tank.

SEIZE GAMBLER IN INQUIRY INTO BROTHERS CASE

George Hurley Captured After North Side Raid.

George [Dode] Hurley, a gambler long known to the police, was arrested yesterday by detectives from the staff of Pat Roche, chief investigator for State's Attorney Swanson.

The prisoner was taken at once to the headquarters of the investigation into the case against Leo V. Brothers, who has been indicted for the murder of Alfred Lingle, and who is scheduled to go on trial before Judge Joseph Sabath on March 3. Hurley was questioned by Mr. Roche, Charles F. Rathbun, special assistant state's attorney in charge of the inquiry, and Assistant State's Attorney C. Wayland Brooks.

The officials refused to comment on the reason for Hurley's arrest at this time. The gambler has twice before been in the cutsody of the Lingle investigators, the first time being last July, shortly after Lingle was murdered on June 9.

Reported Seeking Dullard.

It was reported that Hurley had been seized by the investigators in an attempt to learn the whereabouts of Grover Dullard, another gambler, on the theory that Dullard had played a part in Lingle's murder. This report, which the officials refused to verify, had it that Dullard had trailed Lingle on the morning of the killing, and had "put the finger" on Lingle for the killer.

Hurley's arrest came as an aftermath to a raid by some of Roche's men on an apartment at 747 Cass street, where a crooked roulette wheel was seized. This place, it was learned, was operated by Hurley and Gene Schriber, who also was taken into custody.

Arrested in His Apartment.

Hurley was arrested in his apartment at the Diversey Arms hotel. At one time, it was said, he held a post in the Sheridan Wave gambling club at Sheridan road and Waveland avenue, operated by Julian [Potatoes] Kaufman and Joey Josephs in co-operation with the north side gang led by George [Bugs] Moran, Jack Zuta, and Joe Aiello.

18 FOOT SHARK CAUGHT IN NET, FIGHTS TO END

Boston, Mass., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—An 18 foot shark, weighing close to a ton, that was strong enough to bring an 80 foot fishing boat up short despite the fact her powerful engines were operating at half speed, was landed at the fish pier today by the dragger Natalie II., whose crew captured and killed the big fish 25 miles northeast of Thatcher's island yesterday.

When the Natalie was suddenly jerked to a stop on the fishing grounds with her big ground fish net trailing under water, Capt. Tony Linquata and his crew figured the net might have fouled a ledge or sunken wreck, so they hauled it in and discovered the huge shark in the strands.

The net was landed on the boat by the powerful winches and the crew slipped and slithered around the deck for half an hour sinking lances into the 18 footer before it succumbed.

VETO, ONLY, MAY KEEP U. S. FROM MUSCLE SHOALS

U. S. Operation Is Given Conferees' Approval.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—With the signing of a compromise agreement today by the senate and house conferees on the Muscle Shoals resolution, it appears certain that President Hoover will be forced to exercise his veto power to prevent government operation, not only of Muscle Shoals power plant but of the nitrate plant as well.

The compromise turned out to be an almost complete victory for Senator George W. Norris, insurgent Republican of Nebraska, leader of the government operation proponents.

It provides for government production, transmission and sale of power. A Muscle Shoals corporation is set up with three directors to be appointed by the President with the consent of the senate. The property is to be managed by a general manager chosen by the directors.

No Change Concerning Power.

As it concerns power, the compromise makes no change in the original Norris resolution which was passed by the senate last spring, but which was opposed and replaced in the house by the leasing resolution offered by Representative B. Carroll Reece [Rep., Tenn.].

The sole change made in the Norris resolution relates to the production of fertilizer in the nitrate plant. In the compromise agreement, instead of immediate government operation of the nitrate plants, the President is granted a year in which to negotiate a lease to a private corporation. Should no lease be negotiated in that period, the government is to commence operation of the plant.

It is considered virtually certain that the report of the conferees will be accepted in the house, and its adoption in the senate is assured. The house will receive the report tomorrow and is expected to take action the next day. The senate's action will be taken immediately upon completion of the report's passage in the house, and the bill will be rushed to the President, so that a pocket veto, like that which President Coolidge accorded the Norris government operation measure in 1928, will not be possible.

Hoover's Stand Unannounced.

President Hoover has not yet announced what action he will take. To sign the bill, however, would mean that he has changed position decisively. In his letter of July 24, in which he upheld Representative Reece for the congressman's opposition to the Norris resolution, he declared: "Nor would I approve the [Norris] plan, because it is not in the interest of Tennessee or the rest of the nation."

The essential similarity of the compromise agreement to the original Norris plan and particularly its provisions for government transmission lines, will make it incumbent on the President, it is thought, to veto the measure. On the other hand, it is pointed out, following the President's approving letter—the only public intervention by Mr. Hoover in a Republican primary—Representative Reece was defeated.

Representative Reece was one of the two house conferees who refused to sign the conference report. While the refusal of Representative H. C. Ransley [Rep., Pa.] was definite, however, Representative Reece declared he might reconsider and sign tomorrow. Because of his representation of the administration viewpoint in the recent conferences, his final action will be looked upon as indicating the President's course.

The conferees who signed on behalf of the senate were: Senators Norris, Charles L. McNary [Rep., Ore.], and Ellison D. Smith [Dem., S. C.]. The three who signed on behalf of the house were Representatives Harry M. Wurzbach [Rep., Tex.], Percy E. Quin [Dem., Miss.], and Hubert F. Fisher [Dem., Tenn.].

The factors which make the compromise mean not only government operation of the power plant, but, in all probability, nitrate plant as well, are contained in the stipulations as to leasing.

Fifty Year Lease Proposed.

A lease of the nitrate plant to a private concern would be for fifty years, the terms to be fixed by the President. The lessee would be required to devote the government plant wholly to the manufacture of fertilizer and fertilizer ingredients, except that such byproducts as are not fertilizer ingredients might be processed in the plant. No fertilizer ingredient is to be removed from the plant.

The lessee would be entitled to as much power as he needed for such manufacture of fertilizer and, in addition, would be given a preferential right to an additional amount of power equal to fifteen per cent of the power used in fertilizer manufacture for use away from government property in the manufacture of any product the lessee chooses.

The joker said to be in these provisions is that the nitrate plant is antiquated and the cyanamide process, for which it was built, has been superseded by a process requiring about one-fourth the power. To require a lessee to manufacture nothing but fertilizer and to process no byproduct that is a fertilizer ingredient would prevent the conversion of the plant to the manufacture of chemicals or dyes. It would mean, it is claimed, that the fertilizer would be produced at a loss.

Power Yield Estimated.

Estimates of the primary or year round power which the project thus completed, would produce are from 400,000 to 600,000 horse power.

In discussing the measure, Senator Norris declared that, as he saw it, three benefits would grow out of the development of Muscle Shoals. Cheap power would be provided the states, municipalities, and private consumers; the building of the dams would do much to prevent floods; and regulation of the impounded water would insure the navigability of the Tennessee river practically the whole year round.

HOSTILITY BETWEEN NEW AND AID BARED BY POSTAL INQUIRY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—(AP)—A deep seated hostility between Harry S. New, postmaster general under Presidents Harding and Coolidge, and John H. Bartlett, his assistant, was disclosed today by New before the senate postal lease investigating committee. He came to defend his record against Bartlett's accusations.

Declaring Bartlett was "obsessed with the idea that he ought to be postmaster general," New said the reason he had "endured" his former assistant for six years was because of his "capacity as a trader."

The former postmaster general defended the St. Paul commercial station postoffice lease, which he approved, and denied he had attempted to prevent a grand jury investigation of it or had recommended dismissal of the assistant district attorney who had submitted it to the jury.

Bartlett tonight repeated the story he told the committee of the making of the St. Paul lease, saying a subordinate signed it at New's direction while he (Bartlett) was absent.

ENGAGED FOR 50 YEARS, THEY FINALLY MARRY

Scarsdale, N. Y., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—A little over half a century ago Miss Julia Stimers and Walter Burbrow reached a tacit understanding. Both they and their friends considered them as engaged. But first she wanted to follow her artistic career. And so it was not until this afternoon that they were finally married and were able to start south for the rest of the winter together. Charges Loss of $150,000 in Alleged Bucket Shop

Investors in Chicago and other cities lost from $150,000 to $200,000 through the alleged bucket shop activities of Arthur J. Fournier, who operated at 134 North La Salle street, Assistant United States Attorney Joseph A. Struett said yesterday when Fournier was arraigned before Federal Judge Wilkerson. Fournier was named in an indictment charging use of the mails to defraud. He pleaded not guilty, and trial was set for April 14.

College President Held for Driving While Drunk

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Dr. H. H. Cherry, 68, president of Western Kentucky Teachers' college at Bowling Green, Ky., was arrested today on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while drunk after a minor traffic accident here. Dr. Cherry's companion, W. M. Pearce, 51, head of the college's extension department, was charged with drunkenness in a public place. They were slated to appear in police court tomorrow. Police said Dr. Cherry's automobile collided with another at a street intersection.

Woman Flung to Ground When She Battles Robber

Mrs. Elizabeth Belden, 50 years old, 1417 Sherwood terrace, wife of a contractor, was robbed of her purse last night by a man who snatched it from her as she was returning home from Our Lady of Lourdes church at Leland and Ashland avenues. Mrs. Belden was flung to the ground when she resisted. The purse contained a small amount of money.

STOCK EXCHANGE INQUIRY ASKED IN ILLINOIS SENATE

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—A commission of five senators to investigate the practices and operations of the Chicago Stock exchange and the Chicago Curb exchange and other exchanges in general is called for in a resolution introduced today by Senator Arthur A. Huebsch [Rep.] of Brookfield. It was laid over.

"It is charged," it reads, "that stock exchanges, and particularly the Chicago Stock exchange and the Chicago Curb Exchange association, have listed many unworthy stocks, including the stocks of certain investment trusts, and that such exchanges have relaxed their rigid and exacting standards and are subject to manipulation by pools.

"It is alleged that mere listing on a stock exchange is no longer an assurance of merit and worth, and that further legislation is necessary adequately to protect the investing public from fraud, deception, and exploitation and to restore their confidence and hasten the return of prosperity."

'SHOVEL THUMB' IS IOWA BADGE OF CONVIVIALITY

Beer Flows in University Town; Whisky, Too.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

Iowa City, Ia., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—A "shovel thumb" is the badge of conviviality at the old state capital of Iowa, while the traditional red nose continues its sway under prohibition at Davenport. The thirsty traveler is beset with opportunities toward the acquisition of either device.

The "shovel thumb" is born of Iowa beer through the ritual of its preparation. Iowa beer is any brand of near beer spiked with alcohol. From a bottle of near beer a portion of the contents is removed on a measure of individual capacity; generally exaggerated, and replaced by raw alcohol. A practiced thumb is placed over the mouth of the bottle, which is then shaken vigorously. The pressure of the carbonic gas within the bottle as well as the pressure of the thumb on its mouth produce, in time, the splayed thumb. The product is quaffed from a stein.

Sprays Self and Guide.

I had my introduction to the brew in an inn near Iowa City. The inn, a converted frame house, holds a crossroad on a main artery with a store and two houses. I betrayed myself as a novice on my first attempt at the mixture by spraying myself and my guide, a young alumnus of the university. My misfortune roused patronizing laughter from accomplished bystanders, largely students.

By the time we had visited the more elaborate inn at the back door of the city and its less pretentious, though more favored, neighbor, I had gained mastery over the contents, but still rated as a mere neophyte. None of the resorts sold liquor openly. A request for the vital ingredient was carried to a public benefactor, hovering in the vicinity, who produced with magical dispatch half pints at $1.

At a fourth resort, where we watched an airplane beacon flog the sky, the beer is served with a whisky tumbler of alcohol at 25 cents. My companion told me of a club with card admission near the center of town and another, extravagantly furnished, with a restricted membership, where one might order pre-prohibition cocktails.

"Shovel Thumb" Discussed.

While an amiable, ruddy public servant dispensed beer, two campus philosophers at an adjoining table quibbled on the heritable possibilities of the shovel thumb, which has even won its place as an emblem among fraternity men. One held it to be an acquired characteristic, not transmissible. The other maintained, equally firmly, that it will be the heritage of all children with campus forbearers.

The practice has extended beyond the academic walks and has been adopted by the residents of Iowa City and the surrounding community. I witnessed drinking in two restaurants where a supply of near beer is kept for convenience of guests who tote their own. However, the scholastic flourish in the shaking is inimitable.

Another native, moved to sympathy by my plea of thirst, insisted on a visit to his home to sample wine he had made from grape juice. We treated Mabel Willebrandt, patron saint of the beverage.

Old Style Bars Used.

The old school of drinking is observed in Davenport, where the heavy population of German descent clings to the lore of their fathers. The old fashioned bar is considered a vital adjunct to the pleasures of the white collared stein or the squat tumbler. The possible risk of complete loss of fixtures should the law interfere makes for wariness of strangers.

A hale fellow well met must lead the way. I found my hale, etc. in Bill Q. When I told Bill I was from Chicago, he came back at me quick as a flash with, "Where's your faro layout?" Bill is that sort of fellow.

Bill showed the way to a bar flanked by card tables, where two old gentlemen with mahogany tinted noses played "66." Bill ordered "bar polish" with a chuckle. It was served by the walrus mustached proprietor at 25 cents. He invited the card players to drink. I paid.

Whisky Is 50 Cents.

Bill and I went on to a brass railed bar with cloth hung windows above the eyes of passersby. Whisky came at 50 cents. Bill urged a Swiss cheese sandwich on rye. This was washed down with good draft beer. We continued to a third bar concealed from view by large cardboard cigaret ads. A partition separated the bar from a cigar counter.

Across the street still another bar yielded gin bucks at 25 cents. Three blocks away a small bar, tended by a lean, morose gent, gusheed beer. A Greek "Kappenion" near a leading hotel was the next stop. In the back room, by far the greater part of the restaurant, we drank wine with a resin taste.

In a burst of enthusiasm, prompted by the jaunt through town, Bill pleaded for my company on a visit to his favorite drinking spot. We drove to a home in the west end of the city. It was a model of cleanliness. We drank from a spotless kitchen table worn by scrubbings.

Beer Served by German.

The beer was brewed by a white haired German. His wife waited in another room, restless in her anxiety to clean up after the guests. Our host dwelt lovingly on the brews of Munich and Leipsig. We lifted our glasses to Strauss waltzes on the phonograph. Our host beamed to compliments. The beer was quite good.

Bill and I stepped out into a flood of moonlight. Bill hummed a few bars from "The Voices of Spring."

"You know," he said slowly, "prohibition ain't so bad. Think of what it would be like without anything to drink."

WIFE'S REVENGE TAKES HER INTO COURT

Put on Probation

Mrs. Helen Johnson, 26 years old, 6 feet tall and 225 pounds in weight, found her husband, Gus, Thursday night after a three year search. He was with Miss Theresa Meyers, a slim brunette, at 3438 Greenview avenue. Mrs. Johnson wrecked the apartment and had Miss Meyers by the throat when police arrived and arrested the principals, including Mrs. Della Hoyt, sister of Mrs. Johnson. Yesterday Judge Leon Edelman placed Mrs. Johnson on probation for six months, fined Mrs. Hoyt $10, and Johnson $5. Miss Meyers was freed when she exhibited her bruises.

RULE MICHIGAN U. FRATS MUST STAY CLOSED

Student Group Stands Pat on Decision.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—The senate committee on student affairs of the University of Michigan stood pat on its decision to close five fraternity houses after sessions which consumed four hours Monday and today and listening to suggestions advanced by an executive committee made up of alumni of the five Greek letter organizations involved, Kappa Sigma, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Theta Delta Chi, Phi Delta Theta, and Delta Kappa Epsilon.

The committee ordered the five houses closed last Thursday after police had confiscated upward of 50 quarts of liquor in raids.

Committee Stands Pat.

After today's meeting Dean of Students J. A. Bursley, chairman of the senate committee, handed out a carefully worded statement which said that the fraternity alumni had submitted a plan looking toward the elimination of all liquor law violations in fraternities on the campus. The senate committee heard the plan, and concurred in it by passing a resolution which welcomed the coöperation of the alumni.

As the result of today's action the fraternity houses definitely will be closed this week. There is belief in some quarters, however, that attempts to bring about their reopening will continue, through the university senate, if necessary.

House Votes Inquiry.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—The house committee on rules and resolutions this afternoon, voted to report favorably a substitute house resolution for an investigation of the recent liquor raids on fraternity houses at the University of Michigan.

The new measure provided that Speaker Fred Ming shall be empowered to appoint a committee of five members to investigate the situation at Ann Arbor, subpoena witnesses, take testimony, and report back to the house.

SENATE IGNORES HOOVER; TO VOTE ON BONUS TODAY

President's Protest Note Unavailing.

ment for a $150 payment to veterans in distress, the eight affirmative votes were furnished by Senators Smoot, Reed, Bingham, Watson, Shortridge, and Keyes, Republicans, and Walsh and King, Democrats. The nine in the negative were Senators Couzens, La Follette and Thomas [Idaho], Republicans, and Simmons, Harrison, George, Barkley, Thomas [Okla.], and Connally, Democrats.

Amendments, such as were voted down in committee, are certain to meet the same fate if offered on the floor of the senate tomorrow. The amendment which probably will obtain the greatest support in the senate is one reducing the 4½ per cent interest rate on loans to either 4 or 3½ per cent. Such an amendment would be assured of prompt approval by the house. The most active supporters of the bill, however, prefer to take no chances on delay and will oppose all amendments.

Traces Bonus History.

Undersecretary of the Treasury Mills, who was a member of the house at the time of the enactment of the original soldiers' bonus law in 1925, traced its history in his testimony before the finance committee and said that the present bill would destroy its basic principle and hasten agitation for pension legislation, as well as provide financial difficulties to the treasury.

"Congress decided very definitely that it was to the benefit of the veteran to receive an endowment insurance policy, instead of cash, as adjusted compensation," said Mr. Mills. "Congress had very definitely in mind the idea of limiting the loan value, so that the veteran would not exhaust the value of the certificate by borrowing. The amount of loans was fixed on a scale based on actuarial computations. I am not inclined to insist on the acturial end of it, but I do think that this legislation very definitely reopens the whole question and goes back to the original discussion as to whether the adjusted compensation shall be in the form of cash.

Predicts Pensions Next.

"Once you break down the principle there would be further attempts to get cash, and long before you get to 1945 you will have paid all of the adjusted compensation. The next step is a pension, and when you get to a pension for three or four million veterans the cost is going to be perfectly staggering.

"If we are going to preserve the principle of the original law we ought to limit the bill to those in need. If the purpose of this bill is to aid veterans in distress because of the business depression, and I have heard no other argument for it, why isn't it limited to them? I would be willing to go that far and I'm sure the department would.

"If this is a relief measure is it sound to increase the loan value of $3,400 certificates in order to reach $00.0 or 400,000?

Would Restrict Bill to Needy.

"We can afford to find money to take care of veterans who are in need which is to carry out the real purposes of this bill. If you ask us to go beyond the real purposes of this bill you are going to create a difficult situation and possibly retard business recovery. I think 500 million dollars is the minimum of new funds that will be required under the bill. We can take care of every veteran in need for 200 millions and without disturbing the financial situation."

In response to questions, Mr. Mills said that the prospective deficit of half a billion dollars can be carried along this year at the expense of any reduction in the public debt, but that this cannot be done indefinitely. He said there would be an actual increase in the debt this year and that in the next three years he thought the aggregate debt reduction would not be more than 800 million dollars.

Brig. Gen. Hines recommended two amendments to the committee. One was for a limitation of the loans to those in distress while the other was for the spreading of the loans over monthly or quarterly periods.

Gen. Hines said that if a veteran borrowed 50 per cent of the value of a $1,000 bonus certificate that 4½ per cent interest compounded would eat up all but $74.03 of the remaining 50 per cent during the 14 years before maturity. If 4½ per cent simple interest were used there would remain $185. If the rate were 4 per cent compound interest there would remain $134, while at 4 per cent simple interest the balance would be $220.

After President Hoover's letter was read, Senator Harrison asked if "it is the interpretation of the chairman that the President would veto the bill."

"I rather think he would," replied Senator Smoot.

Maryland Bonus Proposed.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 18.—(AP)—A bill providing a bonus for Maryland world war veterans was introduced in the legislature last night by Andrew P. Szamski, member of the house of delegates from Baltimore, himself a veteran. It would give to every veteran who lived in the state six months before beginning service $10 for every month he served.

Text of Hoover's Note on Bonus Loan Legislation

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—(AP)—The text of President Hoover's letter today to Senator Smoot, chairman of the senate finance committee, regarding the bill to raise the loan value of world war veterans' bonus certificates, follows:

"I have given thought to your request that I should express to you and to the senate finance committee my views upon the bill passed by the house of representatives increasing loans to world war veterans upon the so-called bonus certificate. In view of the short time remaining in the session for its consideration I shall comply with your request.

"The proposal is to authorize loans upon the certificates up to 50 per cent of their face value. And to avoid confusion it must be understood that the face value is the sum payable at the end of the twenty year period (1945) being based on the additional compensation to veterans of about $1,300,000,000 granted about six years ago, plus 25 per cent for deferment, plus 4 per cent compound interest for the twenty year period.

Estimates Total Demand.

"As the 'face value' is about $3,423,000,000, loans at 50 per cent thus create a potential liability for the government of about $1,712,000,000, and, less the loans made under the original act, the total cash which might be required to be raised by the treasury is about $1,280,000,000 if all should apply.

"The administrator of veterans' affairs informs me by the attached letter than he estimates that if the present conditions continue then 75 per cent of the veterans may be expected to claim the loans, or the sum of approximately $1,000,000,000 will need to be raised by the treasury.

"I will not undertake to enumerate all of the grounds for objections to this proposal.

"There are a number of most serious objections, some of which are matters of method and some of which are matters of fundamental principle affecting the future of our country and the service men themselves.

Admits Obligation.

"I have supported, and the nation should maintain, the important principle that when men have been called into jeopardy of their very lives in protection of the nation, then the nation as a whole incurs a special obligation beyond that to any other group of its citizens.

"These obligations cannot be wholly met with dollars and cents. But good faith and gratitude require that protection be given to them when in ill health, distress, and in need.

"Over 700,000 world war veterans or their dependents are today receiving monthly allowances for these reasons. The country should not be called upon, however, either directly or indirectly, to support or make loans to those who can by their own efforts support themselves.

"By far the largest part of the huge sum proposed in this bill is to be available to those who are not in distress.

Fears Economic Effect.

"The acute depression and unemployment create a situation of unusual economic sensitiveness, much more easily disturbed at this time than in normal times by the consequences of this legislation, and such action might quite well result in a prolongation of this period of unemployment and suffering, in which veterans will themselves suffer with others.

"By our expansion of public construction for assistance to unemployment and other relief measures we have imposed upon ourselves a deficit in this fiscal year of upwards of $500,000,000, which must be obtained by issue of securities to the investing public. This bill may possibly require the securing of a further billion of money likewise from the public.

"Beyond this, the government is faced with a billion dollars of early maturities of outstanding debts which must be refunded, aside from constant renewal of a very large amount of temporary treasury obligations.

"The additional burden of this project cannot but have damaging effect at a time when all efforts should be for the rehabilitation of employment through resumption of commerce and industry.

No Cash Available.

"There seems to be a misunderstanding in the proposal that the government's securities already lodged with the treasury to the amount of over $700,000,000 as a reserve against these certificates constitute available cash to meet this potential liability.

"The cash required by the veterans can only be secured by the sale of these securities to the public.

"The legislation is defective in that this $700,000,000 of government securities is wholly inadequate to meet either a potential liability of $1,280,000,000 or approximately one billion dollars estimated as possible by the administrator of veterans' affairs, and provision would need to be made at once for this deficiency.

"The one appealing argument for this legislation is for veterans in distress. The welfare of the veterans as a class is inseparable from that of the country.

"Placing a strain on the savings needed for rehabilitation of employment by a measure which calls upon the government for a vast sum beyond the call of distress, and so adversely affecting our general situation, will in my view not only nullify the benefit to the veterans but inflict injury to the country as a whole.

"Yours faithfully,

"HERBERT HOOVER."

TWO MOVES FOR STRONGER NAVY GIVEN SUPPORT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Two steps designed to strengthen the American fleet were taken in congress today.

In the senate the naval affairs committee added an amendment to the 349 million dollar naval appropriation bill providing for the construction of at least two new destroyers during the 1932 fiscal year. At the same time Representative George P. Darrow [Rep., Pa.] obtained a special rule insuring action in the house on the $30,000,000 battleship modernization bill, probably tomorrow.

The decision to include at least two of the twelve destroyers, already authorized, in the naval supply bill was taken on the recommendation of Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams. The naval secretary acted after a survey of the situation in congress had convinced him that little chance now exists for passing the $74,000,000 warship authorization bill at this session.

FARMERS PAID LESS, BUT MILK PRICES STAY UP

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—(AP)—The senate agriculture subcommittee investigating prices of dairy products today, received testimony that the price paid to farmers in the vicinity of Cincinnati for milk has been lowered, but the retail figure had not fallen.

Harry Hartke, president of the National Coöperative Milk Producers federation of Cincinnati, said his organization had "recommended" a reduction in the retail price about a month ago, but nothing has come of it.

Since Jan. 1, he said, the price paid the farmer has decreased 10 cents per 100 pounds to the present rate of $2.60, but the consumer still pays 14 cents a quart.

STATE BUDGET IN ASSEMBLY; ASK $68,863,688

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Pared almost $10,000,000 under the 1929 requests, the budget recommendations for state officers, code departments, and other branches of the state government were announced to the general assembly today. When introduced later in the form of bills, the recommendations will be dissected in committee hearings.

The budget for the biennium ending June 30 was $78,088,835. For the next two years the departments and state branches are asking for $68,863,688 in appropriations from the general revenue. The difference is $9,225,147.

Group—	Recommendation.
Code departments [administration controlled]	$51,860,707
State elective officers	7,528,752
Courts	3,096,346
General assembly	1,158,500
Military	1,669,862
Boards and commissions	3,435,521
Interest on schools funds	114,000
Total	$68,863,688

Gov. Emmerson warned his eleven code department heads that their budgets must be cut to the minimum. Six of the departments asked for increases and five cut their appropriations below the 1929 figure, but the total is $7,804,715 less than the requests for current biennium expenses.

Code Department Wants.

The code department's present requests, compared with the moneys given them for the last two years' operation, is shown by the following tabulation. [An increase is indicated by the letter I after the second figure, while "D" shows a decrease.]:

Dept.—	1929.	1931.
Finance	$ 465,700	$ 593,400-I
Conservation	168,600	178,600-I
Labor	1,827,870	1,894,787-I
Mines	325,876	324,790-D
Public works	1,555,900	905,190-D
Purchases and construction	2,061,994	1,168,030-D
Welfare	39,424,550	36,254,943-D
Registration	1,170,900	1,491,500-I
Health	1,319,722	1,428,642-I
Trade	3,522,580	3,704,256-I

The requests of the other state officers amounts to $41,273 more than that for the current biennium. These are Secretary of State William J. Stratton, State Auditor Oscar Nelson, Superintendent of Public Instruction Frances G. Blair, Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom, and State Treasurer Edward J. Barrett.

Boards and commissions and the miscellaneous branches of the state government, which last biennum had appropriations totaling $5,551,245, asked $3,435,521 for the coming biennium, a decrease of $2,115,724.

Funds for Courts.

For 1929-'31 the appropriations recommended for the Supreme, Appellate and Circuit courts, and for the payment of judges' salaries and the state's portion of state's attorney's salaries, reached $3,167,278. For the new biennium, these requests amount to $3,096,346.

The military and naval department asks for $1,669,862 for the new biennium, which represents a decrease of $2,626,232 below that given it in 1929, or $4,296,094. The decrease is due to curtailment of armory construction.

The three cent gas tax, being constitutional, permits the highway department to anticipate 1931 gas tax collections for road construction. Director H. H. Cleaveland and Chief Engineer Frank T. Sheets say that between $47,000,000 and $49,000,000 will be expended on roads in Illinois in 1931, a sum sufficient to build 1,500 miles of new paving. About $13,000,000 of this will be spent in the metropolitan area surrounding and including Chicago.

GOV. EMMERSON ASKS FOR STATE TAXING REFORM

Cook County Debts Cited in Message.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Cook county's tax muddle brought a special message from Gov. Emmerson today pointing to the fact that Cook county owes the state $16,500,000 in overdue taxes, and the state house is facing an emergency over the state pay rolls. The governor made three suggestions as to what should be sought in relief measures. They were:

"First, the reduction of the burden of taxation by the application of strict economy. Second, the establishment of new sources of income. Third, the improvement of the state revenue system so far as that is possible under the constitution."

Income Tax Bill Filed.

Soon after the message was received Senator Simon E. Lantz [Rep.] introduced a bill for a state income tax, supported by the Illinois Agricultural association, which was recently upbraided by the governor for not taking off its coats for the tax amendment defeated in November. Sponsors of the bill said there was no connection between it and the governor's suggestion to uncover new sources of income.

The bill provides for a tax on income of persons with an exemption of $1,000 for unmarried persons, $2,000 for married persons and $500 for each child under eighteen or other dependent. Rates on taxable income are 1 per cent on the first $2,000, 2 per cent on the next $3,000, 3 per cent on the next $5,000, 4 per cent on the next $5,000, 5 per cent on the next $10,000, and 6 per cent on all amounts of income in excess of $25,000.

Cook County's Debt Cited.

In his message, which was outlined in Sunday's TRIBUNE, the governor said:

"Cook county now owes the state approximately $16,500,000, of which $3,438,054 is balance due from 1928 taxes and about $13,000,000 from 1929 taxes. Moreover, the 1930 Cook county taxes, which normally would be collected and available this year, probably will not be paid into the state treasury until the middle of 1932. But considering only the 1928 and 1929 taxes the various funds in the state treasury are short approximately the following amounts:

"General revenue fund, $6,032,016.00; school fund, $5,313,351.34; University of Illinois, $1,491,339.44; Illinois waterway bonds, $708,447.78; soldiers' bonus bonds, $2,444,899.11; blind relief, $448,001.33.

"All of this money should have been in the state treasury prior to Jan. 1 of this year, but none of it has been received. Seldom, if ever, has the state encountered a more serious financial condition. It involves the danger of default on state bonds and of a shortage of funds for the necessary expenditures of the state government and of the University of Illinois.

"These are immediate emergencies which cannot be neglected."

BILLS INTRODUCED INTO BOTH BRANCHES OF THE LEGISLATURE

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Among the bills introduced today in the senate were:

SB 132—Provides for tax of half mill for old age pension fund for persons 70 years or older. Total payment not to exceed $260 a year.

SB 135—Mills—Imposes tax of one-eighth cent a bushel on grain contracted for future delivery. Exempts growers and venders in actual possession of grain.

SB 137—Baker—Requires department of public works and buildings to take over pavements in cities, villages, and towns over which state bond issue or federal aid highways are routed.

SB 138—Lantz—Income tax bill, with exemption of $1,000 for single persons, $2,000 for married persons, and $500 for each dependent.

SB 139—Paddock—Requires payment of interest on monthly balances not less than 3 per cent by city and village treasurers in municipalities which have abandoned commission form of government.

SB 142—Finn—By request: Requires labeling of preparations containing wood alcohol, methanol, or methyl alcohol.

Senate joint resolution 10—Cuthbertson—Asks governor to cause survey by department of public works as to Emmerson airline proposed as part of route from Indianapolis to Kansas City via Champ Clark bridge, running in Illinois from Paris to the bridge. Adopted.

Among bills presented in the house were:

Your Charm and BEAUTY Soon Fade

—if You Don't Control Your "NERVES"

Leading beauty experts agree that "NERVES" do more to bring lines of age to the face than any other cause.

There is no greater foe to beauty than high-tension "NERVES." Blue—irritable—nervous spells soon rob you of attractiveness. Jumpy, twitchy "NERVES" hasten the lines of age in the face. Nervousness affects the digestive organs — often causing complexion troubles. Then strive as you may with powders, creams and facials, your beauty and charm soon fade.

Don't neglect your "NERVES" if you want to keep that youthful look. Whenever you feel nervous—try this pleasing, harmless Effervescent Drink.

Just drop a Dr. Miles' Effervescent NERVINE Tablet in a glass of water. Watch it bubble up like sparkling spring water; then drink it. You will be delighted with the way this harmless Effervescent drink quiets your "NERVES" and promptly relieves all nervous tension. Get a package of Effervescent NERVINE Tablets at any drug store today and try them. If you are not pleased with results — your druggist will gladly refund your money.

LAWMAKER JOB BILL REPORTED BACK FOR DEATH

Illinois House Members Tired of Criticism.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Representative R. J. Branson's bill to prevent legislators from holding public pay roll jobs while serving as assemblymen had hard going in the judiciary committee this afternoon, being sent back to the house finally with a recommendation that it do not pass. The vote was 25 to 7.

This measure is an outgrowth of the Chicago sanitary district scandal in which it was revealed that some legislators had been collecting fees from the drainage board at the same time they were sitting at Springfield considering legislation which might affect the district. But this afternoon's debate was onesided against the bill.

Sick of It, He Says.

"I'm sick of coming down here," said Representative M. L. Igoe, the Democratic leader, "and listening to some legislator get up and say, 'The rest of you are a bunch of highwaymen.'" He turned to Mr. Branson, a Centralia Republican.

"You advertise us as a bunch of crooks!" he shouted.

Representative Arthur Roe [Dem., Vandalia] rose.

"What about the bankers and attorneys for banks who come down here to the legislature?" he asked. "Haven't they the right to consider banking laws?"

"I'm commissioner of finance in Cairo," spoke up Representative Alexander Wilson, Cairo Democrat, "and I don't give a damn who knows it."

No Salary, He Says.

"And I'm auditor of the south park board," added Igoe, "but I don't accept any salary for those duties while I am serving here in Springfield."

Representative Frank E. Foster [Rep., Harvey] stated that he was city attorney of Harvey, receiving $100 per month salary and 2 per cent commission on collections of special assessments.

"We didn't object," said Representative Roger F. Little [Rep., Champaign] to legislators being on the sanitary district pay roll, but we did object if they did no work."

"This bill is a direct insult to the assembly," said Igoe. "I move it be reported back to the house with a recommendation that it do not pass."

The vote on this motion was as follows:

Nayes: Bederman, R.; Branson, R.; Church, R.; Garriott, R.; Jenkins, R.; Teel, D.; Woodward, R. Total, 7.

MADDOX $50,000 BAIL FORFEITED IN SHOOTING CASE

The $50,000 real estate bond of Claude Maddox, alleged leader of the Circus gang of hoodlums, was ordered forfeited yesterday by Judge Ross C. Hall in the Criminal court when the defendant failed to appear on a charge of assault to kill Policeman James McBride. The judge ordered the bond raised to $100,000.

Attorneys Milton Smith and W. W. Smith explained later that they had not known the case was to be called for trial or they would have had Maddox in court. They promised to bring him to court today and said they would ask that the forfeiture be set aside and the bond set back to its original figure. Prosecutor Harry Dichburne said he did not know the case was on the call for yesterday.

Maddox is alleged to have shot Sergt. McBride, one of the chief witnesses against William J. [Three Fingered Jack] White, while the policeman was on his way to the state's attorney's office. McBride was riding on a street car in Maywood when he was shot.

400 Soldiers to Take Part in Fort Sheridan Drills

The first of the winter series of drills is to be staged in the riding hall at Fort Sheridan Saturday afternoon with 400 soldiers participating. There are to be drills by field artillery men, rough riding and mounted drills by cavalry men, close order and silent drills by infantrymen and an anti-aircraft drill by the coast artillery unit. The drill will begin at 3:30 o'clock. Admission will be by card as the number of spectators is limited to 330 by the size of the hall.

WINS DIVORCE

MRS. HELEN V. WOLFF.

Mrs. Helen Virginia Wolff, 27 years old, daughter of Alexander N. Jerrems, an official of Jerrems, Inc., loop tailors, was granted a divorce yesterday from Frank Cooper Wolff, a real estate dealer. The decree was granted by Circuit Judge Trude on grounds of cruelty. The couple were married on June 3, 1924, and separated last October.

Mrs. Wolff testified that one of the causes of their separation was her husband's habit of stopping to see his mother on his way home in the evening. On one occasion, she said, she remonstrated with him and he struck her. Mrs. Wolff will receive $100 a month alimony and $100 a month for the support of their two year old son, Walace. A daughter, Sally Joan, 5 years old, will remain with her father.

DEATH PENALTY GIVEN MICHIGAN SENATE O. K., 23-7

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Capital punishment shaded prohibition in the legislative spotlight today, with state finances trailing, as the senate, suspending the rules, finally passed the Foster measure to electrocute first degree murderers.

The vote on the death penalty bill, which carried a referendum clause, was 23 to 7, considerable larger than the majority in the 1929 session, when the bill met a veto at the hands of Gov. Fred W. Green. The bill will go tomorrow to the house, where its passage appears assured.

Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker's attitude on the subject has not been revealed. If the house majority for the bill is as large as that in the senate, it is believed it could be passed over a gubernatorial veto.

The prohibition issue still occupied a prominent place today despite an attorney general's opinion yesterday ruled out as invalid a resolution of Representative Vincent D. Dacey, Detroit, providing for an advisory referendum at the spring election.

Dacey withdrew his resolution last night on the eve of scheduled consideration of the measure as a special order in the house. He promptly substituted a bill which would repeal the present state prohibition act. The new measure was consigned to the judiciary committee, whose liberal membership indicates that a favorable report may be obtained soon.

Gunman Wanted Here as Robber Leader Captured

Larry Coates, reputed leader of a band of robbers, several members of which were seized by Chicago police last Saturday night in connection with a number of bank and jewel robberies, was arrested last night by police of Miami, Fla., on instruction from Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller of Chicago, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Miami. Coates, a Cleveland gunman, was wounded a year ago when he and David Jerus, alias "Jew" Bates, tried to take Charles J. Stubbs at Covington, Ky., for a ride. Stubbs drew a pistol, killing Jerus and disabling Coates.

STATE SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS 3 CENT GAS TAX

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—In a decision handed down by the State Supreme court today the three cent gasoline tax law of 1929 was held valid. The test case was an original action in February filed by Attorney General Carlstrom against the Deep Rock Oil corporation for $69,872.75 arising from the sale of gasoline to the city of Chicago.

The collection of this tax was resisted on the ground that the gas tax was unconstitutional and also that the city of Chicago could not be required to pay for gasoline which is used for municipal purposes. The ocurt held:

That the tax cannot be regarded as double taxation; that the arbitrary exclusion of kerosene oil and electricity as a motor fuel is not an unreasonable discrimination; and that it does not violate the constitutional requirement of uniformity.

With reference to the claim that Chicago be exempted the court ruled that city streets "are under the paramount supervision of the legislature representing all the people."

EX-KAISER BUYS FREDERICK THE GREAT'S WATCH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 18.—Its setting in a castle hidden from the public for generations, with princely costumes on all the attending flunkies and the presence of princes of Hohenzollern blood, drew a capacity audience to the Hohenzollern auction at Glienicke castle today, but failed to boost the prices for the relics of monarchism. The auction was held on behalf of the aged Prince Friedrich Leopold, a member of the Hohenzollern family, who is now living in Switzerland.

Bids as low as 12 cents were offered for prints and oil paintings, many being knocked down for a dollar or two. A copy of Leonardo da Vinci's "Mona Lisa," elaborately painted on china, netted Prince Friedrich Leopold $30. The famous watch carried by Frederick the Great was bought by former Kaiser Wilhelm for $1,060. Nobody competed when the former kaiser's bid was made, and the audience applauded when it was learned that Wilhelm had secured the watch.

Prince Friedrich Leopold's son bought back the pistols once owned by Napoleon. He was a busy agent today, sitting beside the auctioneer, while his mother and Baroness Cerinni carefully counted the money as it dribbled into the till.

LAWS PROPOSED TO REGULATE ILLINOIS AIRMEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

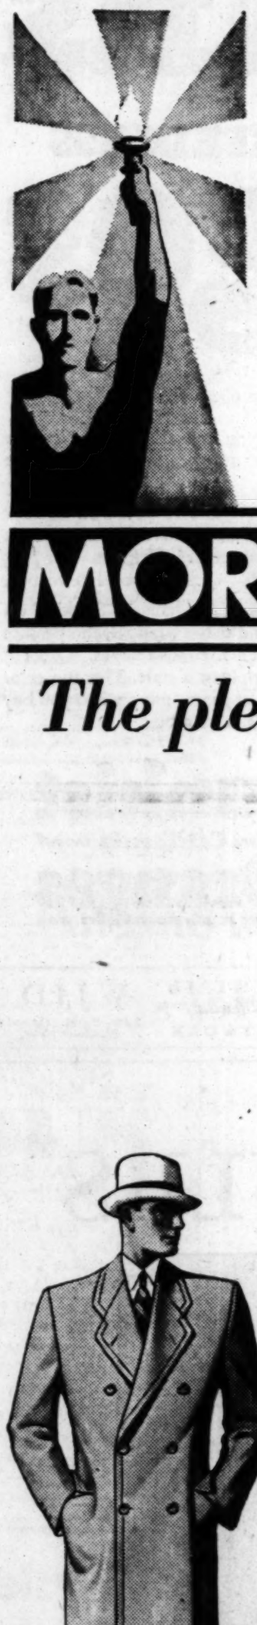
Springfield, Ill., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Uniform state laws for aeronautical control are asked in a bill introduced in the house today by request by Representative D. Logan Griffin [Rep., Springfield]. Another bill presented by Representative William J. Lawler [Rep., Springfield] provides for licensing of airmen and aircraft by the secretary of state.

Low altitude flying, combined with stunts and aerial acrobatics in the vicinity of a crowd or above a thickly inhabited area, is declared a misdemeanor in the proposed law, punishable by a fine of not more than $1,000 or six months in jail, or both.

Representative John C. Garriott [Rep., Chicago], introduced a bill which provided that a person operating a motor vehicle in a wanton or reckless manner that caused personal injury which did not prove fatal, would be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of from $50 to $1,000, a year in jail, or both.

PUSH TERMINAL WORK.

Galesburg, Ill., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Work on the $5,000,000 Burlington railway terminal improvement program here is to be pushed the coming season, with 200 men added to the construction force soon, it was announced today by George Griggs, division superintendent.



RICHMAN BROTHERS

ESTABLISHED 1879

MORE QUALITY

The pledge we have kept

A few days ago, the Richman Bros. Co. issued its annual statement covering the year 1930.

It was a wonderful statement, for in a year of general depression it told in cold figures a story of success and public confidence unparalleled in the clothing business.

What was the reason for this unequalled public support? The answer is "More Quality" . . . a pledge of two little words, the keeping of which has kept us lying awake nights to "make good."

When market conditions began changing more than a year ago, we gave the public our pledge that as conditions warranted, we would increase the quality of Richman Brothers Clothes.

Since then, we have strained every nerve; bent every energy; utilized every resource at our command to give more, more and still more quality.

Our customers had faith in us. They knew from 52 years' experience with us that they could trust us. Their confidence was justified, for in the past year we have not only increased the quality of our woolens, but we have improved tailoring, trimmings, linings, unseen interior construction . . . materials and workmanship all down the line.

"More Quality." Two little words. Yet upon them rests the world's biggest clothing manufacturing business.

LIPS

NEED

THIS protection

Chapping is no respecter of age or sex! Man, woman and child alike suffer the pain of unsightly cracked lips. And open splits invite the danger of infection.

All lips need the protection of Roger & Gallet Lip Pomade. Nature left the granular layer off the skin of your lips—that is why they are red. Only a thin, sensitive membrane covers the tissues—and this must be protected from the drying effects of cold, wind, heat and light. Use this pure, colorless, bland emollient... it provides needed protection—prevents chapping.

Just spread it on your lips before exposure and always before retiring...see that the children have this film of protection before going out-of-doors. Pleasant-tasting, safe enough to eat—Roger & Gallet Lip Pomade has been favoured for forty-three years by thousands of men, women and children to keep lips smooth, soft and attractive.

W. PERKINS BULL HURRIED ACROSS CANADIAN BORDER

Mystery Still Shrouds Sudden Journey.

accompanied by two other persons, was seen on Monday in a speakeasy on Walton place operated by the notorious Ted Newberry, and that Bull and his companions remained there for some time. Later the motor trip started.

After crashing into the rear of a truck near Coldwater the three were taken to a hospital, where it was found that Bull suffered a shattered hip, scalp wounds, laceration of the tongue and several minor injuries.

Despite his condition, Bull insisted on leaving at once to continue his trip to Canada, but physicians, because of the seriousness of his injuries and his age—he is 60—insisted that he remain for several hours. Even then his ambulance trip was believed dangerous.

Simply in a Hurry.

Magruder left Coldwater at once to return to Racine, but got only as far as Chicago, for he discovered here that he was injured more seriously than he had at first thought. Reached last night at the Drake hotel, where Bull has been living, he said Bull was simply in a hurry to keep a business appointment, and so hastened on to Toronto.

Moore, the chauffeur, is near death in the Michigan hospital. Attendants there last night denied reports that in his delirium the chauffeur rambled on vaguely about mysterious "shipments" and "federal authorities."

"Those shipments to Lake Forest. . . . I've got to get there. . . . The federal men will get them . . . and I won't be there," he is reported to have mumbled. "No bullets for it . . . the machine gun under the seat." Deputy sheriffs and police who have been watching Moore brand these reports as ridiculous, pointing out that Moore hasn't uttered a word since the accident.

Wife and Doctor on Trip.

Early yesterday morning Mrs. Bull, her two sons, Dr. W. T. Wootton of Hot Springs, Ark., an old friend of Bull, and a man believed to be an attorney, but who would not give his name, appeared at the hospital and later accompanied the injured barrister on the trip to Canada. Dr. Wootton rode in the ambulance, the relatives followed in another car, and an auto bearing newspaper men brought up the rear. The cavalcade passed into Canada with a brief stop at the border.

The fact that there was no detention by customs men nor any effort to question them at length led to the belief in some quarters that federal agents, instead of making an effort to hold Bull in this country, were actually facilitating his departure. It was learned, however, that federal investigators here had requested a full report on Bull from Toronto authorities.

U. S. Case Believed Closed.

The government's investigation of Bull was believed to have been closed last week with the raiding of his Drake hotel suite in search of "dope" and the arrest of Mrs. Sidley on her arrival at the Lake Shore Drive hotel next door when she came here from Racine. The whole affair was later branded as an awkward blunder on the part of the government men. Nothing was found to substantiate their suspicions, the federal operatives stated. Mrs. Sidley's traveling bag contained some dressed chickens, cans of fruit and muffins. There was a suspicion that the narcotic squad was used by foes of Bull and Mrs. Sidley.

Their raid, directed by Washington officials, was based on a secret code which it was later found was used by Bull and Mrs. Sidley in discussing the divorce proceedings. Bull and Mrs. Sidley who were arrested and detained for several hours explained that the code was used because it was known they were being watched and overheard by wire tappers.

Much of the mystery of this strange combination of circumstances and the speculation which it has caused is attributed to the fact that no effort has been made by Bull, Mrs. Sidley or their associates to make a statement of explanation.

Move in High Society.

In Chicago Bull and his family are known to move in society. He has been seen often in the company of persons of prominence and his two young sons, of whom Bartie Bull is the eldest, have been accepted in the best of families. There are rumors that the sons are to be engaged to two wealthy debutantes. One of the many rumors is that harassment of Bull can be traced to the friends of the debutantes.

Bull is reputedly wealthy, and owns estates in China and Cuba. Three inches of space in Who's Who is required to list his achievements, and he counts among his acquaintances King George and the prince of Wales.

His intimate friendship with the Horlick family, whose members reside in Racine and London, has continued over a period of years. The acquaintance dates from a meeting between Bull and William Horlick Jr. on board an Atlantic liner several years ago, friends of the family state. Bull later visited the Horlick estate in Racine and it was there that he first met Dr. Sidley and intermittently for a period of six months thereafter was a guest in his home.

Charges His Career Ruined.

Dr. Sidley was then an official in the Horlick company, having left his practice in Denver when he married Mabelle Horlick. Following his marital rift the private sleuths were directed to harass him. Dr. Sidley charges in his suit, and since then, he declares, all his efforts to secure business connections elsewhere have been thwarted by the Horlicks.

There was some speculation last night that the whole mysterious Bull-Horlick-Sidley affair may be aired shortly. The speculation was based on the reported comment of Dr. Wootton.

"There is a whole lot which can not be uncovered as yet," he is quoted as saying in Windsor. "There are many great and grave reasons why the interested parties can not talk as yet, but everything will be told in one way or another within the next few days."

WED SECRETLY

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—The Daily News says Betty Compton, musical comedy star, and Eddie Dowling, youthful employé of a motion picture company, were married secretly recently. The wedding was disclosed today when they sailed for a honeymoon in Havana. Booking their suite under the names of Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, they announced they had married earlier in the week. They were recognized by persons on the pier. Miss Compton starred in "Fifty Million Frenchmen." Her husband is employed in the dialogue department of the Paramount studios here.

LEITER HEARING ENDS; DECISION IN TWO WEEKS

Final arguments in the suit to remove Joseph Leiter as a trustee of the $30,000,000 estate of Levi Z. Leiter, pioneer Chicago merchant, were given yesterday before three judges of the Appellate court. A decision will not be announced for at least two weeks. The Appellate court judges are reviewing a decision handed down in 1926 by Superior Judge Denis E. Sullivan, who denied the plea of the British relatives of Joseph Leiter that he be removed as trustee.

Attorneys for Leiter argued that it was not an appealable motion and that a final decree had not been entered by the lower court. Although Judge Sullivan had ruled that Leiter should not be removed, the attorneys said, he also ordered an accounting made of certain items in the estate. The accounting has not been made and therefore the decree has not been carried out, it was argued.

Charges Britain Abetted Scuttling of German Fleet

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 18.—Following the Nelson tradition, Great Britain turned a blind eye to the scuttling of the surrendered German fleet by German crews at Scapa Flow, according to a speech made here by Prof. George W. Scarf of McGill university. The British government, he added, preferred that the German ships should not be divided with other nations, so when the surendered fleet put in its appearance at Scapa Flow the British warships there put to sea and did not return until after the scuttling.

Just a Touch of Ice-Mint—PRESTO

Corns Wither and Lift Out With Fingers. No Pain.

Corn sufferers gather round; get right up close and listen, here's good news for you.

The real genuine "Corn Killer" is here at last. No humbug. Ice-Mint, the new discovery made from a Japanese product is said to surely and quickly end all foot misery. Think of it: only a touch or two of the cooling, soothing Ice-Mint and real foot joy is yours. No pain, not a bit of soreness, either when applying it or afterwards and it doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened calluses just shrivel right up and lift off so easy. It's wonderful.

Every foot sufferer can appreciate a treatment like this, especially women who wear high heel shoes and men who are obliged to stand on their feet all day.

Try it. Just ask in any Drug store for Ice-Mint and learn for yourself what solid foot comfort really is. There is nothing like it.

Color secrets for "DIM BULBS"

DOROTHY DIX says

"Use Color to make your personality glow and sparkle . . . to put yourself across!"

"COLOR—what a magical power it has! Why don't all girls understand it?

"The right colors in a frock can heighten immeasurably a girl's beauty of eyes, hair and skin—make her whole personality glow and sparkle. Like the glamorous footlights of the stage, color in dress LIGHTS YOU UP! Helps you to put yourself across.

"Don't be a dim bulb (to use a phrase I've borrowed from the boys). It's so easy to charm if you do 2 things:

1. Choose the colors becoming to YOU.
2. Always keep them fresh and vibrant with life.

"Fading—even slight fading—robs a color of its power to thrill; it's like a lovely tune just slightly off key! And then, too, even a little change in a shade may make it WRONG FOR YOU. (Think how easily an exciting chartreuse can become a bilious yellow).

One Sure Rule

"There is just one way I know of to be SURE that colors DON'T fade. That is, to wash them only in Lux.

"Lux is made especially to preserve color. Ordinary 'good' soaps clean, but take away some color pigment. Lux cleanses beautifully, yet leaves the most delicate color singingly ALIVE and TRUE in tone.

"AT HOME, too—let color add glamour to you! Color in draperies, slip covers, even in table linens, all helps the magic spell—if kept fresh and lovely with Lux." DOROTHY DIX

How to Keep Colors Appealingly Lovely

(Right) Lovely yellow and black printed silk washed 8 times in Lux. The color is fresh and sunshiny as new. No fading or blurring of the pattern. All its sparkle and appealing charm retained!

(Left) Duplicate silk washed 8 times in ordinary "good" soap. Faded and streaked—the brilliance and glow of the color lost. No longer lovely!

SENATE REJECTS NIAGARA TREATY AS A POWER GRAB

Framed to Curb Erosion of Falls.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—The treaty between the United States and Canada for the preservation of Niagara Falls was unanimously rejected today by the senate foreign relations committee on the ground that it constituted a ten million dollar water power grab.

The committee took the position that whatever works are necessary to control the erosion at Niagara Falls should be undertaken directly by the two countries at their own expense, instead of being financed and carried out by water power companies, with increased diversion for power purposes as the consideration.

The treaty provided that the Niagara Falls Power company of New York and the hydro-electric power commission of Ontario, jointly, should construct certain remedial works above the falls, for the purpose of diverting north of the flow from that part of the crest where erosion is greatest to the flanks, which are now thinly covered or entirely uncovered.

Allows Extra Power Diversion.

For a period of seven years, the treaty provided, the power companies were to be allowed to divert during the winter season 10,000 cubic feet of water per second each, in addition to the 20,000 second feet now allowed the American and 36,000 allowed the Canadian plants. Brig. Gen. George B. Pillsbury, assistant to the chief of army engineers, in testifying before the committee, estimated the privilege would be worth $5,000,000 in "coal energy" to each company during the seven year period.

This scheme for Niagara Falls preservation was originally suggested by Mr. Hoover when he was secretary of commerce. Mr. Hoover was instrumental in procuring negotiation of the treaty by the Coolidge administration. The treaty was signed more than two years ago and was expeditiously ratified by Canada. Pressure for its ratification by the United States was renewed recently, following the fall of a large eroded wedge from the crest of the American falls. It now remains for President Hoover to decide whether to seek negotiation of a new treaty on the basis decreed by the senate committee.

Opposed on Other Grounds.

The treaty stood no chance of ratification by the senate at this time, even had it been approved by the committee on its merits. The Mississippi valley senators were opposed to it on the ground that no agreement for increased diversion at Niagara Falls should be made until an agreement could be reached on all diversions, including the amount of water required for an adequate lakes to the gulf waterway.

The Niagara Falls power companies had been active in fighting any diversion of lake water at Chicago and in instigating the suit of the lake states which resulted in an injunction of the use of lake water for sanitation at Chicago. The senators from northwestern states were also opposed to making any further concession to Canada at Niagara Falls, pending agreement by Canada on development of the St. Lawrence seaway.

"The foreign relations committee," said its chairman, Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], "was unanimous in its action. It rejected the present treaty. It favors, however, all reasonable action upon the part of the United States to preserve the scenic beauty of the falls.

Objects to Private Companies.

"It objects to this treaty because it purports to enter a contract with private companies to do certain work and for which they are given the use of a certain amount of water for power purposes.

"It is the view of the committee that the government of the United States in so far as its part is concerned ought to do this work direct and not enter into a contract with private power companies and pay the price which is here proposed to be paid.

Discusses Flood Control.

Dallas, Tex., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Efforts to control the mighty power of the lower Mississippi river at present include only the construction of levees and diversion channels, Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of army engineers, said here today.

Gen. Brown addressed the annual meeting of the national drainage, conservation, and flood control congress.

He said that construction of reservoirs, reforestation, and improvement of farming methods to halt erosion were parts of the large problem, but that the government's policy primarily was one of protecting lives and property values.

Stage and Screen Star Dead

LOUIS WOLHEIM.
[Moore Photo.]

WOLHEIM, 'TOUGH GUY' OF SCREEN, DEAD OF CANCER

Operation Fails to Save His Life.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 18.—(AP)—The story of Louis Wolheim has ended. Death came to the great character actor of stage and screen today, closing a life which, if Wolheim had not lived it, might be set down as only an entrancing tale of fiction.

He passed away at the apex of his career after suffering from cancer of the stomach, for which he was operated on Monday. At the bedside knelt the companion of his life and his only survivor, his widow.

He was 50 years old, but for Hollywood he was too young to die. His famous portrayals as the "tough guy" in many pictures and stage productions had brought him to the zenith of his life in the world of make believe, and when death came there laid before him the greatest promise of his career.

Led to Films by Fate.

Wolheim was one of the few in Hollywood who tumbled by accident into the life of an actor and long before his debut fate had prepared him for his parts.

He was born in New York City on March 28, 1880, and for 38 years he lived the life of an ordinary man. He graduated in 1905 from Cornell university with a degree of engineering. His stocky build well befitted him for football and it was during a game with Pennsylvania in 1904 that the battered nose which later became famous on stage and screen was first misshaped. Running with the ball as a halfback, he was tackled hard and his nose broken.

School life over, he became an instructor in mathematics at Cornell Preparatory school and followed amateur athletics.

Catches Eye of Barrymore.

In 1918 Lionel Barrymore, the noted actor, was dining in a New York café. He saw across the room a broad shouldered, pugnacious appearing man. The striking, bulldog features of the face caught the actor's eye and although he had never seen Wolheim before, he introduced himself and explained his visit.

Wolheim had an appearance that would suit admirably a part in a production, "The Judge," in which Barrymore was appearing, and after some persuasion the actor induced Wolheim to give up his teaching and come to the stage.

Success greeted him almost from the start. Few who saw the stage production "What Price Glory" have forgotten the hard boiled Captain Flagg, or Wolheim in Eugene O'Neill's famous play, "The Hairy Ape." A part in "The Jest" was his first success. It introduced him as a bruiser but in reality he was a good natured, peaceful fellow with a host of friends.

Turns to Motion Pictures.

In 1926 his success on the stage brought him film offers and he turned to the camera. The tough top sergeant in "Two Arabian Knights," his rôle in "The Racket," and the two fisted veteran soldier of "All Quiet on the Western Front" were regarded as his outstanding work in the films.

Shortly before his death he had finished "Gentlemen's Fate," which is yet to be released, and had been cast as the managing editor in "The Front Page," which is in production.

Like another great character actor, the late Lon Chaney, Wolheim lived quietly in Hollywood. Although his friends were legion, he never was seen in society.

WOMAN STABS POLICEMAN.

SUES VILLAGE COLLECTOR FOR $145,399 TAXES

A bill for an accounting was filed in the Superior court yesterday in which it is charged that Ferdinand C. Baumann, village collector of Niles Center, has failed to turn over $145,399 in taxes which he has collected. The suit was brought by Vincent Dodick, a taxpayer of Niles Center. The bill alleges that Baumann has collected $7,757,840 in taxes since May of 1923, but is keeping the $145,399 on grounds that it is his percentage due him as the village collector. A percentage commission is illegal and the collector's salary can be fixed only by appropriation, the suit says.

FREES 45 SEIZED IN RAID.

On the admission of the police that they acted without a search warrant, two alleged keepers and 43 patrons, seized Tuesday in a raid on an alleged policy game at 1506 West Lake street, were freed yesterday by Judge Joseph Graber.

NEW POSTOFFICE WORK IN CHICAGO STARTS IN APRIL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Actual construction work on the long delayed $21,000,000 Chicago postoffice is expected to begin in April, according to testimony given before the house appropriations committee and made public today. The treasury plan is to let the contract for the foundations in April, if the working drawings are ready and then follow with the building contract when the foundations are completed.

This was revealed when the $59,000,000 second deficiency bill was reported to the house today.

Site Obstacle Removed.

The deficiency bill carries an authorization removing all legal obstacles to the purchase of the Van Buren and Canal street site over the railroad tracks. It also includes $1,150,000 for the construction of a new appraisers' stores building at Chicago, on a site now owned by the government, $510,000 for enlarging the marine hospital at Chicago, $600,000 for a postoffice at Oak Park, $165,000 for a postal building at Cicero, $160,000 for a postoffice at Lake Forest, and $140,000 for a postal building at Wheaton, as well as numerous other funds for downstate Illinois projects.

Site Purchase Authorized.

The authorization for the new Chicago postoffice as included in the deficiency bill permits the government to purchase the Van Buren street site, even though the title is clouded by three easements, one of which would bind the government to so construct its building that Congress street could be extended through the structure at the pleasure of the city of Chicago. Other easements provide that the railroad companies may operate under the building that the government will construct and that city tunnels will not be disturbed.

Two N.U. Grads Home from World Tour as Stowaways

Boston, Mass., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Two Northwestern university graduates arrived here today as stowaways aboard the British steamer Chinese Prince.

The youths, William Moss of Detroit and Joseph Bain of Brooklyn, sailed from New York last June after being graduated from Northwestern on an announced circumambulation of the globe. They hitchhiked through France, Spain, and Italy. But their funds gave out, and appeals to home met with stern refusal, so they were obliged to stowaway on the Chinese Prince in Naples. They worked their passage home.

Leviton's Claim Against N. U. Is Settled, He Says

Frank C. Leviton, an attorney, announced yesterday that he had been paid $1,000 by Northwestern university to settle his claim for damages for being ejected from a football game and arrested on a charge of stealing tickets.

WOMAN, 84, KILLED WHEN AUTO RUNS PAST RED LIGHT

Mrs. Jeanette Crawford Barnes, 84 years old, 6929 Normal boulevard, was instantly killed last night when she was struck by the automobile of a hit and run motorist as she was crossing Normal boulevard at West 69th street. Mrs. Barnes and her daughter, Mrs. J. B. Crook, had started across the street after waiting for the traffic light to change when a red Chevrolet coupe, southbound, struck Mrs. Barnes, throwing her forty feet.

Mrs. Crook was able to obtain only the first four numbers of the license, 1126 ——, Illinois, for 1930. The police are attempting to trace the owner from that information.

One other death brought the year's toll to 180.

Miss Helen Schrock, 31 years old, 5210 North Damen avenue, died at the Illinois Masonic hospital of injuries received Tuesday, when she was struck by an automobile while crossing the street in front of 1254 George street. The driver of the car was George Colter, 4922 North Washtenaw avenue.

Girl, 12, Seized by Youth on Street; Charges Attack

A 12 year old girl, returning home from a grocery last evening, was assaulted by a youth as she neared her home in the 300 block of West 42d street, according to a complaint of the child's mother to Brighton Park police. The youth dragged the girl to a coal shed in the rear of 4344 Archer avenue, frightened her with a pistol, and attacked her. The girl described her assailant as about 17 years old, garbed in a dark cap and gray overcoat.

GIRL, 5, GETS $5,000 DAMAGES.

Shirley Budnick, 5 years old, 4342 West 18th street, yesterday was awarded damages of $5,000 by a jury in Circuit Judge Lynch's court for the loss of sight in one eye as the result of a fall down the stairs in the building in which she lives. The jury held that Edwin G. Benn, owner of the building, was responsible.

free wheeling

When the two finest cars in America pay Studebaker a magnificent compliment, Studebaker knows how to acknowledge it!

Never, in all the 79 years of its pioneering, has any former Studebaker achievement received such swift and distinguished recognition!

Pierce-Arrow and Lincoln had no competitive scruples about following Studebaker . . . each paid the new dynasty of dynamics the tribute of adoption, and wrote into the constitution of their cars the epochal principles of Free Wheeling—intact and unmodified.

If you can afford the luxury of a Pierce-Arrow, buy one; if you can afford the luxury of a Lincoln, buy one; but if you can't afford either, remember that the most momentous thing in both of them is within your reach in the three great Studebaker Eights or the brilliant new Studebaker Six.

Simply keep in mind that a Free Wheeling Studebaker, however low in price, is the Free Wheeling equal of the two finest American automobiles that money will buy! You may choose among them as to price, but there is nothing to choose among them as to Free Wheeling performance . . . all share equally in the benefit of momentum.

Free Wheeling with positive gear control rests your engine one mile in every five . . . cuts down the cost of gasoline, oil and tires . . . and minimizes strain and wear on engine and chassis.

With Free Wheeling, there's no need to touch the clutch in shifting from high to second or second to high. Anytime and anywhere you feel like it, you can take your foot off the accelerator and let your car idle along on its own momentum! . . . with the full braking power of your engine always instantly available at any speed.

Highway commissioners and safety directors throughout the country have driven Free Wheeling Studebakers and then voiced approval of Free Wheeling with positive gear control as a new measure of safety both to driver and public.

Studebaker, Pierce-Arrow, and Lincoln . . . all Free Wheeling . . . all recommended . . . which shall it be?

FLINT, FATHER OF MODERN TRUSTS, RETIRES, AGED 81

Formed Many Business Combinations.

CHARLES R. FLINT. [Wide World Photo.]

He is Charles R. Flint, familiarly known as "the father of trusts" because of his organization of the United States Rubber company, the American Woolen company, the American Chicle company, the Computing Scale company, and a score of other large industries.

With his 41 year old wife, the former Charlotte Reeves, whom he married in 1927, he expects to devote the rest of his life to "keeping away from business."

Father Ran Clipper Fleets.

Mr. Flint is a native of Maine, intimately associated with clipper ships, for his father owned the second largest fleet of American vessels and the son's first business enterprise was to organize the firm of Gilchrist, Flint & Co., New York ship chandlers. He was just turned eighteen then, after having worked two years with W. R. Grace, who gave him nothing for a salary and said he would probably be worth every cent of it.

Among his exploits was buying a navy for the late czar and building one for the Republic of Chile. He had also sold a warship to Japan, carried a $30,000,000 letter of credit for Russia for months, and negotiated with the late King Leopold of Belgium for an interest in the Congo.

Agent for First Airplane.

Mr. Flint was agent for the Wright brothers and even in the early pioneer days he saw the tremendous value of their invention. He tried to sell their airplane successively to the United States, Great Britain, France, and Germany without success. His denunciation of the American government for its failure in 1908 to accept the Wright machine was most outspoken.

Incidentally, one of his treasured possession is a note which reads:

"Feb. 20, 1908. Five years after date we promise to pay Flint & Co. or order the sum of $1,000 with interest at 5 per cent per annum. — Orville Wright. Wilbur Wright."

Mr. Flint was the first of the American business men who did big things in a big day at a time when big business was just beginning to expand over the world. Spreading his operations in a dazzling fashion throughout the world, he had the Midas touch. Almost everything he handled turned to gold.

Not a modest man, he contended that the talents which enable men to succeed in business are of as high an order as those which brings success to artists and musicians, although admitting that it "was pure greed" which made a man want to "swell his wad, million after million."

Organized Many Trusts.

He asserted that a speech he made in 1880 was the first gun in the "trust" movement toward industrial consolidation.

In his long experience he acted as organizer or adviser for more than fifty industrial combinations, and most of them are now prosperous.

In addition to the big companies already named he applied his genius for knitting together small industrial units to the creation of the American-Hawaiian Steamship company, the Autosales Gum and Chocolate company, the Clarksburg Coal company, the International Business Machine company, the International Time Recording company of New York, the National Starch company, and the United States Bobbin and Shuttle company.

Once before Mr. Flint retired, but came back to business last year, saying that he didn't know how else to occupy himself. This time he says he has retired for good.

ESCAPED AUTO THIEF CAPTURED.

Valparaiso, Ind., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Frank Lucas, automobile thief who escaped with four others from St. Joseph county jail at South Bend on Jan. 18, was captured here today by Sheriff Burney Maxwell. Lucas admitted he had stolen a car at Wabash, Ind., Sunday night and robbed a filling station near Plymouth last night. He will be returned to South Bend.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

THE TRIBUNE Good Fellow fund passed the $95,000 mark yesterday with $200 to spare.

When the first call was issued last October for Good Fellows to provide for needy families throughout the winter rather than only at Christmas time, it was thought that only enough money could be raised to provide for 100 families. But new Good Fellows joined those who had given Christmas baskets for years and the number of families now being cared for totals 305. Good Fellows also have been responsible for the rehabilitation of sixteen families.

The Central Charities bureau [Catholic], the United Charities, the Salvation Army and the Jewish Social Service bureau have investigated all Good Fellow families and found them worthy. THE TRIBUNE bears the expense of administering the Good Fellow fund.

SECOND TRIAL OF 'INDIAN LILA' GETS UNDER WAY

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Nancy Bowen, aged Indian woman whom the state contends was the actual slayer of Mrs. Clotilde Marchand, wife of Henri Marchand, the artist, took the stand late today as a prosecution witness in the second trial of Lila Jimerson, Cayuga Indian woman, accused of having instigated the killing.

District Attorney Guy B. Moore contended Nancy Bowen was led to commit the murder by superstitious fears aroused in her by the younger Indian woman. The motive for the killing, he said, was a desire to have the artist's wife out of the way so that Lila might continue her relationship with Marchand.

OHIO DETECTIVES KIDNAP SUSPECT, DEFYING COURT

Cleveland, O., Feb. 18.—(AP)—After eluding pursuit by Pennsylvania state police, Cleveland detectives tonight climaxed a Pittsburgh court kidnapping by returning "Pittsbugh Hymie" Martin to this city to answer charges of murder in the slaying of William E. Potter, former city councilman.

Martin, who was rushed out of Judge Joseph G. Stadtfeld's court unnoticed while his attorney was clamoring for time to appeal to the judge's denial of a writ of habeas corpus, was put under the grill by investigators immediately upon his arrival here shortly before 7 p. m.

County Prosecutor Ray T. Miller said there was no possibility of Pittsburgh authorities regaining custody of Martin, despite the unorthodox removal before the court had signed the denial order. Judge Stadtfeld indicated he would not sign the order until Martin was returned.

PRINCE OF WALES LEAVES PERU ON WAY TO BOLIVIA

PUNO, Peru, Feb. 18.—(AP)—The Prince of Wales and his royal party sailed late today over Lake Titicaca, the highest navigable lake in the world, on the journey that will send them into Bolivia as the next South American country to be visited.

The prince and his brother, Prince George, spent today exploring near Puno and at 4:30 p. m. started over the great lake, which is 11,800 feet above sea level.

Carrying them was the lake steamer Inca, a boat built in Scotland. Their destination was Huaqui, Bolivian port at the opposite end of the body of water. From Huaqui they will continue by rail through the Andes to La Paz, capital of Bolivia.

U. S. COAST GUARD ACTIVE; CANADA RUMMERS QUIT

TRURO, N. S. Feb. 18.—[Special.]—That the United States coast guard's activity in patrolling the United States coast was "making it too hot" for them and that the extreme risk of life and property was too great to make rum-running a paying business was the statement made by nearly twenty captians of Nova Scotia's rum fleet who are tying up their vessels at south shore ports and quitting the rum-running business "until a lull in the coast guard activities comes," as one of them expressed today.

Others said that due to the heavy stocks of contraband liquors in United States storehouses they intended to lay off for a while. But the general consensus of opinion is that the coast guard, having shown that it means business, the small fishing schooners which have been actively engaged in rum-running decided to take a holiday.

CATARRH

Is That Good News?

Ask Any Walgreen or Economical Store About Opex

Catarrh is a condition that all clean people detest.

In these days, when the air we breathe is so laden with irritants such as smoke, soot, dust and poisonous gases from motor vehicles, nose and throat hygiene is especially important.

A few years ago, Catarrh was considered incurable, because no one was clever enough to get together a formula that would spread over the membranes of the nasal tract a cleansing substance that would keep them free from mucus.

But Opex changed all that and now all you have to do is to spray on Opex and faithfully treat the cause of Catarrh.

When you use Opex you see the cleansing vapor as fine as smoke coming thru the nostrils—and it will come thru no matter how stuffed up they are.

That's the way to get after Catarrh and to lessen those annoying, ringing, buzzing noises in the ears when caused by Catarrh.

The price of a bottle of Opex that will last two months is $1.00—it's easily worth one hundred dollars to any man or woman who wants clean nostrils free from mucus.

Opex is the swift modern hygienic treatment for stubborn catarrh because it reaches, cleanses and soothes the irritated membrane and clears it of mucus.

And remember this: the toughest old head colds are knocked out in a few hours with Opex—it's the magic treatment of science, for with this new discovery you can reach the entire respiratory tract—right down to the bottom of the lungs.

Bear this in mind also, for it will be joyful news to millions. After you spray Opex for two or three weeks there won't be any lump of mucus in your throat to hawk up every morning—what a blessing!

Opex is sold in this city by all Walgreen and Economical stores with the distinct understanding that if you are not satisfied at the end of 30 days your money will be gladly returned. Opex is delightful to use because of its wholesome fragrance. Inhale as you spray if you want to reach the bottom of the lungs—you can also spray that irritated throat with Opex.

Note The Picture—

When you inhale deeply as you spray the nostrils, you can reach the whole respiratory tract with Opex—right down to the bottom of the lungs themselves.

Spray thru the nose and inhale—and the healing, soothing, smoke-like vapor will come thru the mouth—you can see it—and you know it has reached the bottom of the lungs—nothing on earth but Opex can do this.

POLICE OF PARIS PREPARE FOR RED RIOTS ON FEB. 25

Seen as Part of Uprisings Ordered by Moscow.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 18.—With the increasing pinch of hard times France is once more faced with a Red menace and police are preparing to combat a serious attempt at an insurrection which communists are planning for Feb. 25 as part of the worldwide program of uprising ordered by Moscow.

From discreetly worded, officially inspired articles in the Parisian papers, it is evident that police spies have gotten wind of communist plots and are attempting to prepare public opinion for the disorders and bloodshed now considered inevitable for the "Red 25th." The exact nature of these plots has not been divulged.

Plan Campaign of Strikes.

All that is known is that the communists are planning a stubborn campaign of strikes and agitation to prepare the way. This campaign has already been going on for some time—and that on next Wednesday Moscow agents will make strong efforts to get all their followers into the streets with the idea of provoking riots. No hope is entertained of actually besting the police in these clashes, but it is thought that once a few "martyrs" are made, proletarian solidarity will be strengthened and possibly a serious uprising may be staged a few days later when police are off guard.

Communist leaders encouraged over the liberation of two notorious agitators, Andre Marty and Jaques Duclos, and seeing a fertile soil for the spread of their doctrines, are openly boasting that Feb. 25 will see the most formidable communist demonstration in Paris since the night of Aug. 23, 1927, when Red mobs took possession of whole quarters of the city and marched up the Rue de Rivoli to storm the Louvre.

Will Mass 10,000 Troops.

Since then the communists have hardly dared show their faces here and the prestige of the party has dwindled almost to zero. This year for the first time police are really worried. In addition to the usual heavy patrols of gendarmes and "gardes republicaines," Prefect of Police Chiappe has asked for 900 reserves to be stationed at central points and rushed in fast cars to any spot where danger threatens.

Machine guns will not be set up on the streets to avoid giving an exaggerated idea of the danger, but they will be placed in readiness in all public buildings and police stations. About 10,000 troops, at least half of them cavalry, will be available for riot duty in the capital, but most of them will be held in the suburbs unless the situation gets out of hand.

Moscow agents are predicting that within a year France will surpass Germany and Austria as the white hope of communism outside of Russia. The communist party in France is numerically very strong, but has hitherto failed to exercise much influence owing to the lukewarm sentiments of most of its adherents. Now with official figures admitting 350,000 out of work and 1,000,000 suffering from reduction of employment, it is felt communism presents a menace but France is ready to crush it.

WATERLOO PAPERS MERGE.

Waterloo, Ia., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Merger, effective Friday, of the Waterloo Daily Courier and Waterloo Tribune was announced today. The consolidated paper will be known as the Waterloo Daily Courier.

HELD UP

MRS. BELLA LAZAR.

Mrs. Bella Lazar, 32 years old, 7038 East End avenue, was robbed in her home yesterday. She was bathing her year old son, Edward, when the front doorbell was rung by a dark, pretty girl, about 18 years old, who said she had an important message for Mrs. Lazar. Invited inside, the girl drew a pistol from her purse, and, marching Mrs. Lazar in front of her, ransacked the apartment, taking two rings worth $1,400, a $300 fur coat, a $100 watch and $10 cash.

OFFICER FORBIDS PILOT TO TOUCH CONTROLS; 9 DIE

Inquest Reveals Drama in Royal Air Force Crash

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 18.—The grim story of how the novice commander of a flying boat forbade an inferior officer, who was his instructor, to touch the controls of the plane when the more experienced pilot knew it was diving to its doom was told today at the inquest into the deaths of nine men who were killed in the worst airplane disaster in the history of the royal air force.

Passengers See Death Coming.

The ship crashed in Plymouth sound on Feb. 3. Wing Commander C. G. Tucker was seated at the dual controls. A few seconds before the fatal plunge into the water Commander Tucker waved his hands at the alarmed instructor, Flight Lieutenant M. H. Ely, to keep his hands off the controls. The subordinate was forced to obey his superior officer's command. Ten others aboard helplessly watched the controversy and awaited death.

Commander Tucker lost his life, but Lieut. Ely escaped with severe injuries. Two others were picked up from the water. The officers testified that Commander Tucker was overbearing and had previously reprimanded Lieut. Ely for his instructions, although he was himself ignorant of seaplanes.

Lawrence of Arabia Testifies.

One of the witnesses at the inquest was "Aircraftsman Shaw," the romantic figure known the world over as "Lawrence of Arabia." Aircraftsman Shaw, who has been accused by Russia of working in Afghanistan for some time, but who is actually performing his duties as a noncommissioned officer at the royal air force base at Plymouth, testified that he would only fly with Commander Tucker under orders because he did not trust the late officer's flying ability.

36 Killed, 72 Injured in Chinese Rail Wreck

HANKOW, China, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Thirty-six were killed and seventy-two injured in a train wreck Sunday near Sinyang, 100 miles north of here, on the Peiping-Hankow railway. Because of heavy snowfall, which crippled wire and rail communications, the report reached here only today.

Balbo, Italy's Hero of Air, May Be Next 'Mussolini'

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Feb. 18.—As a result of the added prestige gained by his successful formation flight from Italy to Brazil, Gen. Italo Balbo, Italian air minister, is being mentioned as the most likely choice as Mussolini's successor should anything happen to the Italian dictator.

GEN. ITALO BALBO.
[Acme-P. & A. Photo.]

Gen. Balbo is but 35 years of age, but he has been one of the staunchest of Fascists since the inception of the movement. In fact, he is one of the "quadrumvirs," or four leaders, of the famous march on Rome from Naples which seated the Fascist party in power. Besides that he has long been noted as one of the "hard" men of the movement and is a local boss in his own home district of Ferrara. Furthermore, under Gen. Balbo the Italian aviation service has been developed to a position where it stands second to none in Europe in point of efficiency, of personnel and material.

Ciano Another Candidate.

Otherwise mentioned as a possible successor of Mussolini is Conte Ciano, minister of communications, and father-in-law of Mussolini's daughter, Edda. His son married the duce's daughter last spring and was later assigned to a post as consul general in Shanghai.

Conte Ciano is one of the strong personalities of the Mussolini cabinet, a domineering executive and a hero of the war; in fact, a hard fisted man who in personality and character, perhaps, resembles the duce more than any other of his lieutenants.

Augusto Turati, former secretary of the Fascist party, was for some time regarded as a possible successor to the duce, but this possibility was wrecked last fall following the resignation of Turati and the rumor of a fallout he had had with Mussolini. He, however, now appears to have been somewhat reinstated, as it has just been announced that he has been named director of the important newspaper Stampa, or Turin.

Mussolini Works Out Scheme.

Mussolini some months ago worked out a plausible scheme to solve that most difficult of problems of how to secure the succession of a dictator.

The scheme was embodied in the new regulations governing the prerogatives and duties of the supreme council, the highest organ in the Fascist state, and separate from the other legislative bodies, such as the chamber of deputies and the senate. It corresponds, in fact, more closely to the college of cardinals in the Vatican government organizations than to anything else.

According to these new regulations, it is the duty of the supreme council to always have on record, but secretly, the names of at least two or three men who are slated as successors to Mussolini. Mussolini himself obviously decides what these names shall be, and he changes them from time to time. Should a successor be required, the grand council decides the matter and picks the name which tops the list, just as the college of cardinals elects a new pope.

Once chosen by the supreme council, the name goes to the king for rubber stamp ratification. That's the system. But, of course, once Mussolini is no longer ruler there is nothing to assure that the names he picked would be the unanimous choice of the grand council.

HOW TO ESCAPE FLU

1 Avoid so far as possible the places where flu germs are most likely to be spread; overcrowded cars and public meeting places; overheated, stuffy rooms.

2 Be careful of close contact with others, and beware of all coughers and sneezers; breathe through the nose, get fresh air, but avoid drafts or chilling.

3 Get lots of rest. Eat plenty of citrus fruits. Keep the bowels open. Take extra precautions to keep in sound physical condition, so your system will have high resistance against germs.

4 Above all, avoid catching colds. They lower your resistance to the flu germ. Ward them off. At the first sign of any cold, take Bayer Aspirin and remain indoors if possible until your cold is gone. Gargle with Bayer Aspirin dissolved in water at the first indication of sore throat, as this will relieve the soreness and reduce the inflammation.

5 If you have any reason to suspect even a touch of flu, call your doctor at once.

"How should I Sleep?"

MOTION PICTURES MADE DURING INVESTIGATION UPSET OLD THEORIES

Automatic motion picture cameras recorded the positions and movements of sleepers during the investigation at Mellon Institute. The sleep habits of 150 persons were studied. More than 2,000,000 observations were made.

Millions of mattresses now in use are enemies of Vitalizing Rest

"DON'T sleep on your back" . . . "Don't sleep on your face" . . . "Don't sleep on your left side—it forces your heart to pump the blood uphill."

Old theories . . . now swept aside. For six years sleep has been studied by a group of scientists at Mellon Institute, Pittsburgh—the first broad scientific investigation of this subject ever made.

Now the advice is: Sleep anyway you like. Sleep on all four sides . . . so much the better. Curl up . . . stretch out . . . roll over . . . fine! And be sure that your mattress lets you do all these things if you want complete rest.

Why? Because we rest in parts. One position rests one set of muscles and organs. Another position rests another group. The normal, healthy sleeper takes 10 to 15 different positions during the night . . . and shifts from one position to another 20 to 45 times!

• • •

Anything that limits the number of positions which can be taken in comfort is bad. Solid mattresses . . . mattresses padded down in bumps and hollows . . . these are bad. Not just uncomfortable, but definitely bad.

The investigation has shown that a new type of mattress . . . the Simmons Beautyrest and Deepsleep . . . is ideal. In place of stuffing or layers of padding, in these mattresses are hundreds of springy inner coils, buried under soft cushioning. Coils which are always "alive." They can't pad down . . . they can't form bumps and hollows.

See the Beautyrest and Deepsleep at any good furniture store. Here is a new kind of comfort. And a small investment indeed, compared with the rewards of vitalizing rest!

H. M. Johnson, Ph. D.—head of the Investigation of Sleep at Mellon Institute—has written a booklet, "Bodily Positions in Restful Sleep." Send for it! Address the Simmons Company, 222 North Bank Drive, Chicago, Illinois.

LYLE AND ALBERT IN VOTING STRENGTH.

Ald. Albert, the Deneen candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor, was a candidate for the Republican nomination for president of the county board and for county commissioner last year. For the nomination for president of the board he was defeated in both city and county. He was one of the ten candidates nominated for the board in the city, but, not being also the candidate for the board's chairmanship, withdrew and did not enter the election, preferring to retain his seat in the council rather than take one in the county board. That was a good decision for his ward, which he serves well, but it remains that he had made a try at an office with a large electorate, the entire county, and had failed.

Mr. Albert in his experiences with vote getting outside his own ward has not shown that he can get it. He was one of a group of good aldermen. That was to his credit, but it had not equipped him for successful campaigning in a city-wide election. That may come in the future, but he had not arrived. Consequently he could not beat Thompson.

The opposite was true in the case of Lyle. The essential advantage in his case is that he has proved himself a good candidate. His political experiences had put him in the legislature, in the city council and in the Municipal court. He entered the same general campaign last year that Albert did, and, although Albert retired discouraged, Lyle won the most notable of the election's victories.

In giving the immunized crooks of Chicago their first disquieting judicial encounter in a number of years he had offended a certain legalism which itself had been quite futile in dealing with criminals. There was an effort to create a prejudice against him on this score and to single him out for discredit. In spite of that he stood up against a Democratic landslide and won.

James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic candidate for the United States senate, carried Chicago with a plurality of 436,000. It was a Democratic year. Republican candidates for sheriff, county treasurer, for the board of assessors, for the board of review, for the county board, for county clerk and other clerkships, for the sanitary district, etc., were swept out on this flood of votes registered against the Republican party in a year of discontent and protest. But Lyle not only survived it; he came through brilliantly. His vote for Municipal court judge topped that of some of the successful Democratic candidates for the court. He was given a conspicuous indorsement at the polls by discriminating voters who made an exception of him in their destruction of the Republican ticket.

That was evidence. Ald. Albert had proved that he did not run outside of his own ward. Judge Lyle proved that he was exceptionally strong throughout the city.

If the candidates against Thompson were to be considered as about the same in other qualifications the decisive distinction in a wise selection would be voting strength. The sound first principle of an opposition is to present the man who can win. The supporters of Lyle offer him with that qualification which Ald. Albert lacks. He has proved that he can make a campaign and get votes on the issues he presents. The man who would make a good mayor must first prove himself a good candidate. The real opposition to the city hall gang is not seeking merely a ride which the gangsters would be glad to give it.

BISHOP CANNON.

The clip sheet of the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition, and public morals in defending Bishop James Cannon Jr. says that millions of people are convinced that he has been the victim of persecution, "relentless and unscrupulous."

The bishop has been required to defend himself against charges brought in his own church. He has been exonerated twice by the decision of ecclesiastical judges. This was all within the discipline of the church. The charges came from church officials. The church itself had the authority to prevent any hostile outside interference. The concern was entirely within and of the church. Any relentless persecution in this respect must have arisen in the doubts of officials in church authority and is not to be charged to the bishop's political opponents.

He also has been before congressional committees, but thus far he has carried his point that he is not responsible to such authority for an accounting of money sent him for use in political campaigns. A senate committee accepted his refusal to submit his accounts. Another has been authorized to make another attempt to discover what he did with certain specific contributions to his campaign fund. The bishop has had the upper hand to date, and the deference shown him by inquisitors who had a reputation for their rough treatment of other citizens was hardly persecution.

Bishop Cannon has carried a moralistic code into government, seeking to force conformity by mixing religion and politics. He has exercised control over public authority and has asserted his immunity from laws which govern other men in political action. He has exposed himself to examination and inquiry which would not have been required if his action had been within the church and not in politics. The complaint of persecution is to prevent a satisfactory clearing up of the bishop's political affairs.

THE TRICKY KING.

Alfonso seemed to yield to the Spanish republicans and then called out the army. The Whig noblemen, Spanish equivalents in their day of Warwick, Saye and Sele and Fairfax, had one night the promise of his signature to their program of reforms. He was to call a constitutional convention and retire from the scene until his status and the future form of government had been decided. The next morning the army was in the streets.

The revolutionists now see that they should have commanded and not have advised. They were tricked out of their position. They did not move to accomplish their own program in their own way, trusting that the king's word was good and his character dependable. The revolutionary organization remained quiet. The monarchical forces got the jump.

Alfonso was true to kingly form and to the tradition that a king's word to the people is valueless if to make it good deprives him of a prerogative to give them a liberty. The record is uniform, applying to Tudors, Stuarts, and Hanoverians as to Bourbons and Hapsburgs, Hohenzollerns and Romanoffs, and to the lesser royal breeds. Liberties have been sustained with kings in exile, but not with kings in palaces. Charles I., even when defeated, would not keep faith. He was dependable when he was dead. James II. was truthworthy only when he threatened constitutional government, not when he pledged himself to its support. Before the bill of rights could be made secure he had to be driven out. George III. had to lose the greatest British colonies before Englishmen's rights at home were fully safe again.

The czar proved the worthlessness of his promises in dealing with the early conservative Russian constitutional reforms. Carol of Rumania sustained the royal tradition. George IV. of Great Britain had proved that in being the most accomplished blackguard in Europe there were natural advantages in the institution of monarchy.

The Spanish revolutionists have learned the old lesson again. They have been tricked by privileged perfidy, but that is probably temporary. They may have the last word, and now it may be a harsher one.

M. V. L. SUGGESTIONS.

Accompanying its recommendation for the aldermanic primaries, the Municipal Voters' league makes several suggestions for improving present conditions. Even in the midst of the din of the mayoralty contest these suggestions should be given consideration.

The report recommends reduction in the number of wards and redistricting. The first would make the council a smaller body and therefore, it is argued, a more efficient and responsible agency. The second would equalize representation in the city and correct the very grave evils arising from the control of wards having small populations amenable to corrupt manipulation, yet possessing in the council voting power equal to large wards having a much higher level of citizenship and intelligence.

The recommendation for a four year term for aldermen with elections in a different year from the mayor seems to us advisable, and also the requirement of a reasonable cash deposit from each aldermanic entry to be forfeited if the candidate does not poll 10 per cent of the ward vote. This would discourage irresponsible entries and the putting up of several candidates for the purpose of dividing the vote and thus insuring the election of a candidate of a pay roll machine. Bogus candidacies should be penalized by some means, this or a better if a better can be found.

The recommendation for a limit on election expenditures is acceptable provided the expenditure permitted takes into account the unpaid work of public job holders and also the expense of legitimate publicity for informing voters. A good deal of the protest against campaign expenditure ignores both of these considerations and would defeat its own ends. It is especially important that candidates opposing officials and political organizations which command the services of job holders should be free to spend money legitimately to offset this advantage. It is not equity or public policy to put them under the same limit of expenditure. A machine in office already has too great advantage.

The league points out that the council of late has been weak and incompetent and that "the lack of leadership has been made more perilous because the mayor, through frequent and prolonged absences from the city and through almost total inattention to his duties, has abdicated his executive functions." We are not certain that the situation would not have been worse if Big Bill had favored us with more of his attention, but certainly the results visited upon this unfortunate town by a worse than incompetent mayor and a demoralized council have been deplorable. Our public affairs have drifted from bad to worse. If enough of our citizens know what has happened to them and why, we shall have a house cleaning and better days to come.

Editorial of the Day

THAT BERNADOTTE BLOOD.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

King Gustavus V. of Sweden is very much put out because his grandson, Prince Gustavus Lennert, is going to marry a commoner. Yes, a commoner, albeit a nice, handsome girl, and the daughter of a millionaire of the very highest respectability.

Well, let us consider King Gustavus V., who is angry, rather than Prince Gustavus Lennert, who is happy.

Gustavus V. is the son of King Oscar II., who was an excellent king. King Oscar II. was grandson of a Frenchman named Bernadotte.

The father of this Bernadotte is said to have been a very humble French innkeeper. The son became a soldier and rose to the rank of marshal in Napoleon's armies.

At about the time when Marshal Bernadotte was going strong the Swedes were ruled by a king named Charles XIII. His health was poor, he was without children or traceable relations. The Swedish parliament adopted as heir to the Swedish throne the Frenchman Bernadotte who could not speak a word of Swedish. He came to the throne as Charles XIV. in 1818. So the present King Gustavus V. is the great-grandson of a French commoner who was himself the son of an innkeeper.

VITAMIN B.

PEOPLE who feel they need foods reasonably rich in vitamin B complex are finding some difficulty in purchasing what they want in grocery stores. Wheat and rye, the berries, or grain, can generally be found either in grocery or feed stores. Farmers can get them out of the bin, and merchants in small towns can easily get these grains.

Gov. McKilvie is said to have supplied Mr. Coolidge with the recipe for a vitamin B food composed of these grains, of which the then President was very fond. The recipe is as follows: A mixture of 2 parts wheat berries and 1 part rye berries is made. The chaff must be removed along with the dust and straw. These grains are put in a double boiler with water and enough salt to flavor and cooked until the kernels burst. This generally requires four to five hours. The name of the dish is Coolidge porridge. It can be flavored with salt, sugar, butter, milk or cream, or mixtures, as preferred. Since the period of cooking is prolonged, enough for several days can be boiled and the excess put away in the icebox. Enough for one meal is removed from the refrigerator, warmed, seasoned, and served. Souring does not take place for several days, and until it does the dish is wholesome as well as palatable.

Whole grain berries contain the germ and some of the bran. Therefore, the mixture is rich in phosphates, lime, and other minerals. The vitamin for which wheat and rye germ is eaten now goes by the name vitamin B complex. A diet rich in this vitamin protects against pellagra, beriberi, and various neuralgic pains. It is of some service in overcoming constipation. It promotes growth. It is greatly needed by people of childbearing age and by young babies. In one babies' hospital they give very young babies a milk mixture in which wheat germ has been suspended.

In addition, the Coolidge porridge is rich in calories. It is an economical food. Let me assure mothers that there is no evidence that it causes any one to be backward in talking.

TREATING GAS VICTIMS.

Mrs. C. P. writes: What can be done for a person who has been gassed? Can he take medicine that will heal the lungs and stop coughing?

REPLY.

It has been proved that there are no long continued aftereffects of having been gassed. On the other hand, having been gassed does not prevent a person from being infected with tubercle bacilli, causing consumption, nor with those bacteria which cause bronchitis.

W. H. D. writes: I have gone without a hat for more than a year, through rain and snow storms and hot and mild weather. I am a boy 19 years old, strong and healthy, except for a head cold I always seem to have.

1. Is it dangerous or unhealthful to go without a hat?
2. Is it possible that I have head colds as a result of going without a hat?
3. Do you advise one to wear a hat? I detest hats and caps.

REPLY.

1. As a rule, I don't think it makes any difference.
2. That may be the cause. I do not know.
3. I do. It is a good rule not to run away from anything you detest. On the contrary, it is a good rule to head into the things you detest.

TOO MUCH TREATMENT HARMFUL.

R. R. writes:

2. Is too much treatment harmful?

REPLY.

1. I don't think so.
2. X-ray treatments may do harm.

PAWNBROKERS' INTEREST.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. I wonder if you would tell me the rate of interest that can be charged a person for a loan on jewelry. 2. Is it legal to charge 10 per cent per month? R. S.

1. Pawnbrokers are limited to 3 per cent per month.
2. Not, it is not.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR POLICEMEN.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—[Friend of the People.]—Kindly inform me what procedure is necessary to have one's name entered on the list of applicants on the Chicago police force. Also what are the requirements as to age, height, and weight? D. C. S.

Positions in the department of police of the city of Chicago are filled from eligible lists resulting from examinations which are held from time to time by the civil service commission. Applicants for positions in the department of police must meet the following requirements: Must be citizen of the United States; must have resided in the city of Chicago for at least one year immediately preceding date of examination; must pass physical, medical, and educational test; must be not less than 23 nor more than 31 years of age; not less than 5 feet 8 inches in height; weight according to the following table:

5 ft. 8 in.	140 lbs.	185 lbs.
5 ft. 9 in.	145 lbs.	190 lbs.
5 ft. 10 in.	150 lbs.	195 lbs.
6 ft.	160 lbs.	210 lbs.
6 ft. 1 in.	165 lbs.	215 lbs.
6 ft. 2 in.	170 lbs.	225 lbs.
6 ft. 3 in.	175 lbs.	230 lbs.
6 ft. 4 in.	180 lbs.	235 lbs.
6 ft. 5 in.	185 lbs.	235 lbs.
6 ft. 6 in.	190 lbs.	235 lbs.

Failure to conform to these schedules shall cause rejection. Applicant must have a chest expansion of not less than 3 inches. If you meet these requirements, file your name with the civil service commission, room 610, city hall, and you will be advised when the next examination is to be held.

JOHN H. ALCOCK,
Acting Commissioner of Police.

JOINT OWNERSHIP.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—If both parties sign a mortgage and one of the parties receives the money and refuses to tell the other how he invested the money, can the second party withdraw his signature from the mortgage? J. V. S.

No. If the dissatisfied party had an ownership interest in the property, we would advise him to employ an attorney to see that his rights are recognized.

USEFUL CALISTHENICS.

There's all sorts of physical calisthenics prescribed to make us strong and healthy. But we ought to adopt the sort that we find is best for us in these days. Here is a good exercise that we ought to go through every morning with the assistance of the phonograph. It will add to longevity and health and keep us out of the hospital and the morgue. Maybe.

EXERCISE 1.

(1) Stand upright, feet close together, arms hanging loose at the side. Head up, chin up. (2) Repeat aloud, "Hands up!" or "Stick 'em up!" Or something similar. (3) Now raise the hands as high above the head as possible. Do this very quickly. Or even quicker than that. And hold them there. There are two great essentials in this exercise. First, to get the hands up quickly; and, second, to hold them up as long as possible. Severe illnesses have been caused by the inability to keep the hands high enough or long enough in the air. During these illnesses the doctors frequently find large hunks of lead imbedded here and there in the patient.

EXERCISE 2.

EXERCISE 3.

Assume standing position, heels together, arms at side, body relaxed, head held high. This is really a most important exercise for those residing in Chicago and should be practiced in front of the mirror every morning. (1) Drop the head quickly to the front, carrying the shoulders also well forward. (2) Keep the head well down for several seconds, and then (3) raise it enough to give a swift peek around. (4) Raise the head and assume the natural standing position.

Let it be borne in mind that this exercise should be performed with great quickness. The object of it is to be able to get the head down and out of the way of flying missiles, such as bullets from a hi-jacker battle in the streets, from guns in the eager hands of fleeing bandits, or from fireworks discharged by holdup men. The velocity of hunks of hardware fired from machine guns, sawed-off shotguns, or mere revolvers is quite high, and therefore this exercise must be executed with great swiftness, and in time automatically. That is, you should be able to execute it as naturally as you would in putting a cigar or cigarette to your lips in smoking; in other words, without thinking or deliberately planning the action. In removing the head from the space towards which a bullet is traveling there is really very little time for calm reflection or a premeditated decision.

FOR AN OLD MAN JUST DEAD.

No age-dictated life would you accept—
The fingers curved—the labored breath were naught;
You would not like to think that I had wept
When news of your reluctant sleep was brought.

Instead I tell you I shall not forget
Your toast to age, drunk in forbidden wine,
Your smoking of a furtive cigarette,
Your matching of a better wit with mine.

And so the race is over now, my friend,
And you have spent a final, wistful breath.
God grant, when I approach the common end,
I, too, may gently scoff at certain Death.

HELEN GILLER.

WE HASTEN to apologize to Mussolini. Smedley Butler made a banquet speech in South Bend the other night. He didn't say anything about Il Duce, but we apologize anyhow. Safety first. South Bend is in Indiana. We apologize that South Bend is in Indiana. This is nowise a reflection on Indiana, as we admire that state immensely, but we feel that an apology must be based on something or other, and that's all we can think of right now. Mr. Mussolini, we apologize.

PROTECTION for speakeasies in New York costs twenty million dollars a year. Which is probably paid—oh, naturally so, by those who own the speakeasies. But would they pay all that money out unless they were getting it back? Very probably not. Then somebody must be buying and drinking alcoholic liquor in New York. But the buying and drinking of alcoholic liquor in the United States is forbidden by the 18th amendment to the constitution, the Volstead act, and the Jones 5 & 10 law. And New York is a part of the United States. So that's out. Then, where does that twenty million dollars come from? It is really a most interesting question.

Words do not blossom lightly on my mouth,
But in a troubled autumn mood they slant
Leaf-like, along a wind
Fall spent.

Floats tangent to another mirrored leaf,
So my words shadow forth my body's grief.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 19, 1915.

PARIS.—The ministry of war reports important gains by the allies at many points along the western battle front. Attempted German counter attacks have been repulsed at Roincourt; in Champagne, in the region of Souain; Perthes and Beausejour, and on the heights of the Meuse, in the vicinity of Eparges. In Lorraine, in the region of Xon, the allies delivered an attack which enabled them to recapture the village of Norroy and occupy the whole position.

PETROGRAD.—The German advance from East Prussia on the towns of Kovno and Grodno appears designed to cut the railroad communications to Warsaw, the capital of Russian Poland, rather than an effort to take the Russian fortified positions in that territory. Along the line from Plock to Niemen, which is a little short of 200 miles in length, there has been intermittent fighting. From all the towns in this district, the most populous of the empire, the civil population is fleeing. The Russians taken prisoner by the Germans in East Prussia and northern Poland now amount to 64,000 men.

FEBRUARY 19, 1901.

CHICAGO.—James A. Patten, alderman of Evanston for pastime and speculator on the Board of Trade for profit—or sometimes for loss—became richer yesterday by $60,000 to $100,000 as the result of a successful six weeks' campaign in May corn. The figures given are the inside and outside estimates of the expert guessers of the corn pit. Mr. Patten started buying the May future at 37⅞ cents a bushel. Yesterday he started to sell at 41⅝ cents and when the market closed at 40⅜ cents he had disposed of 4,000,000 bushels.

CHICAGO.—After remaining for 34 years one of the landmarks and sights of Chicago, the old shot tower at the southwest corner of Clinton and Fulton streets is to be torn down. Little or no shot has been made in the old structure for several years. The tower was built in 1867 and is 195 feet high. The shot was made from molten lead and dropped from the top of the tower into water at the bottom, the ball formation being obtained in the falling.

FEBRUARY 19, 1881.

MEXICO CITY.—Seven American prisoners confined in jail at Paso del Norte, Mexico, attempted to escape across the American line. They shot one of the guards dead and were on the run when they were overtaken. A fierce fight ensued, during which three of the prisoners were killed and two of the guards seriously wounded. The four surviving prisoners surrendered.

LONDON.—Women and children will not be exempt from the operation of the Irish coercion act, a motion exempting them having been rejected in the house of commons last night by a vote of 230 to 49.

BOSTON.—A civil service association was organized in this city. Among the vice presidents are Charles Francis Adams Jr., John M. Forbes, George William Bond, Senator Hoar, President Seelye of Amherst college, the Rev. James Freeman Clarke, Henry P. Kidder, and Martin Brimmer. The association will advocate that the work of the government be conducted on business principles; that competent employés shall be retained in office during good behavior; that office shall not be used to reward political "workers," and the noninterference of congressmen and senators in the matter of patronage.

LONDON.—A dispatch from Berlin says: "In consequence of Russia's advance on Herat by the river and valley, Ayoob Khan has declared war against the ameer and has already occupied Maimund." A Calcutta dispatch says: "The envoy from the ameer of Afghanistan has arrived at Peshawar en route to Calcutta on a mission to the Indian government.

LOAFING ON THE JOB.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—It is not hard to understand why the city water department shows a substantial loss year after year if the spectacle which many of us have to witness day after day is representative of how this branch of city government functions. On Clinton and Monroe streets diggings have been going on for some weeks for the laying of water pipes. There is no real supervision; men idling everywhere; several would-be bosses with little or nothing to do; a general indifference to any responsibility. The attitude seems to be to make the job last just as long as they can get away with it.

ANOTHER TAXPAYER.

DOWN SOUTH AGAIN.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—My train stopped last week at a peaceful Louisiana station of the Illinois Central railway. A big Negro and his little wife, six children, and a lot of bundles were set down on the platform. The sun was bright and the pepper trees gave off a delightful scent. There were bales of cotton and mules hitched to high wheeled carts. A sleepy white man sat on one of the bales.

"Mass George," said the big Negro, "Mass George! God, it's Mass George!"

"Gawd," said the sleepy man, "if it ain't Henry; and Mandy, too, and Mary and Joe and Sue, and damn if I know the other two. Was they born in Chicago?

"They sure was, Mass George."

"Bad, Mass George, very bad."

"Has yo' got all dem damn fool Yankee notions out of yo' pore haid, Henry?"

"I sho' has, sir!"

"Is you hungry, you and yo' fambly?"

"We is, Mass George. Half the colored people on de souf side of Chicago is hongray. An angel gave me a ticket back home."

"Well," said the sleepy man, "I reckon you all got to have some breakfast and I gotta dig up a cabin, a couple mules and some chickens on account of your gran'dad."

"All aboard," said the conductor, and we missed the rest of it.

THE FARMERS' FRIENDS.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—If, twenty years ago, the members of the Chicago Board of Trade had had the brains and the backbone to have taught the farmers and others the one fundamental law of economics that never changes, they would be sitting pretty today.

The law is: The more speculation there is in a commodity the higher the average price will be over any given period of time.

If the farmers should awaken tomorrow with complete knowledge and conviction of the billions of dollars they have lost in the last twenty years through the curbing of speculation by operation of the asinine laws enacted by their self-appointed, irresponsible friends, the Caraways, Cappers, and Tinchers, the Norbecks, the Nyes, and the Norrises, the Brookharts and La Follettes would need to take to the woods to escape the vengeance of their victims. M. HENDERSON.

SENATOR BARR'S PLATFORM.

Elmhurst, Ill., Feb. 7.—In your editorial of Feb. 5, 1931, you gently chide Senator Barr for his stand on unequal representation and you wonder if the voters of Du Page county imagine the senator is working for their best interests when he refuses to even vote on a redistricting proposition until he learns how the members of the assembly from Cook county will vote on the proposed repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

It is not recalled that you were alarmed about Senator Barr last summer when your opposition would have meant something. You knew Senator Barr then as well as you do now. You knew that he voted dry; that he refused to reply to any part of your prohibition questionnaire; that he refused to define his stand on reapportionment, and even overlooked your repeated demand that he should go on record regarding the Chicago Motor club highway program.

Several thousand Du Page county Republicans look to THE TRIBUNE for advice on nearly everything and particularly on advice on national and state candidates. Had you waged a vigorous campaign last fall against Mr. Barr and in favor of his opponent, Mr. Barr would have been defeated and unable to damage the state further by his pernicious activities.

His able and distinguished Democratic opponent, Irwin M. Howe of Downers Grove, subscribed to all your policies. When you support certain principles and at the same time a man who is opposed to those principles, your political helping mystifies those who would attempt to follow the workings of the editorial mind. ELMER P. SCHAEFER,
Secretary, Du Page County Democratic Central committee.

FOR ARKANSAS CHILDREN.

Helena, Ark., Feb. 12.—We thank you very much for your response to our pleas. The appeal you made in your paper has been answered far and wide with both large and small contributions to our school lunch fund. By this generous response we have been enabled to feed all the children in our county who need it. A hot noonday lunch is provided.

The Red Cross is doing all in its power and we do not wish to cast a single reflection on them, but there is a very large task to feed 28,000 people in this county, besides the many other people that they help, and it is possible for them to give only a scant allowance. They are doing their work valiantly and we deeply appreciate it. Our work is only to supplement theirs. The attendance in school has increased and the children have also steadily gained in their studies since we have been feeding them.

SMOKING CARS FOR SMOKERS.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—The Voice of the People today carries a protest against women and other nonsmokers occupying seats in Illinois Central suburban smoking cars to the exclusion of the smokers. We have placed in smoking cars of our suburban trains a placard reading, "This car is for smokers. Will nonsmokers please use other cars?"

THE LONG LOOP

BY B. M. BOWER

SYNOPSIS.

Dixon Larrabee, head of Whistling Creek ranch, was swindled in an oil well frameup by Owen Gray, neighboring rancher and banker. Dix, an orphan, keeps from his grandmother and his young brother, Chuck, the true state of affairs. Gram has her heart set on seeing Chuck a doctor. His indulgent older brother has a hard task paying for his college tuition and material demands.

Mart McGuire shows Dix how to change the O T brand of Gray's cattle to his own Coffeepot brand.

Tom, an Indian helper, discovers a lost valley with a geyser on the Coffeepot ranch, with a passage to it through what is seemingly a blank cliff wall. It is an ideal hideout for cattle.

With vague misgivings Dix begins rustling from Gray's herd, hiding the stolen cattle in Lost valley. Dix's profits mounted steadily after every shipping.

Chuck and a flyer friend named Frosty arrive at the ranch. Chuck confesses to Dix that he has given up a medical career for aviation. He and Frosty plan to build secretly a competitive plane for a prize. A shed built against the crevice, hiding the entrance to Lost valley, seems to them just the place for their work.

Owen Gray's aunt and cousin, Helen, visit the O T ranch. Helen knew Chuck in Baltimore. From what Owen tells her, Helen guesses the true situation involving Dix. Helen and her friend, Josephine Parker, call on Larry—their nickname for Chuck. When she meets Dix it's a case of love at first sight, but Dix believes she is Chuck's girl and avoids her. The girls become frequent visitors at the ranch. Helen probes through Dix's desk and learns a lot about his private business.

Chuck and Frosty buy a plane, which they use for commercial flying to earn money. Chuck complains about cattle being in the shed and trampling on the new airplane's wing. One day they hear a cow bellowing and are unable to discover where the sound comes from. They have a hunt for the cow ghost.

INSTALLMENT XXVIII.

A SECRET FLIGHT.

"Well, Larry and I are going to hop off in the Blue Robin," Helen announced. "This is our day and we're going to use it."

"Whither away?" Dix inquired, his voice studiedly careless.

"O," chirped Helen, "just flyin' around free as a bird and singin' as we fly—just like the cuckoo in the old song. You know:

"The cuckoo is a pretty bird, he sings as he flies;
He brings me glad tidings, and he nev-er tells lies!"

Just like that."

Dix felt exactly as if she had slapped him in the face, but he grinned.

"I always maintained you two would go cuckoo, give you time," drawled Frosty. "Well, don't light anywhere where some nosey guy may ask to see Larry's pilot license, 'cause he hasn't got one yet."

"But, children, I've got the know-how that goes with it," Chuck boasted. "I don't need any card to say I can fly."

"Put up a lunch, Minny," called Helen. "The Robin hops off the perch right soon now."

"If you happen to land in Graypoint——" Frosty began, but Chuck shook his head.

"This is going to be a nonstop flight, according to Helen. She may have the route charted, but if she has it won't include Graypoint. We can see that part on the prairie any old day."

"Something's gone wrong, Frosty. I know it."

"We're going to explore—make maps and history and the like of that," said Helen.

"Explore what?" asked Dix, suddenly on guard.

"You'd be surprised!" Helen answered him; which was less than no answer at all.

"I bet they're going to elope!" Jo guessed. "Wouldn't that be just too precious for words?"

"We aren't going to take any steps, Gram. We're going to take wing." Chuck reached out and caught her hand as it lay on the table. "Don't you worry about us."

The group rose and scattered. Within half an hour Dix was standing down by the corral watching the Blue Robin as it took the air and spiraled up and up into the clear, cloudless sky, then banked and went humming away down the valley to the south.

"Bet they flaw to Denver," said Frosty that night at sundown when no Blue Robin came thrumming in out of the distance. "Not a thing in the world to worry about, folks. Larry can fly that ship as well as I can."

Dix knew that was a lie born of loyalty, but he did not say anything to avoid the effect of it. His eyes ached with the strain of staring all day into the sky's four quarters, searching for the rigid black speck that would not be a sailing buzzard but an airplane headed straight for Whistling Creek. He saw white clouds drifting lazily from shore to shore of that limitless blue sea, and he saw later how they herded together and sent out scudding skirrish lines into the wind. He saw the thin edges of the slaty bank whipped ragged, saw the thunder heads pile and huddle.

"Has Chuck had any experience flying in a storm?" he asked Frosty when the sun went deep into the storm clouds. "It sure looks to me like there's plenty of cross currents up there, the way the clouds are acting. They're going three different ways that I can see from here. Of course I don't know a darn thing about flying, but ain't that kind of a sky kinda hard on a fellow that's bucking it?"

"Bucking is a darn good word, Dix," Frosty confessed. "Rough as the devil, but Larry went off the other way, and it's clear over in that direction. He can handle the Robin all right; don't you worry about that. We'll light a couple of fires so he can see to come down, and he'll make it okay."

So they had Tom haul two jags of dry wood over to the landing field, and from dusk until dawn a little fire leaped into the wind at each end of the landing. Frosty tended one, Dix the other, with Tom and Mart keeping the two supplied with fuel.

The stars were out—Dix was glad of that. And though it seemed to him the wind was pretty strong for safe flying, Frosty told him over and over that the weather was okay and they couldn't ask for better.

"Larry set her down in some town close by," Frosty made a guess at midnight. "I don't look for 'em now till tomorrow, though, of course, we'll have to keep the fires going just on the chance they might come. Larry's a cheeky kid, but he's okay at that. He's had away more hours at the stick than are required for a pilot's license, you know. That trip over from St. Louis sure piled them up for him. I let Larry pilot her most of the way, and I'm a qualified instructor, you know, Dix. I sure have taught Larry all I can. Some things you can't pass on, any more than you can in riding broncs. A man just has to get it himself—the feel of his ship. You can't teach that. It's got to come."

"He'd oughta said he was going to stay out like this," Dix censured the absent one. "He'd no business to go off and not say a word about staying over night."

"Helen was running this show. She had something on her mind—didn't you notice that?"

Dix twitched his shoulders in reasonless resentment. Since breakfast that morning he had been trying to guess what it was that Helen had back of her eyes when she looked at him so straight and so long. Something more than a pleasure jaunt in an airplane, he knew that. His brain ached with trying to think and trying harder not to think. And then Frosty jabbed straight to the quick.

"S'pose there's anything to what Jo thinks—that they went off to get married?"

Dix got up and kicked a brand into the blaze, sending up a fountain of sparks.

"Might be," he said evenly when he sat down again. "But that don't let Chuck out a damn bit. He coulda told you or me what his plans were." He threw into the flames a cigaret on which he had taken no more than three pulls, and he was not even conscious of having lighted one. "Something's gone wrong, Frosty, I know it."

"Why?"

"Why? I can't tell you that. I don't know why, but I know it just the same. I've known it ever since this afternoon."

Frosty did not say anything, but presently went back to his own end of the field and his own fire. He was not feeling so easy in his own mind, but there was no use in saying so.

At daylight the fires burned a sickly red and were left to die untended. No use now—Chuck could see his way home without any help, for the sky was clear and the sun not too warm, with a steady breeze from out the west.

"They won't be home much before noon," said Frosty with unyielding optimism. "They've stayed over night at some town."

"I simply know they're married," Jo maintained. "I'm just too thrilled for words. To steal an airplane and go off on a honeymoon without a word to anybody is the keenest stunt ever. I knew Helen had something enormously important on her mind lately—well, ever since we found you boys were here, for that matter. Positively she hasn't been the same girl. She's been moody and silent and all the cagy symptoms of being wildly in love, and it's really been as much as a poor girl's life was worth to be with her day after day. Now she's married I hope she'll come back to normal."

Good Morning!

I thought I had gone all blasé over screen musical shows—but I haven't! I loved "The New Moon," and am, personally, grateful to the producers for filming the stage show; which I didn't see.

The presence and the singing of the operatic stars, Grace Moore and Lawrence Tibbett, are, unquestionably, the picture's greatest assets. Their voices are delightful, as you know, and they bring to the rôles they play the poise and experience that only come from stage training. Mr. Tibbett ingratiates himself with you immediately. Miss Moore is, in every way, quite one of the loveliest creatures who ever stepped into shadowland. She is patrician to her fingertips and plays the princess of this story in the truly grand manner. I can't imagine Evelyn Herbert and Robert Halliday, who were featured in the original production, giving better performances than these two. The story is said to have been somewhat changed in transition from stage to screen, but the best of the music has been retained. When Mr. Tibbett and Miss Moore sing "Lover Come Back to Me" you'd rather be right there in the Roosevelt theater than anywhere else in town.

The narrative's locale is Russia and it sings of the romantic love affairs between a lieutenant in the Russian army and a princess. The two meet and fall in love aboard a boat—"The New Moon"—bound for the territory of the governor, to whom the princess is affianced. She has not told the lieutenant of her engagement. When he discovers it, the light goes all out of his little eyes and he loses faith in women.

The ship arrived, Gov. Brusiloff gives a ball for his fiancée. Lieut. Petroff, maddened by the fair one's deception, attends, acts up something terrible and is assigned by the governor to—command an outpost in the wilds—a garrison whose soldiers are famous for murdering their superior officers. . . .

Here he is followed by the Princess Tanya, who comes to horsewhip and remains to—well, you'll see.

The last reel is thrilling, touching and humorous and alive with music that you're crazy for.

Roland Young, Adolphe Menjou, and Emily Fitzroy, in minor rôles, contribute sparkling support. Ensembles are beautifully handled and mob scenes and singing are stirring events in the film's course. Direction is excellent and photography and sound are splendid.

If you enjoy music you'll enjoy "The New Moon," and if you don't enjoy music why, well—just see it anyway.

Manila Stops Work to Greet Doug Fairbanks

A crowd estimated at 8,000 persons jammed the pier, while another huge throng lined the streets outside.

Members of the crowd carried him to a waiting automobile, almost a quarter of a mile away, and put him on top of it rather than inside, so the waiting "fans" could better see him.

Fairbanks is en route to Siam. There he will hunt and photograph big game.

HERE'S TAILORS' IDEAL MAN, MODEL OF 1931, HAS GOOD MANNERS

Height, 5 feet 8 inches; weight, 138 to 140 pounds; waist, 30 to 31 inches; hips, 37 inches; arms [sleeve], 18 inches; legs, 32 inches. He has poise, is well mannered, observes the niceties of public conduct; speaks intelligently, acts like a gentleman.

Reward for fitting these standards: He, or they, will be allowed to model the advance summer and fall fashions for the Clothing Designers Executives' association Feb. 27 and 28.

MOVIE CLOSEUP

F. W. MacLennan Wins Medal as Copper Expert

New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Southwest mining achieved a national distinction tonight when the annual Saunders medal of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers was presented to Francis W. MacLennan, general manager of the Miami Copper company, Miami, Ariz. The medal is presented each year for distinguished achievement in mining. It was awarded two years ago to President Hoover. Mr. MacLennan won it for his services to the copper mining industry in perfecting a process for refining low grade copper ores.

Preacher Takes Streets of City for His Pulpit

Rector's Marriage Views Clash with Bishop's.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—This city is to have a minister-at-large. The streets and avenues will be his pulpit and those who pass will be his congregation. In the winter he may be recognized by his always uncovered snowy locks and the white flower in his button hole. In the summer the most unregenerate sinner will know him, for the Rev. Eliot White, just dropped from the staff of Grace Episcopal church during a dispute with Bishop William T. Manning over conflicting views on companionate marriage, will wear "shorts." He said so himself today.

The Rev. Mr. White does not intend to leave the Episcopal church. He will continue to consider himself a "minister in good standing" and if he ever should be "officially put out of the church" he will go out fighting.

"Perhaps I can do a little to break down the cold indifference of New York," said the priest without a parish in his midtown home this afternoon.

"The way we live walking the streets and not speaking to one another is against my religion. We are all brothers and sisters, but we don't act like it. Perhaps I won't have a real 'pulpit,' but preaching is better done by smiles and fellowship than by theological dogmas. The church is freezing to death for the lack of real friendship, fraternity and love. I love all people, but I will not approach persons on the street whom I might affront. If I see the glint of a smile on any face, I'll reciprocate and express my goodwill."

The pink cheeked, white haired rector who stepped into trouble with the powers of his church when he championed former Judge Ben Lindsey in the little Denver man's companionate marriage row with Bishop Manning, doesn't quite know how he is going to make a living but he will not have to worry for a time for the vestry of Grace church voted him his salary for the next six months before he was barred from its pulpit.

"It has never occurred to me," said the Rev. Mr. White, "to question the creeds of my church. All that I have been doing is to point out the need for clean, honest divorce and to help people in marriage relations and do a little to stop the murder of mothers.

"My conception of marriage is something more human than simple 'wedlock.' That word conveys the idea of putting two people in a cage and slamming a steel door that only death can break. Companionate marriage is only the initial stage of wedded life wherein no children are born and where young parents postpone the advent of children until their economic condition is such as to justify them. When children are born, the marriage then enters its second or procreative stage."

Regarding his determination to wear "shorts" next summer when he becomes a circuit walking minister, the Rev. Mr. White hopes to convince the butcher, the baker, the banker, the candlestick maker and even other clergymen that "shorts" are much more comfortable than the conventional trousers.

Such was the Rev. Mr. White's polite defiance today toward the Episcopal powers and meanwhile he is seeking three clergymen to sign a presentment against him on which he may demand a church trial.

THE STAGE

"THE NINTH GUEST," a melodrama that tells the story of a mysterious murder committed while a roomful of people are having a merry party, will begin an engagement at the Adelphi theater March 9. It was written by Owen Davis, the veteran playwright, whose list of titles runs well over a hundred, and is based on a story by Gwen Bristow and Bruce Manning. This play had a run of nine weeks on Broadway last fall. . . . All of which means that "Sour Grapes" is in the last phase of its tenancy of the Adelphi, and that Eugene O'Brien and Edna Hibbard haven't had much luck with their co-starring venture.

Mary Hone of the Chicago Civic Shakespeare company has been added to the cast of George C. Tyler's "all star" revival of Barrie's "The Admirable Crichton," which will have Walter Hampden in the rôle formerly acted by William Gillette. The production will begin a Broadway engagement at the New Amsterdam theater March 9.

The cast for Rachel Crothers' new play, "As Husbands Go," will contain Roman Bohnen, formerly prominent in the Goodman company. Following his flair for "character," young Mr. Bohnen will appear as a monocled old gentleman of 60. Others in the company are Catherine Calhoun Doucet, Lily Cahill, Jay Fassett, and Geoffrey Wardwell. The play will have a New York première early in March.

"The Adding Machine," by Elmer Rice, author of "Street Scene," will be staged by the Goodman repertory company Tuesday evening, March 10, as the seventh production of its season. This drama, a treatment of American city life in "expressionistic" form, was produced by the Theater Guild about five years ago.

Marika Cotopouli, the actress-manager from Athens who recently gave two performances in modern Greek at the Studebaker theater, will appear at the Civic Opera house next Sunday night. She will offer "Erotokritos," a Greek epic poem of the seventeenth century, as dramatized by George Sinadinos. The performance will include songs and dances of Byzantine origin.

Guy Bates Post's return to the stage in "A Lady in Pawn" will begin in Grand Rapids, Mich., March 6, according to present plans. A Chicago engagement may follow. Ralph T. Kettering, manager of the Adelphi theater, is sponsoring this production. He also helped Henry Rosendale write the play.

"Three Little Girls" will reach the 200th performance of its run at the Great Northern theater next Saturday afternoon. This operetta has already broken the Chicago long run records of the last three years, and is steadily cutting down the lead of "The Vagabond King," which occupied the Great Northern for thirty-two weeks four years ago.

William Hodge is ready to announce the last call for "The Old Rascal" at the Garrick theater. The run will end Feb. 28 with a record of fifteen weeks—the season's second best. C. C.

CLAIMS PROOF THAT EGYPTIANS, CHINESE FOUND SO. AMERICA

[Copyright: 1931: by the New York Times.]

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Feb. 18.—The disclosure of secrets of the earliest civilization in South America is promised soon. Dr. Rafael Requena, president of the state of Araqua in Venezuela, will publish results of his life study trying to present conclusive evidence of the existence of an ancient Egyptian civilization in Venezuela.

Dr. Requena has at Maracay, capital of Araqua, a remarkable private museum attached to his house.

"I firmly believe in the ancient existence of Atlantis," Dr. Requena said. "When Atlantis was submerged, the survivors, originally Egyptians, found their way here. I have indubitable proof which will startle the scientific world. I intend to write a Spanish treatise and translate it into French and hope to publish it this year. Years after the Egyptians came there was an invasion of Chinese colonists from across the Pacific."

The legend of the lost continent of Atlantis has been the subject of speculation among savants from the time of Plato to the present day.

Norse Skipper Sails Around So. Polar Land

Finds Charts Mistaken; Opens New Whaling.

New York, Feb. 18.—[Special.]—The first circumnavigation of the icebound continent lying around the south pole was announced today by the American Geographical Society of New York, following receipt of a radiogram from Lars Christensen of Sandefjord, Norway.

Christensen, who has just returned to Europe from Antarctica in his motorship Thorshawn, also gave further detail of the discovery of unexpected land barriers in the south pole region.

The most important barriers were discovered by the vessel Norwegia under the command of Major Isachsen, which, starting from Cape Town, Oct. 4, 1930, made a complete circle of the continent by Feb. 7 of this year. The vessel is now under the command of Capt. Riiser-Larsen.

A large ice barrier is reported extending from 63 degrees south and 65 degrees east to 68 degrees south and 71 degrees east and a bank as lying between 68 degrees and 75 degrees east in the scene of operations of both of Sir Douglas Mawson's antarctic expeditions of 1929-'30 and 1930-'31 in the Indian ocean sector of the Antarctic waters.

In his radio the explorer said:

"The expedition has shown that several islands now in the maps, such as the Nimrod island and Dougherty island, do not exist and it has also found new whaling grounds.

"On the whole ice limits in the Bouvet section this year is absolutely 300 miles further south than last year same time. The Norwegia is now at the disposal of Capt. Larsen, who will explore Bouvet section coastwise with two airplanes."

Lent Day by Day

BORROWED LIGHT.

THE INNER SEARCH.

The Rev. Dr. John Thompson.

"Lord is it I?"—Matthew xxvi., 22.

When Jesus announced on that last night that one of his disciples should betray him, he turned the searchlight on them all. Every one of them said, "Can it be I?" He turned their eyes inward. That is the great purpose of the Lenten period. We should be filled with eyes within. It should be a period of searching self-examination. We are challenged to put our hearts and lives under a burning glass.

This requires courage. The will must be gripped with both hands and life held up to the mirror of God's word. There should be a searching appraisal of life's motives, ideals, and objectives. There should be a fearless inspection of our temper and disposition. There should be an uprooting of all bitterness, jealousy, and ill feeling.

Both the best and worst are possible to us all. We are potential angels or devils. We may climb to godlikeness or sink into devilishness. The same soil yielding a crop of offensive weeds may be cultivated to yield fruitful harvest. Under the brooding of the spirit of this Lenten season we may approximate the likeness of Jesus Christ.

PRAYER:

Dear Lord and Father, Thou hast placed us on a planet that lives by borrowed light. So if this Lenten period is to be fully profitable to us we must see life in Thy light. Lighten our darkness, O Lord, lest we sleep the sleep of death.

Gallery Opens with Paintings by Angarola

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

THE opening of a new gallery in Chicago is always something of an event. The opening this afternoon of the Diana Court salon is an event and an occasion. With a beautiful courtesy the first exhibition to be held in the gallery is in honor of a Chicago artist whose sudden death, not very long ago, came as a great shock to his friends and students and meant a distinct loss to contemporary paintings. The gallery is bringing forward the work and worth of Anthony Angarola.

This memorial exhibition of Angarola's paintings and lithographs marks a definite period in Chicago art. Angarola was an advanced painter, an adventurer, a modernist. A great many of his canvases in his lifetime stirred up criticism both favorable and adverse. He was invited to show at the Carnegie, always an honor, and we found him exhibiting in the Chicago Art institute again and again. He was at one time an instructor in the Chicago Art institute school and later taught further west. He wielded a decided influence and was a distinct power.

The exhibition today consists of many and varied paintings. A number of them are among the last he did while on the trip abroad which preceded his death. Some of them are earlier pictures. They possess an infinite charm. Time has softened our attitude toward those things which are not definitely intelligible. Yet the most of these paintings are intelligible. They have beauty of composition and a sense of the values in color to recommend them. We see the wistful little girl against her yellow cushions; we see the yellow houses with snow on their roofs; we see the garden in spring. "Beyond Paris," and we see an infinite variety of landscapes and paintings peopled with gay holiday crowds or lonely as only a deserted French town corner can be.

Tired Business Gal Will Like This Home Made Facial

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

If you have an alluring dinner and theater engagement to which you'd like to bring a nice, fresh face, try the following treatment. If you're a business woman and couldn't make an appointment with your professional for a facial uplift, you can still work this one in between 6 o'clock, your home arriving hour, and the moment of the taxi's arrival.

First, clean your face and neck with a good cleansing oil or cream. Then give the face a good old soap and water treatment, rinsing it off in warm water. Have your clock near and for five round minutes massage your throat and face. Just use an up and out stroke. When you get to the chin and jawline turn the back of the hand on the surface there and pat as well as stroke along this potentially sagging surface.

Go over the forehead with the palm of the hands working in opposite directions from the center. Then, finally, go over the entire face with the finger tips, raining light blows or taps to further stir up the circulation.

Remove the massage cream. Then use an almond meal mixture. Prepare it with three tablespoonfuls of finely powdered almond meal and add sufficient milk to make a smooth paste. With a brush, preferably, or your fingers or a bit of cheesecloth, cover the area from the base of the throat to the hairline on the forehead with the paste. Lie down for fifteen minutes and let the almond mask do its work.

MILD WEATHER OFFERS GOOD CHANCE FOR IMPROVING HOMES

A machinist who has been "walking to the loop and back every day hoping to get a job" wrote to Sally Joy Brown of THE TRIBUNE'S service for the unemployed yesterday in hope that among the many job offers there might be one for him.

"I have been idle four months," wrote R. J. L. "I have a wife and two boys. The boys are in the public schools. I am of German birth and came here at the age of 11. I was married twelve years ago and held responsible positions in the eastern states, but returned here two years ago, as I considered this my home. I can furnish good references. I am not a shirker. I must have work so I can pay my insurance and rent, which is three months in arrears."

Another letter came from Mrs. C. M. who has been out of work since July 3. She said she has an invalid mother to support. She hopes she may secure a job caring for an apartment or renting agency for an apartment building.

Twenty-three years old, C. O. was another who begged Miss Brown for a job. His father, the only one working in the family, has three days' work a week, but there are six children to feed. C. O. says he prefers a job as an assistant for a baker or any form of work in the baking business.

Among the job offers that came to Miss Brown yesterday was one from L. R. on East Jackson boulevard who wanted four men to distribute cards. They are offered 40 cents an hour. Mrs. M. M. on Sheffield avenue called for a man to wash windows at 20 cents a window. J. F. on North Clinton street wanted a mechanic for general work around the house. J. T. on North Clark street has two days' work for a carpenter-electrician. Mrs. L. C. on North Dearborn street has work for a plumber and decorator.

Plea for Cash for Jobless Brings New Appeals for Work

Responses to the home appeal for donations to the $5,000,000 relief fund being collected by the governor's commission on unemployment and relief have proved to be disappointing. Unless an immediate increase is noted resumption of personal solicitation of cash from wealthy individuals and business concerns will be necessary, if the quota is raised.

"The response has been less than one-half of one per cent," Philip R. Clarke, chairman of the fund committee, said last night. "At that almost half the returned envelopes sent out in the home appeal made possible through franked envelopes merely have carried additional requests for aid. This clearly shows the seriousness of the situation. Many haven't the clothes or the car fare to make a personal request.

"Despite the reiterated statement that every cent is for relief, all expenses being carried by prominent business men, many letters are insulting and vituperative. To quell these rumors we are presenting a table of our payments and needs."

About 3,000 responses have been received to almost a million letters sent out. They carried donations of $14,186, which with provisional plus donations of $93,520. They make the present total of the fund $4,895,723—a deficit of $104,277.

In a statement showing the work of the commission, Mr. Clarke said: "Seventy thousand families already have applied for relief and that number is being increased on an average by hundreds of families daily. All told over 300,000 persons are receiving relief. We have given work to 250,000 heads of families and are providing shelter for 10,000 homeless men. Of the money now collected $3,230,503 has been appropriated."

Young Artists Present First Program of Their 1931 Season

Signs of approaching spring began to be evident last night, when the first recital by young Chicago artists was given. Sophie Marver, pianist, and Elaine Rosalie Gerasimos appeared jointly at Kimball hall, each presenting three groups of compositions. Miss Marver, who has quite evidently had sound training, was heard in three movements of Bach's Second English Suite and a more than usually attractive Theme and Variations by Paderewski, in which she gave good individual performances and likewise showed a sense of the differing styles of ancient and modern composition. Miss Gerasimos displayed a light voice of excellent quality and the evidences of an accurate ear, consequently her singing was pleasant. With more drill on vocal technic her performances will be more mature.

A few modifications have appeared in what at first looked like drastic alterations in the personnel of the Chicago Civic Opera company for next season. Mary Garden, who it was first said would not return, is now reported from the east to have come to an agreement with the company on another season's engagement. Rosa Raisa and her husband, Giacomo Rimini, also placed by gossip on the absentee list, likewise signed on the dotted line. Miss Raisa will be here during the second half of the season and on the post-season tour. Mr. Rimini is to appear as Falstaff in a revival of Verdi's like-named opera, a part in which he is immense artistically as well as physically. E. M.

Pinafore Frock Comes Straight from Paris

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Pinafore frocks, reminiscent of dear old golden rule days, have become smart members of Paris couture circles. But while last season they were bedraped and befurbelowed, this season they are tailored and are taking out their femininity in subtle cuts and fittings.

Cheruit makes a sophisticated version of the school girl pinafore frock in the afternoon gown of old gold marocain, sketched here.

Old gold is, as you know, one of Mme. Wormser's favorite shades, as well as one of the smartest colors being forecast for spring and summer.

This frock is cut princess and at first glance it is one of life's mysteries how you get into it. With a little sartorial Sherlock Holmesing, however, a closing is found lurking behind that big bow on the left shoulder and running down the left under arm seam. The bolero back cleverly turns into an irregular yoke in front. The soft roll collar is young. Mitt sleeves emphasize the elbows by peepholes above and below a sort of elbow cuff in Cheruit's characteristic manner. Upper sleeves, lower sleeves, and these middleman cuffs are all attached together inside the arm and then left to their own devices.

The pinafore is figured by two circular panels attached to either side of the frock in front, where they give the effect of a long tunic. Apron strings tie at a high waistline in back, and the back of the skirt is cut in a slenderizing encrusted panel. The only touch of color is a vivid green, ribbed silk lining that stiffens the shoulder bow.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Radio Would Bring Cheer.

"If any of your readers has a radio to give, I should like to ask for it for a blind man who would greatly appreciate it. He has been well educated and speaks several languages, but his blindness has made it impossible for him to continue work. A radio would serve to bring to him the world from which he is now cut off.

"F. Z."

A new life would be opened to this afflicted man were he to fall heir to the radio set you are discarding. If it is in working order, may he not have it?

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Mr. Paul D. Cravath, who went abroad early last autumn, has concluded a stay in France and is now en route to the far east. He expects to return in April or May.

Mr. James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, and Mrs. Gerard will sail on the Morro Castle Saturday for Havana.

"But my face WAS CLEAN THIS MORNING!"

EVERY bit of lurking dust and grime must be removed from your skin—thoroughly and often—or else your complexion will quickly lose its freshness and fine texture.

At least once a day use Dorothy Gray Cleansing Cream. It's a light, soothing cream, which lifts out every particle of clogging dirt and leaves your skin radiantly clean. $1 and $1.75.

Then pat on Dorothy Gray Orange Flower Skin Tonic. This mildest of astringents gently closes the pores and freshens your skin. 85¢ and $1.75.

Several Clubs' Yearly Shows Set for Spring

BY THALIA

TIME was when amateur theatricals were an awful bore to everybody except the people who were in them. That was in the days when any one who had had a childhood training in elocution or fancy dancing was wont to do parlor entertaining, and "putting on a show" was a haphazard sort of affair that justified the opprobrious term "home talent."

Nowadays, when it is quite the thing to take up tap dancing or blues singing, and when amateurs go through weeks and weeks of professional coaching and training before they do their stunts, it's a different story.

The South Shore Country club was the first of the groups hereabouts, as far as I know, to do the amateur thing up brown—with its annual Follies.

Each year the audience fills the club ballroom for the peppy revue of songs, dances and skits in a veritable Broadway manner. Friday and Saturday, March 27 and 28, have been set for this year's Follies. Albert Bates Jr., who has been in many previous shows, is to be in charge. Tryouts will be held shortly, to be followed by an intensive session of rehearsals. H. Malcolm Anderson is chairman of the entertainment committee, which sees to the details of the arrangements.

The Heigh-Ho club, composed of former stars of college dramatic organizations and local dramatic groups, which gave its first performance last fall, is planning to give a group of one act comedy sketches at the Goodman, part of a series of variety productions to be given during the spring and summer under the sponsorship of some of the charities. Casting was begun last night at the club's quarters in the Fine Arts building, and rehearsals are to begin next week. Henry Paulman Jr. is president of the club. Jack Stambaugh, who is directing Alice Gerstenberg's "Latch Keys," to be given by the Playwright theater at the Goodman next Monday night, playing the leading part therein, is to help with the directing.

And the Tavern's "April Fooleries" given last spring were such a grand success that there have been all sorts of requests that they become annual. Arthur Bissell is chairman of the entertainment committee and of the "Fooleries" committee, and he and the latter are to get together on Saturday to make plans for a performance this spring.

Lake Forest Children's Gymkhana on Saturday.

The children's gymkhana to be held at the new arena at Onwentsia on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock is by way of being the formal opening of the building. The youngsters are to be in costume for the grand march and a variety of events following. Frank Bering's wonderful performing horse is to be there, too. Mrs. Samuel Walker is chairman of the arrangements. The arena is, you remember, the largest place of its kind in the middle west, being slightly longer than the Riding club's, and has a visitors' gallery and a "lamella roof," which means that there are no visible supports to block the spectators' view. A group of Onwentsia members donated the structure to the club.

Just in case you're not up on all the fine points about Leonide Massine, who is to give a dance recital at the Arts club on Sunday night, you might like to know that he's considered the greatest dancer since Nijinski—that he was associated with Diaghileff in Paris from 1914 until 1928, during which time he was choreographer and ballet master, and participated in some marvelous ballet triumphs in London and Paris—and that then he came to this country to be ballet master and chief dancer at Roxy's theater in New York City.

He's to arrive here on Saturday, and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter is to give a luncheon for him that day, and on Sunday night before his program there will be a dinner for him. The Sunday night party will be the last local one that Mrs. Carpenter will attend for some time, as she and Mr. Carpenter are to depart on Monday for their trip to the orient.

Beattys of Highland Park and their daughter, Veronese, have gone to their Palm Beach place for the rest of the season, leaving their sons, Roslyn and John, to occupy the apartment at 1120 Lake Shore drive that they took for the winter . . . the Benjamin F. Affleccks of Lake Forest and their daughter, Jane, are off on a 3 weeks' trip to Mexico City and to Monterey . . . the David S. Cooks and Mrs. Victor Elting have arrived in Santa Barbara.

MARRIED

[Du Bois Photo.]

Mrs. William Henry Kelley, a bride of Feb. 14, was Miss Marian O'Donnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Donnell of 5550 Kenmore avenue. Mr. Kelley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Kelley of Wilmette.

WEDDINGS

The marriage of Miss Ruth Canary, daughter of Mrs. Daniel J. Canary of Oak Park, to Miles A. Turpin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Turpin of Kansas City, Mo., is to take place at 5 o'clock on Saturday at the English Memorial chapel of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Oak Park. Miss Canary attended the University of Southern California. There she was a member of Delta Gamma, and Mr. Turpin is a Dartmouth graduate and a member of Phi Gamma Delta.

Mrs. William Leroy Martin of 6027 Kimbark avenue announces the marriage of her daughter, Eleanor Hughes Martin, to Almon Ney Bowes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Bowes of New York. The ceremony took place Feb. 14 at Hilton chapel of the University of Chicago and was followed by a reception at the Graduate clubhouse. Miss Martin is a graduate of the University of Chicago and Mr. Bowes graduated from Columbia university. They will be at home after March 15 at 24 Holden street, Cambridge, Mass.

Special Places Asked for Those Recovering from Various Illnesses

Hospital atmosphere stretchers hurrying past, odors of ether and other drugs, the moans of acutely ill patients and the knots of anxious relatives gathered in corridors—is not conducive to the best results in convalescence. So Miss Mabel W. Binner superintendent of Children's Memorial hospital, said yesterday.

Miss Binner addressed the American Conference on Hospital Service, part of the American Medical association, annual congress on medical education meeting in the Palmer house. Her subject was "Possibilities for Nursing Service in Convalescent Care."

In hospitals, Miss Binner stated, "the convalescent patient doesn't fit in the picture." He is not as interesting to the average nurse or physician as the patient with acute illness, he is not so well understood, and he is more difficult to care for actually, she said.

"As one patient expressed it," she addede, "in the blank hospital I was not good research material, and of course as an individual I hardly existed.'"

Miss Binner said caring for convalescents cost from one-half to one-third the amount necessary for hospital care. She suggested a convalescent ward or building adjoining hospitals. The number of nurses needed would be few, but they should be especially chosen, she said.

The ideal nurse for convalescents should be attained in psycho-therapy, should have a sympathetic understanding of others and an attitude of regarding the patient as a human being, Miss Binner said. She also should have a sense of humor, a cheerful disposition, an iron constitution, a social sense, patience, firmness and the ability to analyze patients, she said.

In the Children's Memorial hospital, Miss Binner said, there is a ward for the convalescent children from other parts of the hospital. Many old theories have been upset and discarded there. Children are allowed in a certain measure to eat what they please.

PALM BEACH SOCIETY

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. George A. McKinlock will give a dinner on Monday night in honor of Mrs. C. Morse Ely, who arrives on Sunday to be a house guest at the McKinlock estate.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick will give a dinner tomorrow night at the Everglades club in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher McC. Durbin, who are the house guests of Mrs. Joseph B. Long. Mr. and Mrs. James R. Offield are to entertain at the Embassy club next Tuesday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Durbin.

Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin is expected in Palm Beach on Friday to join the house party now being entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Somers Roche.

Randolph Churchill, youthful son of Winston Spencer Churchill, former chancellor of the exchequer, addressed the Current Events club on "Why I Am Not a Socialist" this afternoon at Lagomar, the home of Mrs. Henry R. Rea. The Churchills are the house guests of Mr. Otto H. Kahn at Villa Oheka.

The guests at the luncheon given by Mrs. Ray Lillibridge included Mr. Vincent Bedix and his house guests, Isaac Newton Perry, Howard F. Gillette, Dr. E. W. White, and Caleb S. Bragg; Mrs. John R. Thompson, Mrs. Harry L. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rich, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Bode, and Mr. and Mrs. William A. Snyder.

Yankee Lunar Photos Help Einstein Idea

Pasadena, Cal., Feb. 18.—(AP)—How the man in the moon agrees with Albert Einstein on the question of relativity was told to the Berlin professor today by Dr. John A. Miller of Sproul observatory, Swarthmore, Pa.

Einstein was the most interested of the little group of astronomers gathered at the Carnegie institution, Mount Wilson laboratory, here today.

The Pennsylvania observer, an authority on solar eclipses, revealed how photographs of the moon, taken during eclipses have confounded critics of Einstein. Those critics said the red shift, or relativity effect was not due to relativity, but resulted from refraction due to lowering of the temperature in the earth's atmosphere at eclipse.

That condition, the critics said, would reveal in photographs that the diameter of the moon would appear larger during eclipses than at other times.

Dr. Charles Lane Poor of Columbia had maintained that there was no red shift proving the Einstein theory," Dr. Miller said. "He asked me to test it. He said if the red shift were observed, the diameter of the moon at that time would prove to be expanded.

"We used a 63 foot focal light camera to photograph the corona. We made an exposure a few nights before the eclipse, photographing the field of stars to get the basis of measurements. From the same spot a photograph by the same camera and setting was taken of the eclipse.

"Newton's tables showed the moon diameter to be 2,001.25 seconds. From five photographs we found a mean diameter to be 2,001.30 seconds. This was the mean of 13 diameters, that is, the diameter at 13 different sections of the moon.

"From that we decided the diameter of the moon was not affected by any lowering of temperature in the atmosphere between the moon and the earth during eclipse. We also decided this is the best way to measure the moon.

Pre-School Child Too Much in the Limelight Today

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Don't feel hopeless if you've failed with your small child. Also, don't feel too set up if you're successful with him, just as if you had finished your job for life.

The pre-school child! What an important little figure he and she have become. Those years between actual babyhood and the beginning of school have been more studied and discussed than any other period of childhood. And a tremendous amount of emphasis has been laid on the good or the harm that can be done by wise or unwise management during those early years.

In fact, so much has been said about it that it must give many young mothers stage fright as they look ahead from babyhood to these first years.

Mothers hear so much about the fact that the first seven years "set" a child for life, they are told so often that adult troubles date back to these beginnings, that it is enough to make them feel that a mistake can never be rectified. This is not so. While a good beginning is best, if a mother has made serious mistakes she should not feel helpless all along the way because of that. All is not lost at the age of 5 or 6.

To quote from an interesting article in The New Era for January, 1931:

"No one portion of the life span is intrinsically more important than the other; each stage is supremely important while we are in it, and supremely important as paving the way for the next.

"But too great emphasis on the preschool age as being all important can only breed a crippling pessimism in the minds of those who are past it, weakening their efforts toward new adjustments appropriate to the later years—their's or their children's. The adjustment process requires research at all levels of life alike. . . ."

Food Talk.

This morning I am offering a few hints on how to improve some flavors of foods which appear in tomorrow's menu as well as some short cuts in preparation.

At this season of the year, when apples have not the good flavor they had two or three months ago, try adding a few drops of lemon juice and a few gratings of lemon rind to the apples prepared for baking. I like to add the juice and rind to the sugar that fills the hole in the center.

Sardines for sandwiches may be of either the mustard or oil variety. In either kind drain off as much liquid as possible. Lay the sardines on buttered bread (rye or whole wheat is best) and mash to a pulp with the spatula as you spread them thickly over the slice. Squeeze at least ½ teaspoon lemon juice over the sardines. Add a lettuce leaf and another buttered slice of bread. For family service do not trim away the crusts, but cut the sandwich into four triangles or into three finger strips, that it may be more easily handled.

In making cream of carrot soup I advise putting the raw carrots through a food chopper rather than cooking the carrots and rubbing them through a sieve. If you have on hand some good flavored meat broth use it to cook the carrots in. Then add either rich milk or a thin white sauce. The flavor will be an agreeable variation from that which results when carrots are cooked in plain water.

Halibut steak should always be cut thick, at least one inch, to be juicy. The flavor will be improved if the slices are marinated in lemon juice an hour before broiling. Do not broil too long. Ten or fifteen minutes should be ample. As soon as fish has broiled sufficiently, send it to the table immediately. And this means that the broiling is not to be started until the table is set and the meal is almost ready.

BROILED HALIBUT STEAK.

Slices of halibut Salt
Butter Parsley butter
Lemon juice

Spread the slices of the fish with butter, sprinkle with lemon juice and salt, and place on broiler. Turn carefully when brown, lower flame and broil for about 15 minutes. Serve with sauce made by combining 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, salt and pepper, and 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

(Registered U. S. Patent Office.)

JUNIOR MISS' DRESS.

This chic model of printed crêpe may be made sleeveless, for the cape provides sufficient covering for the arms. It also may be made with full length sleeves, or with short cuffed ones, and the neck finished with an applied band and bow in a simple, smart manner. The circular skirt has an inverted plait at the center front.

The pattern, 2881, comes in sizes 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years. Size 8 requires 1⅞ yards of 39 inch material with ½ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Boy Friend Borrows Car to Take Rival Out Star-Gazing

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"You can tell what kind of a fool I am, Doris—and the cure, please. I can't bear to call myself one, and maybe I'll have enough gumption to resent it if you do. But here's the situation:

"I've been unbelievably in love with this young man for the last couple of years. We've had loads of dates and marvellous times together. But now I've got a car. I told said young man he could use it, if he liked. I told him many times before he did. So, one day, he asked to borrow it. And he took out another girl.

"I was surprised and hurt and hated the person who dropped the information casually. O, I'm miserable, wondering if all I mean to him is a car for other dates. I adore him. I want to resent it and him—but my heart honestly fails me.—JENEANE."

Our gestures of generosity sometimes do turn on us just like that, Jeneane, and bite. But the question is just how generous these gestures are. They often won't stand up under any quizzing. They're tended many times with "personal expectations," as it were. We look for the glory of a so-called provident hand. Curbing the impulse to show off how big and generous we are may be much the better policy in the long run. But why tell you that, now, with a picture in your mind of your devoted in your car instructing some other girl in the ways of the stars and the moon?

Your B. F.? may not have been doing anything of the sort. He may have just been showing off, too. Showing the other girl what a swell girl he had, with a car an' everything. Give him the benefit of the doubt, anyway, as a heart opiate. Besides, men are funny that way. The fact that he dashed off with another damsel may have nothing whatever to do with his feelings for you. He just wanted a bit of adventure and you gave him a good start, offering the vehicle for it.

To prevent the habit from growing on him, you know what you can do, since you have the keys to the garage, presumably. But you mustn't expect to give a little boy a toy to play with and show off with—and not have him go seeking an audience.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Lack Consideration.

"Dear Miss Blake: My friend and I may love each other, but we hurt each other's feelings. Please advise. "R. G."

Give thought to what you do and say and so avoid those unpleasantries.

Time to Retire.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a girl who has a boy friend. They are engaged, but I think she likes me. What should I do? JOE."

You'd better find another girl.

Nature plays cruel pranks on girls who haven't learned

A marvel at tennis. Everywhere at once, alert and dangerous. Deftly returning each swift play. Stopping the fastest volley with amazing skill.

What a pity she has not learned to stop periodic pains as easily! In just a few moments, with Midol.

One or two tablets, taken in time, will render those dreaded days entirely painless. If your suffering has already started, it will subside in five to seven minutes. No matter how great your usual discomfort. Whether you are fourteen, or forty. Midol ends the pain! Safely, and in a hurry.

Midol does not halt or even hinder the natural periodic process. But it does banish the unnatural pain.

Specialists produced Midol. It is not a narcotic. So you may use it, with perfect confidence, as often as there is the slightest need.

More than one million modern women have turned to these tiny tablets for relief of such suffering. And Midol has removed every excuse for ever giving-in to periodic pains; headaches, neuralgia, etc.

WINTER COLDS
with Grapefruit

COLDS get a grip on you this time of year because you are "run down"—in other words, because your system is in that over-acid condition, known as acidosis.

Grapefruit corrects acidosis because it's alkaline in its action. Packed full of summer sunshine, luscious grapefruit give you, more than almost any other food, the mineral salts and vitamins so urgently needed in winter.

And this modern way of preventing and stopping colds is the most delightful "treatment" anyone could ask for. What a start for the day is a whole "Seald-Sweet" Grapefruit for breakfast or a glass of the refreshing juice, squeezed right from the fruit!

Protect yourself with "Seald-Sweet" twice or three times a day—each fruit is labeled on the skin—and they are the sweetest and juiciest of the crop.

NORTH SIDE BOYS BATTLE FOR GOLDEN GLOVES

TILDEN UNFURLS PRO BANNER AND WHIPS KOZELUH

13,000 See Battle of White Pants.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 18.—William T. Tilden II, the human thumbtack who lately removed himself from the chair of the president of the U. S. Lawn Tennis association when he became an out-and-out pro, this evening celebrated his formal conversion to the professional heresy in sport with a rather easy victory over Karel Kozeluh, of Prague, Czecho-Slovakia, in a three set match at the New Garden.

The ceremony attracted 13,000, according to Mr. Jack Curley's figures, and the gate was $36,000. Though the customers, in their ignorance or perhaps in defiance of the niceties of tennis etiquette, applauded when they darn well pleased, Mr. Tilden made no remonstrance by word or sign. When Old Will was an amateur athlete he was an operatic tenor for temperament. He used to scowl at the telegraph batteries at the amateur tournaments so fiercely that the operators were always experimenting with refinements of the trombone player's wah-wah plug to tone down their ticking.

At Last Tilden's Popular.

But tonight the boys turned on their speeders in the upper register and let them crash away in a clangor of defiance, and the customers laughed and clapped their palms together whenever they were moved to do so. They haw-hawed at Will's errors and Kozeluh's, too, and Old Will took it all as gracefully that for the first time in his life, the common customers were willing to call him not William T. Tilden II., nor William nor Will, but Bill.

Just Bill, will do, apparently from now on for him who was William T. Tilden II, and of all the victories that the old boy with the missing finger, the theatrical delusions and the somewhat antagonistic public manner, ever won, tonight's was his best.

His score over Kozeluh was 6-4, 6,2, and 6-4. The fact that Kozeluh arrived from Europe only last Saturday was urged in mitigation of his defeat, but the further fact that he has long been regarded as a man of magic on the courts, without a deserving challenger, may be suggested in mitigation of that. Like Bill Squires of Australia, who came over to challenge Tommy Burns for the heavyweight championship and went out in a punch, Kozeluh offered something less than a contest.

Francis T. Hunter of New York and Emmett Pare, Chicago, were stopped in the second set of their preliminary match to allow the main event to go on. Hunter won the first set, 6-2.

Bruises Please Mr. Curley.

Mr. Curley, the philosophic veteran of a thousand prize fights and wrestling matches, a pot walloper and scuttle pusher in the beer cellars of St. Louis, Terre Haute, and Chicago in days long past but never to be forgotten, sat in the ringside section in line with the net, about five yards removed from the large green canvas court. Mr. Curley was all moist and pink and tremendously pleased with the showing of ermines and sables and snowy shirtfronts, representing Mr. Tilden's drawing power with the more expensive and, therefore, more desirable, clientele.

Not many years ago for his candid recollection, Mr. Curley hustled copy for the late George Siler, the first of the famous prize fighting experts, at the fugitive contest between Robert Fitzsimmons and Peter Maher on the palisades of the Rio Grande, opposite the Texas border, when the rangers settled down on the Texas side, with their legs overhanging the cliffs and their cartridges across their knees, to allow themselves some sinful enjoyment of a spectacle which, on their side of the gummy stream, would have been an affront to the peace and security of that hair trigged commonwealth.

Tonight, Mr. Curley appeared as the public sponsor of an athlete who had played before the crowned heads of Europe and the eastern American seaboard, not as a performer, but as a guest, and with some manner of condescension. Mr. Tilden had stooped a bit and Mr. Curley, on his part, had tilted a bit, to conquer, and all was well, not to say perfectly jolly, with both of them.

Even Cauliflower Boys Attend.

The more prominent members of the cauliflower trade had set their faces in the general direction of Florida, where, at the last confidential information to arrive on Broadway, Primo Carnera and Jimmy Maloney were confronted with the necessity of turning comparatively amateur or breaking a hand. Still, a few of the boys came to have a look at this curious white paste entertainment in which one guy hits a small ball of wind completely surrounded by peach fuzz with a weapon like a lunch wagon skillet, and another guy socks the same back at him, both guys trying at all times to keep the same inside certain boundaries outlined in white.

Jack (Windows) Bagley, who once owned the sole rights to Eugene Joseph Tunney and sold them to Uncle Willie Gibson for $5,000 cash and chattels less than the print of a class B league outfielder, was leaning against the bleachers at the near end of the court, mouthing a toothpick as

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[ENTRIES ON PAGE 21.]

The battle for Golden Gloves shifts tonight to the Rainbo Hippodrome, Lawrence avenue and Clark street. Two hundred and seventeen boys, Chicago's northern boxing army, are ready for the two day carnival which will determine 16 qualifiers for the tournament of champions which opens at the Coliseum March 2.

The north section already har surpassed the west in entries, and from the early reports, also may eclipse the west section attendance mark. Admission tonight and tomorrow night is 75 cents. No seats are reserved. The ticket sale will start at 5:30. The first bout is scheduled for 7 o'clock.

All north section contestants must report between 4 o'clock and 6 o'clock for physical examinations and to weigh in. Pairings will be made by lot at 6:30.

North Side Interest Blazes.

Chicago's north section, once considered the least interested in amateur boxing, this year has produced some of the best fighters, and fans are showing enthusiasm equal to that in any section. From the north suburban towns, from the river district, and from the campuses of De Paul, Loyola, and Northwestern universities contestants for Golden Gloves await this tournament.

And so do sports fans. Tonight, when the Belle Plaine squad, the Summerdale boys, and other amateur boxing clubs commence campaigning their followers will rally to their support. And undoubtedly many of the thousands who watched the qualifying tournament Monday and Tuesday at the Ashland Boulevard auditorium will travel across the city to judge what success their representatives may have against their city rivals at the Coliseum tournament March 2, 3, and 4.

West Side Team Powerful.

The west side section well may be skeptical of north side talent. There is sufficient basis for asserting the west will have a superior team, for those who saw the finalists Tuesday night watched some of the city's greatest amateur boxers. Joe Palazzolo, in the bantamweight division; Dick Mastro and Joey Kleko, featherweights; George Holden of Geneva, Ill., and Frankie Noonan of the Knights of Columbus, the lightweight contenders, and on down the list, the west has a team which merits superlative praise.

The route to Golden Glove championships and the right to defend Chicago's intercity title in Madison Square Garden on March 30 tests a boxer's courage. The path to fame is difficult, but the thrill of victory in personal combat cannot be matched in any other sport.

South Side Sets Entry Record.

The final figures on entries for the White City south sectional meet, which starts Monday night, have established a record. Three hundred and sixteen boys have entered the south qualifying trials for Golden Gloves.

If 50 per cent of this entry reports [this was true on the west side] it will be impossible to hold the tournament in two nights. Accordingly, White City has been leased for three nights, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Admission on each of these nights will be 75 cents, with no seats reserved.

The boxers in the first four weights [from 112 pounds to 135 pounds inclusive] will box in preliminary rounds Monday. The welterweights, middleweights, lightheavies and heavyweights will fight Tuesday. All classes will engage in the finals on Wednesday night, when the 16 south side boys are named for the Coliseum tournament of champions.

741 Enter Chicago Bouts.

The total entry in three Chicago preliminaries this year is 741. This number is particularly impressive because, with few exceptions, these boys are well prepared for the tournament. Many have trained for weeks, and among them are fighters who have waited a year to redeem past failures in the quest for Golden Gloves.

Officials of the Loop Financial Basketball league, the White City Basketball league, and the White City roller skating have canceled their activities for these nights next week, cooperating with Tom Tarsuns on the Golden Gloves tournament can be extended another night.

Heart Attack Kills Indiana U. Wrestler

Bloomington, Ind., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Marion Leaky, 19, a heavyweight wrestler at Indiana university, dropped dead on the sidewalk here tonight. Students who saw him fall summoned an ambulance and rushed him to the Blomington hospital, where a physician pronounced him dead.

Dr. Ben Ross, Monroe county coroner, said Leaky died of a rupture of the aorta, the main artery of the circulatory system.

Leaky, a former Muncie High school football and wrestling star, was a sophomore. He won a freshman numeral in football in 1929 playing at guard and tackle. He wrestled in the heavyweight bout when Indiana met Northwestern on the mat here last Saturday night. He weighed 240 pounds.

Leaky went through a strenuous workout under the direction of Coach W. H. Thom at the university gymnasium this afternoon before the Crimson varsity mat men left for Ann Arbor, Mich., where they are scheduled to meet the Wolverines Friday night, but with Ambrose Rasher, the regular heavyweight, back in the lineup, having recovered from a shoulder injury, Leaky did not make the trip.

At the time he was stricken Leaky was on his way to mail a letter to his mother, Mrs. J. C. Leaky of Muncie. Leaky lived at the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity house. He entered the university in the fall of 1929 and attended for two semesters before dropping out temporarily last fall to work and help finance his way through school.

Cubs Get First Workout; Pity Doc Lotshaw

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Our Cubs held their first practice of 1931 this afternoon and a quite strenuous session, too, what with the talkies demanding that the athletes do all their shouting in the sign language while Manager Hornsby put on a baseball act with his five year old son, Bill, followed by much running and throwing and a soccer game.

As usual, the manager, trainer and coaches had a hard time keeping the boys under control on the first day and the usual moaning will be in order tomorrow with Dr. Lotshaw the big goat of the annual indiscretion.

Gabby Takes It Easy.

Among the fellows in the ranks the exception to unrestrained opening day maneuvers was furnished by Gabby Hartnett. Gabby has always felt that his disability throughout the entire season of 1929 was due to his cutting loose with everything he had on the first day of the 1929 spring training season.

Manager Hornsby was Manager Hornsby, and not Second Baseman Hornsby, at today's festivities. He was in uniform, of course, and did a limited amount of moving about.

Aside from his work in the field, Manager Hornsby today definitely accepted two challenges involving three games on Catalina island and received another which he took under advisement.

The Los Angeles club of the Coast league will come over here for two games and a team of movie actors, headed by Joe Brown, will be over to play one game. Today's challenge was from Sam Barry, coach of the University of Southern California team, who desires to bring over his squad some time during the first two weeks in March.

May Play at Los Angeles.

Rogers said that it might not be advisable to play more than three formal games on the island, but that he would seek to arrange a program that would include a contest with Southern California in Los Angeles if not here.

Hap O'Connor, inevitable umpire of the intra-club and other games on the island, arrived on this noon's boat and went into training. He was accompanied by Bob Meusel, whose release by the Cincinnati Reds last fall left by the big leagues without a member of the Meusel family for the first time in many, many years.

Meusel was announced as just a casual visitor to the Cub camp. O'Connor, though not a paid scout, fetched along a giant high school first baseman named Sherwood Bell, whom he proclaimed a sensation.

BRUINS SQUELCH BROOKLYN RALLY AND WIN, 36 TO 33

Charley Murphy Accounts for Five Baskets.

Largely through the efforts of Charley Murphy, the Bruins nosed out the Brooklyn Visitations, 36 to 33, last night at the Broadway armory. The victory enabled the Bruins to maintain the pace set by the league leading Fort Wayne Hoosiers and put them within a half game of the top.

CHARLES MURPHY.

The Bruins took an 8 to 0 lead in the first two minutes on baskets by Borgman, Miller and two by Murphy. Then the Brooklyn offensive began to click.

Brooklyn Ties Score.

Two minutes later things were tied up on baskets by Conaty, Herlihy, Kellett, and Cooney. Herlihy added two more short shots, but Borgeman and Kintzing found the hoop and at the half the score was 20 to 17, in favor of the Bruins.

In the second half the lead changed hands eight times, Herlihy and Scrill doing most of the scoring for the Visitations and Murphy and Miller matching them shot for shot. With 5 minutes to play the Bruins ran up a lead of 36 to 27, staved off a Brooklyn rally that came within 3 points of tying the score, and stalled till the gun.

Drivers Beat Badgers.

Brooklyn went through the first half without incurring a personal foul. The Bruins failed to score from the free throw line during the entire game.

In the preliminary the Milwaukee Badgers led by Art Shires dropped a fast game to the E. F. Drivers, 29 to 23. Lineup:

U. S. ENTRY FOR SCHNEIDER RACE TOO LATE; BARRED

LONDON, Feb. 18.—(AP)—The United States will not be represented in the Schneider cup races this year, but Great Britain probably will enter planes capable of making 400 miles an hour to compete for the famous trophy which is emblematic of the seaplane speed championship of the world. France and Italy will compete.

Executives of the Royal Aero club said today that the entry list closed Dec. 31 and that therefore it would be impossible to accept the entry of Lieut. Alford J. Williams, American flyer, who obtained backing only in the last few days to compete in the contest.

"We would like to accommodate the United States," said one of the officials, "but we could not possibly alter the rules.

PAUL WANER IS OPERATED ON FOR LEG INFECTION

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Paul Waner, Pittsburgh outfielder, underwent an operation for an infected left leg at St. John's hospital here today. Dr. Robert F. Hyland, who performed the operation, said Waner would be in the hospital for an indefinite period.

Waner said his leg became infected just above the ankle after he was bitten recently while swimming at Miami, Fla. He said he did not know what bit him. Waner had been scheduled to report at the Pirates' Paso Robles, Cal., training camp Feb. 25, but Dr. Hyland said it might be late in the training season before he is able to start work.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

ITALIAN BOXERS.

THE WAKE has received a letter from Helper Arthur O. Andersen in Rome which may interest ring followers owing to the prominence of boxers of Italian antecedents in the Golden Gloves and professional arenas. Excerpts follow:

"Have just been to a boxing exhibition here in the city of Black Shirts and home of the Duce. Driving three miles in a taxi to the Prati Triontale, fare 26 cents, I threw down my dollar at the box office and found myself possessor of a third row ringside seat. The Prati seats about 8,000 and was crowded for the occasion.

"The crowd was not noisy, compared to our own gatherings. But it was attentive and expressive of any unfair ring tactics of contestants, whether native or foreign. The ring was regular size, but with the ropes widely meshed to prevent spilling of boxers into the laps of spectators.

"The first bout was between Parboni, Italian, and a Frenchman, Tenet. The Italian upon entering the ring was presented with a huge bouquet of flowers, which he grasped in his arms and acknowledged in a stately manner to the crowd, bowing deep in all directions. After ten rounds the bout was called a draw, a fair decision. The Italian, on leaving the ring, was besieged on all sides by his admirers and submitted to a kissing ordeal with a smiling countenance as he edged through the crowded aisle to his dressing room.

"That was the only draw. Italians winning all other bouts. They gave creditable demonstrations of infighting, left jabbing, uppercutting, feinting, and footwork. It was surprising, as boxing has only been practiced to any extent in Italy for about ten years. The boys boxed scientifically, protecting themselves well.

"Watch for these young Italian pugilists, Wake, for you will hear from them later, as they cannot and will not be denied their place in the sun."

College Men at West Point.

At the time West Point was under fire for alleged recruiting of college football stars The Wake commented that it would be interesting to know how many college graduates entered the military academy and how many of them played football, if any such figures were available.

We are indebted to the Army Athletic association for information that fifteen college graduates are at present enrolled at the Point. Of this number, three are on the varsity football squad and two were members of last fall's plebe or freshman class.

On this basis, one-third of the college graduates at West Point play football as regulars. This is a somewhat smaller proportion than one would have imagined from all the shouting, although a relatively large percentage of the grid squad.

Londos' Personal Magnetism Downs Zaharias in 2 Falls

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Jim Londos, the It man of wrestling, underwent several embarrassing moments at the Coliseum last night, but physical culture and personal magnetism finally won out, and he subdued George Zaharias, a rambunctious youth from Pueblo, Colo., in two straight falls of the feature act of Dr. John Krone's production.

JIM LONDOS.

Londos' victory gave him a two-thirds claim on the $7,500 diamond championship belt which the Millionaires' club of Madison Square Garden, overcome by his defeat of Jim McMillen, recently presented to him. Another victory and it's all his.

Pat O'Shocker, Kola Kwariani, and Hans Steinke also won their matches, but the box office, as Dr. Krone predicted, scored the most sweeping victory of the evening. A crowd of 9,000, a majority of them countrymen of the two Greeks in the principal match, paid $15,000 to witness the performance.

Zaharias Quite Bellicose.

The Zaharias boy, wearing an adult scowl for one so young, revealed hitherto unadvertised talents as a boxer and football player. Within the 49 minutes and 3 seconds required to attain the first fall he displayed a left hook which seemed to irritate Londos considerably and caused Referee Emil Thiry to wag a reproachful finger at George several times.

He sprawled Londos on his back with an efficient headlock in that first fall, but his main contribution to the evening's entertainment was a flying lunge similar to that used by a football tackle taking out an opposing end. It took Londos and Referee Thiry about fifteen minutes to solve this maneuver, but both managed to stay out of his way.

The two boys appeared to be exchanging words in Greek throughout the match, but since Dr. Krone's interpreting staff was absent, it will be impossible to set down the nature or temperature of their remarks. At one time George seemed to be laboring under the delusion that Jim hadn't become acquainted with the Illinois boxing commission and twice attempted to complete the introduction by spinning Londos out of the ring. Only the ropes prevented Jim from landing in the respective laps of Gen. John Clinnin, George Getz and Fred Gardner.

Londos tried several times to dispose of George via his airplane spin, but George refused to go along, springing up from a series of those flying headlocks with the football lunge and confusing Jim no end. Londos finally persuaded the stubborn young man to hold still with a reverse body hold.

George was very meek after the intermission, however, and a headlock preceded by the airplane spin, sufficed to eliminate him in 59 seconds.

O'Shocker Throws Roller.

The younger element in the audience who wish to grow up and be wrestlers were given thirty minutes' instruction on how to be a wrestler, with gestures, by Profs. Karl Pojello and Frank Brunovicz. Both displayed a very comprehensive repertoire of holds, grimaces, and whinnyings, but couldn't come to a decision, so Referee Thiry called it a draw.

Hans Steinke, the German editor of Carners, received a pleasant surprise after he had attended to Billy Evans of Oklahoma with a reverse body hold in 2 minutes and 39 seconds. Hans had made his little bow and was preparing to leave the ring when Announcer Al Smith thrust a bundle of posies into his big paws. Hans fingered them somewhat gingerly until Smith informed him they were from his friends in the Schwaben club.

Twins Fight in Rockford Final Tonight

Rockford, Ill., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Adam Smith, heavyweight, who was a member of Rockford's Golden Gloves team last year, went into the finals of the Morning Star's tournament tonight by scoring a technical knockout over Johnny Emerick of Elgin in the first round.

Finals will be held tomorrow evening. In the flyweight class, Al and Hubert De Schepherd, Rockford twins, will meet for the championship. Results of tonight's fights:

Clark Willing to Promote Title Battle

Chicago's prospect of watching a heavyweight championship boxing match between Max Schmeling and Young Stribling at Soldiers' field in June brightened yesterday when Sheldon Clark, millionaire sportsman, announced he would serve as promoter provided certain conditions were fulfilled.

"If the profits are divided among Chicago charities I am willing to give the match any support I can," he stated. "Under no circumstances would I associate myself with the enterprise if the money were taken back to New York. Charity should begin at home.

"I am not sure that Chicago can get the bout. There is at least one other city which has an equal chance. I am told that the purses of the fighters would be underwritten by civic leaders of the town bidding against Chicago.

"I naturally am anxious to have Chicago get the match. It would do a lot to stimulate business. I wish the Chicago Stadium corporation could put it on for I am a stockholder in that organization. But New York interests have the fight tied up and there is no chance of the Stadium pulling it away.

"I have talked the bout over with several of my friends and they are unanimous that it would be a big thing for Chicago, if we can keep the charity fund here."

Mr. Clark said the match, if it comes to Chicago, will be handled by the Madison Square Garden Corporation of Illinois.

Watch Champions Win Their Crowns!

Eight young fighters—champions in every sense of the word—will be on top when the last Golden Gloves bout is fought. Each lad will be up there because he carries a wallop in his mitt and reckless courage in his heart.

You can watch these boys win their titles if you act right now and get tickets before all the good ones are snapped up. The champions of fifteen cities, together with the best battlers of Chicago, will fight at the Coliseum on March 2, 3 and 4—and you can see them for $1, $1.50 or $2.

Then the winners meet at the Chicago Sedium on March 11 to determine the team which will go to New York. You can be in on this grand climax for $1, $2 or $3.

Tickets are on sale at the Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street, or you can mail in your order together with a check. Address it to the Ticket Manager, Golden Gloves tournament, The Tribune, Chicago.

FORT ERIE, Ont., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Chicago Shamrocks defeated the Buffalo Majors here tonight in an American Hockey league game by a score of 2 to 1, after less than five minutes of overtime.

BOBBY BURNS.

Chicago jumped out in front in the first period, when a long shot from Burns from outside the goal line hopped into the net over Stark's foot. In the second session neither team was able to find the cage, both Stark and Timmins turning aside shots which had all the earmarks of goals.

Chicago played a stubborn defense in the final session and the Buffalo forwards pressed heavily. With McKenzie off for tripping, Donnelly broke for a rush and laid a perfect pass which Mitchell slammed past Timmins to even the score.

Buffalo assumed the aggressive in the overtime period and Lessard gave Timmins a couple of hot ones. Riley broke from center with the puck and his pass to Wiseman was rifled into the net. Lineup and summary:

CHICAGO.		BUFFALO.

HAWKS FACE FALCONS

The Chicago Blackhawks will meet the Detroit Falcons tonight on the Stadium rink. It will be Detroit's last appearance of the season in Chicago unless both teams reach the finals of the Stanley cup competition.

The Detroit pucksters are in third place, but the Rangers, with ten games to play, are trailing the Falcons, who have nine more games to play, by only half a game. The three games which remain to be played with the Chicago team are the ones the Falcons bank on taking, as they have had a decided edge on the Hawks this season.

Frank Calder, president of the National Hockey league, will be in town today to rule on the question of the score which Tommy Cook made in the Rangers-Hawks game last Sunday, the recalling of which resulted in the Hawks losing the encounter by a 2-1 score.

BLACKHAWKS.		FALCONS.
Gardiner	Goal	Dehaes
Abel	Defense	Backburn
Wentworth	Defense	Noble
Cook	Center	Goodfellow
March	Right wing	Fillmore

SCATTER TAKES MIAMI FEATURE RACE AT 2-1 ODDS

Lucky Dan Wins Again at New Orleans.

New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Scatter, a 4 year old son of Sir Gallahad III., won his first race since the fall days at Jamaica when he led a small but speedy field home in the Coldstream handicap at Hialeah Park, Miami, today.

Sporting the silks of George D. Widener, Scatter sped over the 6 furlongs in the fast time of 1:11 2-5 to hold a three length margin over the Greentree stable's Justinian at the finish. A. W. Wentzel's Opponent, the favorite, was far back in the early stages of the race, but closed fast to beat out Flag Bearer, the only other starter, for third position.

Scatter Pays 2 to 1.

Flag Bearer displayed his usual burst of early speed and dashed to the front at the rise of the barrier, but J. Eaby kept Scatter a head or so behind. After a 2 furlong battle, the Widener campaigner moved out in front and Flag Bearer quickly dropped out of the picture. Scatter paid 2 to 1.

The thoroughbreds moved over to Jefferson Park for the final meeting of the year at New Orleans and Mrs. A. Luzader's Lucky Dan proceeded to win his second race in three days by leading a band of platers home in the mile and 70 yard feature. It was the third triumph in as many days for the offspring of Lucky Hour. Lucky Dan counted twice and Jimmy Moran once in the Mardi Gras handicap yesterday.

Wins by Two Lengths.

Backed by his recent winning effort over a muddy track Lucky Dan was made the 2 to 1 favorite for today's event, which also was run over a slow course. Phil Reuter's Bob Kernan set the early pace, but once Jockey Remillard got Lucky Dan in his stride the race was over. He won by two lengths, with Bob Kernan second, and the Nugent Brothers' Thomas Seth a distant third.

J. Lowenstein's Florida Gold won his fifth consecutive race at Oriental Park with a triumph in the Tropical Gardens purse. The 7 year old chestnut gelding had 112 pounds in the saddle and just managed to finish the 6 furlongs in front of C. S. Stubbs' Patricia Ann, with L. L. Lycan's Sir Raoul third. The winner covered the 6 furlongs in 1:13-2-5 and paid 5 to 2.

Eddie Schroeder, winner of THE TRIBUNE'S senior Silver Skates Derby, last night captured three events for class A honors in the second annual Walton Arrows ice Derby at the Chicago Stadium.

In the eight lap race, Schroeder was pressed closely by Ray Wondra of the Amphion Athletic club, but spurted on the last lap to win by five feet. Art Peters took third place.

PING PONG STARS OPEN PLAY FOR TITLE TOMORROW

The best ping pong players in the central states will gather tomorrow evening in the Grand Ball Room of the La Salle Hotel for the opening round of the western ping pong championship.

Among the entries are Yoshio Fuchimi of Japan, winner of last year's north shore tournament; Jose Alonso, captain of the Spanish Davis cup tennis team; J. R. Leininger, winner of the Chicago district championship last year; Coleman Clark, this year's North Shore champion; Ole Pierson, Chicago district Y. M. C. A. title holder and John Aldon, University of Wisconsin champion.

Did your child have Sore Throat this month?

A half-sick run-down child is ill-equipped to face winter's dangers. With strength at a low ebb, even an ordinary sore throat may be serious.

Now is the time to build up health and vigor. Father John's Medicine is a simple food medicine that contains no drugs, no alcohol. Children thrive on it amazingly. Where there is vitamin deficiency in the diet, results are literally surprising. Pale cheeks glow with health and color. Appetite becomes keen and sharp. Pounds are added. Colds are few and far between. Because of its combination of cod liver oil with other valuable ingredients Father John's Medicine brings all the benefits of cod liver oil in the form it will do the most good. Each tiny globule of oil is so finely broken up that it is easily and quickly assimilated by even the most delicate stomach. And it actually tastes good.

Just ask your druggist for Father John's Medicine. It is used regularly by over 184 hospitals and institutions. Give it regularly. You may be amazed and delighted at the results. Sometimes it is the one missing element that makes a vital difference in a child's health and vigor.

Football Relay Is Planned for Military Meet

BY BETTY ECKERSALL.

The first annual indoor meet of the Illinois National Guard and Naval Militia, will be held next Monday at the 124th Field Artillery armory. The meet is part of the formal dedication program of the armory.

An innovation in this meet is the 100 yard indoor dash for women. It is the first time that this event has ever been held indoors.

Robinson vs. Walsh.

Betty Robinson, Olympic track star of the I. W. A. C., will have an opportunity to obtain revenge from Stella Walsh of Cleveland, international sprint champion, who snatched the 100 meter world record from her last year at Dallas. Both girls are competing in the century dash in which they are going to have formidable opposition from Myrtle Cook, national champion of Canada.

Another interesting feature of the meet is the 400 yard football relay race, which is open to only members of a varsity squad. The men will be in football uniform and instead of a baton will pass a football.

Three Teams Enter.

Three schools have sent in entries, Northwestern university, Chicago, and Notre Dame. Everett Ramsay, R. Wallace, Marvin Pink, Robert Walsh, R. Colville, and Ted Haydon are representing Chicago. Marty Brill, Ed O'Brien, Clarence Kaplan, and Ray Ballie comprise the Notre Dame team. Competing for Northwestern will be Pug Rentner, Dick Fencl, Bob Halls, and Bill Griggin.

Other events in which National guardsmen will compete are: the 100 yard dash, 440 yard relay race, 880 medley relay race, and the running high jumps.

A preliminary meet of the I. W. A. C. track team, last night, was won by Ethel Harrington and Florence Wright, whose names are entered in the century dash.

STAGG REPORTS PRESENT GRID RULES TO STAY

The football rules committee is agreed that tinkering with the game is unwise and that football at present represents a satisfactory balance between offense and defense, Director A. A. Stagg of the University of Chicago said yesterday on his return from the annual rules meeting at Absecon, N. J. Stagg, who is the senior member of the committee, said that changes designed to clarify the intent of the rules had been agreed upon.

For the last month Mr. Stagg and his son, Paul, Maroon quarterback, have been in Florida. Paul remained in the south to participate in winter tournaments.

ORDER BLOOD TRANSFUSION FOR JOHNSON TODAY

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 18.—(AP)—The condition of Ban Johnson, former president of the American league, continued serious tonight. A blood transfusion will be performed tomorrow, his physician, Dr. Robert F. Hyland, announced.

The condition of the veteran baseball leader, who has been confined at St. John's hospital since Jan. 26, became worse last night and since then his condition has been described by Dr. Hyland as serious, but not immediately critical. Johnson is 65 years old and has been in poor health for several years.

Pennock, Allen Reduce Yankee Holdouts to Two

New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—The New York Yankees' holdout list has dwindled to two—Lyn Lary, shortstop, and Sam Byrd, outfielder. Latest to come to terms are Herb Pennock and Johnny Allen, pitchers. Pennock has been in the majors since 1912. He will be 37 years old tomorrow. Allen is a rookie righthander obtained by the Yankees from Jersey City of the International league.

TILDEN UNFURLS PRO BANNER AND WHIPS KOZELUH

big as a dollar cigar, mumbling large splinters off his tongue and complaining that the world had gone crazy.

"It must be prohibition," Mr. Bagley grumbled. "Ten years ago, if any guy would have said I would have been seen at one of these tennis outrages, I would have sued them in the courts. And now they come into the Garden on a Wednesday night and they draw 13,000 head, mostly cash, at a dollar to five, and who is here but the old doctor.

"Give a look," Mr. Bagley exclaimed, "at those persons out there! They're all in white pants! Where is the district attorney?"

When in Doubt, Stand Up.

The phonograph and the mechanical exaggerater turned loose a tremendous blast of unfamiliar music when Kozeluh came on the court just before the match and the general opinion seemed to be that this was the Czecho-Slovakian national anthem, so all present stood up, the males removing their cigars rather hesitantly, as they do at football games when the band plays "Auld Lang Syne" or "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms" in solemn discords. Czecho-Slovakia is old real estate, but a young country, and the customers were to be pardoned their uncertainty about the anthem. It takes at least ten years for an alma mater song to acquire antiquity, and Czecho-Slavakia hasn't been in business as long as some shoe stores or haberdasheries.

The "Star Spangled Banner," however, discoursed by the same mechanical process, commanded the customary reverence, and following a few preliminary swats which raised the soft, mannerly "punk-punk" sound so long familiar, not to say characteristic, at Newport, Forest Hills, and Seabright, the cruel strife was on. William T. Tilden II, was body and soul a pro. There was a distinction here. Formerly, his soul belonged to the U. S. Lawn Tennis association, but tonight it belonged to the customers, and so it will from now on.

4 ASSOCIATION TEAMS PLAN TO TRAIN IN FLORIDA

Florida, Arkansas, Alabama, and Texas will be the training grounds for American association baseball clubs this spring. Four will pitch their training camps in Florida, two in Arkansas, and one each in Alabama and Texas.

While most of the clubs will start their southward journeys during the first two weeks in March, there are two early starters: Indianapolis, which already has landed at Sarasota, Fla., and Kansas City, which leaves for Lake Charles, Fla., Feb. 27.

Louisville embarks for Mobile, Ala., March 1; Columbus leaves for Lakeland, Fla., March 2; Milwaukee leaves for Hot Springs, Ark., March 5; Toledo goes to Miami, Fla., March 4, while St. Paul and Minneapolis leave March 15 for Mineral Wells, Tex., and Hot Springs, respectively.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

A dispatch from New York yesterday's TRIBUNE indicated that the New York boxing commission had refused to sanction a Len Harvey-Jack Fields bout because of objections to Ray Alvis as manager of Fields. Alvis said yesterday he had no connection with Fields and had managed several fighters who had fought in New York since the bout between Phil Rosenberg and Eddie Shea several years ago, which was cited as the reason for the commission's objections to Alvis. Alvis holds a New York manager's license.

"The Water Level Route lets me sleep"

FREDERIC WILLIAM WILE

Washington Correspondent

"Naturally I take the Century, or one of its companion trains. Sleep is precious, and the water level route lets me sleep. There are other factors, too, for a man whose job is to keep up-to-date—for one, the fact that the passenger list is a roster of 'Who's Who' in political and business life.

"Indeed, for more than a quarter of a century that space-annihilating palace on wheels—so fittingly called the Twentieth Century Limited—has represented the last word in American passenger travel. To betake one's self East or West on the Century has always seemed to me the badge of distinctive taste in travel."

DE PAUL HOLDS LONG DRILL FOR LOYOLA GAME

Coach Jim Kelly yesterday set the De Paul university basketball squad through a furious scrimmage in preparation for the game with Loyola university on Feb. 25. This will be the first of two games between Chicago's Catholic university rivals. It is the first time in recent years that they have met in basketball.

It is because of the home floor advantage which the Loyolans will have in the first battle that Coach Kelly is anxious to have the De Paul attack perfectly coördinated. Hahn and Johnston were used in last night's scrimmage so that they may be available as reserves.

Only three more games remain on De Paul's schedule, two of which are with Loyola. The final will be with McKendree college, a downstate team, at the north side gym. Thus far De Paul has won ten out of twelve games and hopes to make a clean sweep of the remaining contests. Both of its defeats were at the hands of St. Viator college.

MICHIGAN LOSES ALTENHOF, GUARD, FOR TWO GAMES

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Michigan will be without the services of Ray Altenhof, guard and one of the high scorers in the Big Ten, when it returns conference basketball competition against Indiana on Saturday night. Altenhof injured his ankle in practice and is not expected to be available before the close of next week.

The injury will mar Michigan's chances against Indiana here Saturday and Purdue at Lafayette Monday, though Estil Tessmer, Ann Arbor sophomore, who will fill the berth, is a capable substitute. Coach Veenker announced today that he would use Eveland and Petrie at forwards, Daniels at center, and Tessmer and Williamson at guards.

Michigan and Indiana are tied for third place in the standings.

FORMER SILVER SKATES VICTORS IN INDOOR MEET

The North American indoor speed skating championships to be held at the Chicago Stadium Feb. 27 and 28 promise to attract the fastest field to skate in this city.

Among those expected to compete who have won silver skates in THE TRIBUNE derbies are Ross Robinson of Toronto, now champion of Canada and possessor of the North American title; Charles Delpier of Detroit, who holds the five mile national and Candadian championships and Eddie Schroeder, 1931 winner.

Frank Stack, who was kept out of the 1931 Silver Skates Derby by an attack of influenza and then went on to win the championship of the United States at Oconomowoc, Wis., is certain to be a major contender for the North American title, as is Oneil Farrel, who won a Silver Skates Derby early in his career and then went on to win national and Olympic fame.

JONES EXHIBITION MATCH ENDS ALL SQUARE AT 18TH

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Bobby Jones and Johnny Golden, Connecticut professional, finished their exhibition match here today with Gene Sarasen and Horton Smith, New York professionals, all square after 18 holes.

Golden and Sarasen were tied for medal low score with 72, one over par. Jones had a 74, and Smith trailed with 75.

DISCUSS RECEPTION PLANS.

Plans for a civic reception for Robert Tyre Jones Jr., all-time champion of golf, will be laid tonight at the meeting of the board of managers of the Central Association of the Amateur Athletic union at the Hotel Sherman. Jones will be the guest of Chicago next Thursday at a national sports dinner at the Medinah Athletic club, at which he will be presented with the James E. Sullivan memorial medal, which was voted to him as the outstanding exponent of amateur sports for the year of 1930.

VAN WIE SETS RECORD

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Diana Fishwick, alone, carried England's colors into the semi-finals of the Florida women's golf championship here today. The British star, playing brilliantly on the fairways and with clock like precision on the greens, defeated Mrs. H. T. Sterrett, Hutchinson, Kas., 3 and 2 in their quarter final match.

Meanwhile, the only other Englishwoman to get into the quarter finals, Kathleen Garnham, fell before the play of Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, 4 and 3. In winning, Miss Van Wie streaked around the Palm Beach Country club course in a 72, four over men's par, and a new women's record.

Miss Fishwick meets Miss Hicks tomorrow in one semi-final while Miss Wattles and Miss Van Wie play the other match.

MacDONALD WINS VICTORY ON DOLE FUND PROPOSAL

Churchill Sees Better Times for World.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—(AP)—A few hours after the British Labor government had been defeated in the house of lords today Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's forces swept to a victory in the house of commons and carried on second reading a bill which would increase the fund for the dole.

The lords rejected the government's education bill by 168 to 22 votes, but their action had no political consequences, as adverse votes are common in the upper house and no British government has ever been overthrown by the peers.

But in the house of commons the government carried its unemployment insurance bill through its second stage by 279 against 218, or a majority of 61.

Increase Borrowing Power.

This measure has among its provisions one increasing the borrowing powers of the dole fund by roughly $100,000,000. The government had a narrow escape on this same measure a week ago, for it defeated by only 31 votes a conservative amendment which would have reduced the figure to only $50,000,000.

At present the unemployment fund stands at $250,000,000, and it is virtually exhausted. The new measure, if finally carried, will raise it to $450,000,000.

Churchill in Fiery Speech.

Churchill asserted that Lloyd George had thrown innumerable difficulties in the path of Philip Snowden, Labor chancellor of the exchequer, and declared the Welshman ought to be very modest and subdued instead of claiming to be a wizard.

Sees Better Times Ahead.

Economic conditions in the United States will better themselves before long and with them conditions in a large part of the world, Mr. Churchill said during his speech.

The present "great disorder," he said, is due to an orgy of speculation. On the other hand, he continued, the United States before the crash of 1929 had "come nearer to achieving the ideal relations between capital and labor than any community has ever come."

"They had," the Conservative orator asserted, "twenty or twenty-five million persons then producing by mass production under private enterprise 200 standard articles which were consumed by those same twenty to twenty-five millions who produced them."

Rescue Crew of Ship on Rocks on English Coast

SEAHAM HARBOR, England, Feb. 18.—(AP)—The crew of the steamer Hallmoor, which went ashore on Pin Cushion Rocks last night during a fierce northeast gale, were landed today by a breeches buoy. Mrs. Punshon, wife of the Hallmoor's skipper, was taken off before the twenty-four members of the crew were landed. The captain and his two chief officers remained with the ship, which they hoped to float off the rocks with the tide.

ACCUSED AS DRUNKEN DRIVER.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Tick Tock

CROOK LAWYERS, DRY LAW HELD CRIME SOURCE

Editor Urges War on Corruption.

Prohibition and dishonest lawyers were named as the most prominent contributors to present day crime conditions in a speech delivered yesterday by William Southern, editor of the Independence, Mo., Examiner, before members of the Inland Press association meeting in their annual convention at the Hotel Morrison.

"Lawyers must eliminate from their profession the criminals who are retained in advance by thugs and hoodlums and are actually their partners in crime," Mr. Southern said. "I believe this partnership constitutes the largest individual cause for crime, together with the fact that judges are chosen from a bar containing lawyers of such a stripe."

Also Blames Dry Law.

Prohibition has also contributed to the impetus of the crime wave in that as soon as otherwise law abiding people began to choose from the constitution the laws they would or would not obey their less law abiding brothers felt licensed to break all of the laws, Mr. Southern stated.

"The public's protection against corrupt politicians and dishonest and unscrupulous lawyers is a free, enlightened and unpurchasable editorial page," the speaker said. "When it is not abused, the editorial page is a medium of tremendous power. It is both to the interests of the advertisers and the readers that it be used strongly against crime and slovenly enforcement of the law."

Officers Are Elected.

Fred Schilpin, publisher of the St. Cloud, Minn., Times, was elected president of the association yesterday afternoon to succeed E. H. Harris, publisher of the Richmond, Ind., Palladium and Item. A. O. Lindsay of Quincy, Ill., was elected vice president. The convention ended last night.

Former Gov. Merriam of Minnesota Is Dead

Stuart, Fla., Feb. 18.—(AP)—William Rush Merriam, 82, former governor of Minnesota, died today at his winter home at Port Sewall, near here. He had been in ill health for two years. Merriam was director of United States census from 1898 to 1903 and was a close friend of Mark Hanna and William McKinley. Surviving are his widow and four children. The body will be sent tomorrow to the family home in Washington.

JURY CONTINUES INVESTIGATION OF DANCER'S DEATH

A coroner's jury investigating the death of Mrs. Lillian McGreen, 25 year old dancer who was found dead in her apartment at 4062 Kenmore avenue Tuesday, yesterday continued the inquest to March 5 to permit a chemical analysis of the stomach contents.

Her body, clad only in a blanket and with a towel wrapped around the throat, was found on the floor of the living room. Although the appearance of the body and the position of the towel led police to believe she had been strangled, the fact that there was no appearance of a struggle and the presence of burns on the face and tongue pointed to a possible suicide.

Mrs. McGreen had been living at the hotel under the name of Miss Anderson. At the inquest yesterday three witnesses brought out the fact that her husband, Henry, was arrested with eight young men for murder in 1927. They had beaten Stanley Ciesla to death after robbing him. They were sentenced to serve 1 to 14 years in the reformatory.

ACTRESS SPEEDS TO HUSBAND FOR WHOM SHE DESERTED FILMS

"It's perfectly true my wife has run away from Hollywood," said Herbert Marshall, who is playing in the Broadway stage success, "Tomorrow and Tomorrow."

"She got homesick ten days ago and asked one of the film company executives to relieve her of her contract. He induced her to remain, but last Sunday she couldn't stand it any longer and told her maid to pack up."

Turning her back on what the cinema world said was her "big chance," Miss Best boarded a train, leaving John Gilbert waiting at a camera and a frenzied director doing things to his hair. Her place in the picture "Cheri-Bebi," in which she was to have starred, was taken by Leila Hyams.

"Please forgive me," she telegraphed to the director when her train made a stop at Needles, Cal. "I am awfully homesick and besides I am just afraid I wouldn't be any good in the picture."

Marshall said he expected her to arrive tomorrow. They were married three years ago when both were playing in "The High Road."

ASK VICE SQUAD MAN TO EXPLAIN $50,000 IN BANK

New York, Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Another vice squad cop with $50,000 in the bank and no satisfactory explanation of how he happens to have it will have a chance to describe his financial background tomorrow at the public hearing in the appellate division's investigation of magistrates' courts.

Who he is was not divulged, but reporters waiting in the hall outside the investigation's headquarters saw a worried looking man step into the office of Harland B. Tibbetts, chief of Referee Samuel Seabury's legal staff. They were told that the nervous man was tomorrow's witness.

Since the revelations made in the last few days that it was a regular practice for some policemen, at least, to make regular monthly collections from speakeasies, Referee Seabury has had a score of anonymous letters telling about other cases of "shakedowns" by the police.

AUTO AND RAIL COMPANIES AID STEEL REVIVAL

Expansion Policies Help Business.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The two great steel consuming industries, automobile and railway, are doing their bit to bring about a revival in the steel industry and a return of general prosperity. Leaders of the motor car industry are expanding production in the firm belief that their sales will increase measurably this year. And the heads of big railroads are embarking on big programs in the belief that the present time is opportune because of low costs.

The chief eastern railroads, not including the Pensylvania, have in view expenditures of nearly $400,000,000, according to estimates made yesterday. The New York Central leads the list with indicated expenditures totaling $250,000,000. Including the $175,000,000 which the Pennsylvania railroad announced on Tuesday that it would disburse within two and one-half years, the total for the eastern trunk line region would be between $500,000,000 and $700,000,000. The railroads made record expenditures of more than $1,000,000,000 in 1930, largely in response to the appeal of President Hoover that disbursements be maintained to provide business for industries and employment for workers.

The views of Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, in explaining why the system is progressing a $175,000,000 program into the next two years, instead of the four years originally planned, are significant.

Will Relieve Unemployment.

"It is our view that commodity prices are now at a level, and the efficiency of labor is so great that these improvements can now be definitely contracted for on exceptionally favorable bases," he said yesterday. "Furthermore, at a time like the present, with reduced traffic, the work can be done with much less interference from the movement of trains, which of itself would constitute a definite economy.

"The improvements contemplated will involve the use of upwards of 150,000 tons of steel and, in addition, there will be very large expenditures for labor, which will be of great benefit to the unemployment situation. These improvements will involve new financing but we regard the present and the near future as most favorable in view of existing low interest rates and the plethora of savings in the country that are clearly available for investment as soon as confidence is restored.

And the growing optimism of both railroad and automobile men is reflected in the mid-week steel trade reviews. In fact, the steel men are wondering whether the upturn in the automobile demand isn't too good to be true. Anyway, the steel industry is showing improvement for the eighth consecutive week, with the mills now operating at 51 per cent of capacity, up the average, compared with 50 per cent a week ago.

More Cheerful Tone.

"A more cheerful tone prevails in the iron and steel industry, both because of further slight expansion in business and more definite promise of larger and more diversified demands with the coming of open weather," the Iron Age says. "Favorable developments of the week include a spurt in steel buying by the automobile industry, greater ton plate production, more general rail and track accessory specifications, the release of pipe line tonnage held up by cold weather, an impressive upturn in sheet orders and a better tone in the wire trade following rather general rains in drought affected agricultural areas.

"The change for the better in automotive steel requirements is so sudden that there is doubt whether it is merely a flash in the pan or marks the beginning of a general recovery in motor car business. Rush shipments of both steel and manufactured automobile parts have been necessary in some instances to round out existing stocks and keep assembly lines moving."

Western Dairy Products Reports $1,124,388 Income

New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Western Dairy Products company, including Western Dairy Products, Inc., and Arden Gold Seal Farms, Inc., for 1930 reported net income of $1,124,388, compared with $1,401,036 for the previous year.

Net for 1930 was equal, after dividend requirements on "A" and "B" preferred stocks of Western Dairy Products, Inc., and Western Dairy Products company "A" stock, to $1 a share on the class "B" stock outstanding at the end of the year. The 1929 net profit was equal to $2.01 a share on the class "B" after dividend requirements on California Cooperative Creamery company preferred, Western Dairy Products, Inc. "A" and "B" preferred and Western Dairy Products company class "A" dividends.

Funeral Directors Mart Established in Chicago

Establishment of the American Funeral Directors Mart, designed to serve the undertaking industry of the United States as a wholesale center and contact point between funeral directors and manufacturers of funeral supplies, was announced yesterday by Y. L. Alward, president of the American Furniture Mart. The new mart is a division of the Furniture Mart and will be housed in a section of the big Furniture Mart building at 666 Lake Shore drive, according to the announcement.

Atterbury Tells of New Era of Expansion by Railways

BY SCRUTATOR.

W. W. ATTERBURY.

The general acceptance by railroad officials of the idea that the country needs a unified transportation system, in which rails, highways, and motors will be coördinated in such a manner that the public will get better transportation with no additional cost, while the agencies furnishing it will be more prosperous, has been marked in recent months. Perhaps it would be more correct to say that their views have become more widely known in that period.

"Our physical plant has been built and extended across the country. Internally it has been perfected and improved so that its continuing efficiency is assured. Now we are entering on a new stage, a period of expansion into new forms of transportation, and in this period also the requirements for success remain the same—naemly: to produce economical transportation notwithstanding changed conditions."

Make Growth Possible.

Foremost of the changed conditions, according to Gen. Atterbury, has been the development of the larger centers of population. He showed that although the rails themselves made possible the growth of metropolitan communities, the growth itself created a new problem—one of reducing costs of distribution in the terminal areas, where handling charges have become a disproportionate part of the total cost of transportation.

"It was only natural," the Pennsylvania president continued, "for business to turn to the motor industry for an apparent solution of the problem. It was only natural also for business to turn to the motor truck operating on improved highways as a possible means of reducing transportation costs outside the terminal area. But as more scientific study has been applied to both these ventures it has become evident that progress lies not in ruthless, independent action on the part of railroads and motor agencies or the elimination of one in favor of the other, but in the development of both as supplements of each other."

There is nothing dreamlike in such statements. The Pennsylvania and some other railroads are using trucks in lieu of local freight trains in some places. They are trying to get the coordination spoken of in the terminal areas. In a few years, according to Gen. Atterbury, it will be possible to move all less than carload freight from consignor to consignee without change of the container. Containers have already been developed that will fit both truck and freight car. The Chicago & North Western is offering a delivery service in containers between Chicago and Milwaukee and several of the eastern roads have done the same thing.

On Paying Basis.

A great many of the western railroads, as well as the eastern, are in the truck and bus business along with the rail business. The Pennsylvania head asserted that his system's investments in bus and truck lines were on a paying basis already.

In view of the intention of getting the railroads still more fully into added forms of transportation, it would be rather futile for their presidents to insist, as some of their advocates do, that restrictions of an onerous nature, either in taxation or otherwise, be placed on highway transport. The writer can recall several who have, in fact, protested against any such turn. They reason that when the railroads get into full cooperation with the other transportation agencies, they might find such regulations too onerous for their own good.

There are still a few diehards who believe it would be possible and wise to restrict highway transport so much that it could not operate to take any traffic a railroad could haul. It can be said that the forward looking executives are far from wanting anything of the kind.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 18.—The New York Central Railroad company last year earned net income of $35,981,791 after fixed charges, equivalent to $7.21 a share on the capital stock, compared with $77,428,583, or $16.70 a share in 1929, according to a statement issued today.

Net railway operating income for the year decreased $46,467,252 to $57,235,527, while nonoperating income increased $5,588,424 to $39,763,105, compared with 1929. The shrinkage in gross operating revenues amounted to $111,090,275.

Net income of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad, a subsidiary, totaled $6,510,198 for 1930, equivalent to $7.54 a share on the stock, contrasted with $7,555,334, or $8.75 a share in 1929.

The Rutland railroad in 1930 earned net income of $274,521, against $681,938 in 1929; Indiana Harbor Belt, $1,989,985, against $3,086,699 in 1929, and the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo, $850,743, against $1,441,229 in 1929.

Will Ask Hoover to Seek Stabilization of Silver

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—(AP)—The senate foreign relations committee today approved a resolution to ask President Hoover to enter negotiations with other countries looking toward stabilization of silver prices.

It suggests that President Hoover negotiate with other governments to obtain suspension of their policy of debasing silver coins and selling the product on the world market.

It also suggests the President call an international conference to reach an agreement on the use of silver as money.

In Different Form.

The resolution was recommended in slightly different form by a subcommittee after nearly a year's investigation. It regarded suspension of the dumping of silver from India as an emergency measure and the international conference as a long range program for stabilizing silver prices.

Another resolution recommended by the subcommittee proposing an international silver loan to China will be considered tomorrow by the full committee.

Chairman Pittman of the subcommittee said he hoped to obtain favorable action in the senate on both resolutions by the end of the week and send them to President Hoover.

The foreign relations committee approved the resolution unanimously. It modified the original resolution by eliminating the names of the governments of India, Great Britain, France, and Belgium. As approved, it suggested the President enter negotiations with other governments, without naming them.

Price Moves Up.

New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Decision of the senate foreign relations committee to report favorably the Pittman resolution suggesting international negotiations for the consideration of the silver question was accompanied by a ¾ cent rise to 26¾ cents an ounce in the price of that metal today.

Bullion brokers expressed the opinion definite steps toward a discussion among the interested nations probably would be followed by a sharp rally in silver. There has been some buying recently, they said, apparently on the theory some action would be taken to halt the long decline, which has broken the yardstick of value of a large portion of the world's population.

Financial and commercial houses in China have been forced to buy gold to the extent of their silver capital, it was explained, and the extent of this so-called short position in the white metal is estimated at several hundreds of millions of dollars.

NATIONAL LEAD HAS $4,675,098 PROFIT FOR 1930

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 18.—The present period of depression and readjustment is the best thing which has happened for the world in a long time because it will wipe out the inflation and fantasies created by the war, Edward J. Cornish, president of the National Lead company, said informally today in commenting on the company's annual earnings report.

The company reported net profit for 1930 of $4,675,098, equivalent to $7.58 a common share, against $10,560,598, or $26.58 a share in 1929, which included, however, profits from sale of properties.

Mr. Cornish said the decline in profits last year was the sharpest in his experience and that he saw nothing in current sales of the company which was particularly encouraging. However, he said, the company expected to maintain its present dividend rate because of the conservative dividend policy followed in prosperous years.

J. C. Penney Co. Reports $7,096,892 Net Profit

The J. C. Penney company for 1930 reported net profit available for common stock dividends amounted to $7,096,892, equal to $2.88 a share on the outstanding no-par common stock, compared with $11,279,864, or $4.66 a share, on the common for 1929. The report pointed out that gross sales for 1930 were $192,943,765, against $209,690,417 for 1929, and said that "in view of the marked decline of commodity prices, the small decline in gross sales for the year would indicate that volume of sales by units of merchandise increased."

Douglas Aircraft Corp. Declares Extra Dividend

San Francisco, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Douglas Aircraft corporation of Los Angeles today declared an extra dividend of 25 cents a share, in addition to the regular semi-annual dividend of 50 cents. Payments are due April 20 on records of March 11. Directors voted to apply for listing of the stock on the New York stock exchange.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 18.—Activity in a long line of low priced stocks was the feature of today's share market. Seasoned industrials kept pretty well in the background and group leaders failed to appear on the ticker for long intervals at a time.

There was one period around noontime, for instance, when only a single transaction involving 300 shares was recorded in United States Steel common in a space of more than twenty minutes.

Market observers ascribed the sudden popularity of the cheaper issues to a disposition of the public which had missed the current advance to get aboard the band wagon. With this in mind, it appeared that such buyers were seeking out issues which had been overlooked in the buying movement on the theory that they are about due for a fling.

Prices Improve.

Elsewhere price movements showed a further disposition to improve. There was some selling in the early trading and again toward the last, but enough buying appeared in between to boost many issues into new high ground for the year and to record a preponderance of net gains running from 1 to 3 points in the active list.

Volume slumped off a million or so shares below yesterday's total, not quite reaching the 3,000,000 share mark.

News from a speculative viewpoint was a bit more favorable and was probably something of a factor in the day's operations. Steel trade journals

SAYS BRITISH CAN BLAME SELVES FOR GOLD DRAIN

Great Britain has been a heavy loser of gold to France and continues to be so because of British reluctance to apply the orthodox pre-war measure of raising the bank discount rate and tightening credit in London, according to Benjamin M. Anderson Jr., Ph.D., economist of the Chase National Bank of New York. His remarks were made at a dinner of the Commercial Club of Chicago last evening in the Blackstone hotel.

The British financiers are unable to carry out a remedial program because political and business opinion in London have held the belief, "despite years of disappointment," that low interest rates mean good business and because of reluctance to go through the liquidation that a firmer money policy would involve, Dr. Anderson said.

He suggested a belief that it would be better in the long run for Great Britain to make the plunge and reestablish the old flexibility in wages, costs, and prices that existed in that country before the war. The floating of long term British loan abroad to take up short term obligations of British citizens would be helpful, he added; but even this would not be necessary if France, with its immense gold reserves, would start buying foreign securities.

STONE & WEBSTER DIVIDEND RATE REDUCED TO $3

Directors of Stone and Webster, Inc., yesterday reduced the annual dividend rate from $4 to $3 by declaring a quarterly payment of 75 cents, compared with $1 previously paid. Consolidated net earnings for 1930 were $7,211,159, equivalent to $3.82 a share on an average of 1,888,694 shares outstanding during the year. The market value of securities owned on Jan. 31, 1931, excluding capital stock of subsidiary companies, showed a decline of about $11,800,000 from book value, which amunted to $5.61 a share on Stone and Webster stock.

Consolidated Public Service company has declared a stock dividend of 2 per cent. A similar dividend was distributed a year ago. The second semi-annual dividend of Twentieth Century fixed trust shares has been declared in the sum of $694.75 per unit, or 69 cents per trust share.

The large investor invests in highest-grade stocks only. He diversifies, because he knows that diversification is the secret of profitable investment.

Under the Standard American plan, 25 stocks, judged by experts the most attractive of all those listed on the New York Stock Exchange, are placed in trust. These stocks represent many industries. The companies are leaders. Combined, their resources total 20 billion dollars.

Any investor may purchase an interest in this trust. He may invest $100 or many times $100. In any case, his money is scientifically safeguarded because spread so widely. Do you wonder that several large investors have recently purchased large amounts, in excess of $100,000 each, of these shares?

All the detail of buying and caring for the stocks, disposing of rights, etc., is given expert care under the Standard American plan. Income is disbursed twice yearly, May 1 and Nov. 1.

Standard American Trust Shares are readily marketable at all times. The price is based on market quotations for the underlying stocks that day. In addition, the holder of 500 trust shares may obtain the underlying stocks on presentation of his certificate to the Trustee.

The distribution of these shares is sponsored by Lawrence Stern and Company and The National Republic Company, investment affiliate of The National Bank of the Republic of Chicago. The trustee is The Chicago Trust Company.

A phone call will bring complete information. Or write for a booklet, "The Modern Method of Common Stock Investment," which explains the plan.

WHEAT PRICES HOLD STEADY; VOLUME LIGHT

Offer Russian Grain Freely at Lower Prices.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

It is the general belief of the trade that new incentives are needed in order to get the grain markets out of the rut, and until they develop price changes are likely to continue extremely erratic without a definite trend developing.

The wheat situation has shown little change for a number of weeks, both in the statistical position or the crop outlook, and the action of this market is dominated almost entirely by the farm board, and in turn this has some effect in other countries, as close observers of conditions see it.

Trade in wheat in Chicago yesterday was unusually light, with prices holding within a range of ⅝@⅞c on the deferred futures, and the July has been unable to break out of the 67¾c @68⅝c level in the last three days. Final trades were the same as on Tuesday, with the July at 68⅜c and September 68¼@68⅝c. Old crop months were dull and unchanged to ¾c lower, with March 78½c and May 82¼c.

No Interest in March Wheat.

Official announcement that the Stabilization corporation would demand a delivery of cash wheat on its holdings of futures failed to stimulate buying of the nearby month. The open interest is around 9,500,000 bu, and a good part of this, the trade figures, represents hedging operations, and the belief is expressed that a fair amount of cash grain will go to the government early in the month. Sales of 200,000 bu cash grain were made to go to store during the day, presumably for delivery purposes.

There was no material pressure on the Liverpool wheat market, which finished unchanged to ¼d higher, with July quoted at 67¼c in American money. Argentine and Canadian offerings were firmer, but Russian was offered freely and at relatively low price.

Wheat futures at Winnipeg were relatively inactive and finished unchanged to ¼c lower, with July at 64⅝c. Around 650,000 bu Manitobas were estimated as having been sold for export, including 350,000 bu No. 1 northern to Greece. Buenos Aires, which has been closed since Saturday, was ⅜c higher as compared with that day, the greater part of the advance being due to an upturn of ⅛c in the exchange rate.

Local Trade in Corn.

Local operations were largely responsible for erratic fluctuations in the corn market within a range of about 1c. Shorts found offerings light when they tried to cover, while any selling pressure disclosed a lack of aggressive demand. Final trades were ⅝@¾c lower, with March finishing at 62½c; May, 64⅝@64¾c; July, 66⅝c, and September, 66c.

The country showed little disposition to sell cash corn to arrive with only 6,000 bu booked, but terminals sold 20,000 bu to come here, and the trade generally expects that offerings will continue in evidence as long as there is a fairly liberal supply of winter shelled grain. Shipping demand was not active, with sales of 56,000 bu.

Better Demand for Oats.

A better demand was in evidence for cash oats, with shipping sales of 133,000 bu. Removal of hedges against this business, with buying by houses with northwestern connections, more than offset the weakness in corn and the finish was ⅛@⅜c higher, with March, 32⅞c; May, 33¼c, and July, 32⅝c.

There was no pressure on the rye market and the close was unchanged to ⅛c higher, with March, 39½c; May, 41⅛c, and July, 41⅝c. Spreaders were unable to operate with any degree of freedom.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

"One must go outside of statistics on supply and demand to find the cause for corn selling 25c bu under last year with a crop 530,000,000 bu short of the previous one, to say nothing of losses of 19,000,000 tons of hay, shortage in alfalfa, clover, roughage, and pastures, occasioned by last summer's record drought and heat," says Bartlett Frazier & Co. They say, "This year's corn crop moved earlier than usual, with the period of accumulation in November and December when the visible supply was built up to 11,000,000 bu. On the other hand, the first six weeks of 1931, normally accumulation time, showed an increase of only 805,000 bu, whereas the same time last year the increase was 9,000,000 bu. Primary movement to date on this crop has been 69,000,000 bu, against 96,000,000 bu last year. Farm consumption this year started 30 to 60 days earlier than usual and this heavy country disappearance will be the first influence in turning corn future prices."

Chairman Legge of the federal farm board is quoted by Washington dispatches as announcing yesterday that the carryover of wheat on July 1 may not be less than 275,000,000 bu. This is in line with trade estimates, and tends to create a bearish feeling. Traders say that should the crop be materially reduced in this country and abroad, it might be possible to advance prices moderately, but there is an under current of bearishness and May holders have been liquidating and elevator houses also have been sellers for several days past.

AUTO ACCESSORY ISSUES RISE IN CHICAGO MARKET

Utilities Again Subject to Selling Pressure.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Motor accessory stocks and a group of miscellaneous shares continued their advance on the Chicago exchange yesterday, but the utilities were again subject to selling pressure and in nearly every instance finished the day below previous closing prices.

The trend in utility issues here was in direct contrast to action of the group on the New York market, where the utility stocks were conspicuous in the advance. Borg Warner was the outstanding favorite here, forging ahead to a new high quotation of 30 on exceptionally good demand. Trade in the issue reached a total of nearly 4,000 shares, the heaviest turnover of the day by a wide margin.

Bendix also enjoyed brisk demand and moved ahead to cross 23, but failed to hold all of its advantage. Trading in the issue was the largest in several days. Cord was less active and finished around its previous closing quotation.

Trading Slows Up.

A general slowing up in trading in the utilities accompanied the easiness in the group. Losses in most instances were fractional. Insull and Middle West both closed slightly lower. Activity in Swift International broadened out to around the 12,000 share mark as the price was marked up 2 points. Interest in the stock has apparently been stimulated by the recent annual report, which showed a sizable increase in earnings for 1930.

There was little spot news to account for the increased trading in the motor shares. Strength in these shares was generally regarded as a reflection of the better sentiment which has existed in the industry recently.

The report of the Ross Gear and Tool company which is due for release today shows that the company was able to earn its dividends by a good margin despite the conditions prevailing in the industry during 1930. Net profit after charges for the fiscal year ended Dec. 31 was $336,460, equivalent to $2.24 a share on the outstanding common stock, as compared with $65,581, or $3.77 a share in the preceding year.

Because of the reduced demand the production of automotive equipment fell off materially but the company is reported to have increased substantially its production of boat steering gear.

Export Business Gains.

Export business of the firm increased 30 per cent in the face of a large decline in the aggregate export business of the automobile industry. The current position of the company at the close of the year showed a ratio of quick assets to liabilities of approximately 5½ to 1.

The pamphlet report of Noblitt-Sparks Industries discloses net income for 1930 of $496,858, equivalent to $7 a share on common, which is slightly below the recent preliminary reports placing net income at $509,666, or $7.35 a share. In 1929 the company reported $9 a share.

H. L. Horning, president of the Washasha Motor company, states that the company has received orders for 1,200 units. The bookings will require the company to go on a six day eight hour production schedule with two night shifts, Mr. Horning said.

FINDS CHEAPEST SOVIET OUTPUT ON SMALL FARMS

J. C. Dickson, who spent last summer and fall in Russia representing the agricultural department of the University of Wisconsin in connection with the federal department of agriculture, in an address before the Grain Market Analysts club gave what he termed real facts about Russia and illustrated his statements by photographs.

Mr. Dickson stated there is still a big surplus back in the country this year as a result of the record yield per acre, but said that it probably will not be forced any further on an unwilling market. On the other hand, if the entire Russian population had all they wanted to eat there would be no surplus, he said, even out of this big crop. Contrary to general belief, he found the cheapest production was on the small individual farms operated by entire families and allowing nothing for their labor, while the cost on the large tractor farm, containing mechanized and industrially operated, was 87c per bushel, against 32c on the small farms.

JAMES F. PORTER BUYS LOOP FEE AT STATE-ADAMS

Purchased from Charles H. Starkweather.

BY AL CHASE.

Purchase of a State street fee, claimed to be the first acquired for investment purposes in a long time, was negotiated yesterday. James F. Porter of Winnetka, bought from Charles H. and Mary M. Starkweather, of Lake Forest, part of the land under the Twentieth Century building, at the southwest corner of Adams and State streets. The land, an L-shaped parcel extending on two sides of the actual corner lot, front 20 feet on State, extends back 101 feet, and has a frontage on Adams of 20½ feet. The total ground area is 2,481 square feet. The price was not disclosed. The purchase was made subject to a $210,000 loan. Harold H. Egan & Co., were brokers. Mr. Porter is an extensive owner of downtown real estate.

The land is under lease to Buck & Rayner for 103 years and six months from July 1, 1910, at a net annual rental of $21,000. On a 5 per cent basis this gives a value of $420,000. This parcel, together with the 20x80½ corner lot, comprises the 40x101 site on which the fifteen story Twentieth Century building stands.

Part of a Subdivision.

The property originally was part of the Starkweather homestead at State and Adams which was partitioned as "Starkweather's subdivision." The original homestead, consisting of four lots, fronting eighty-two feet on State street and 101 feet on Adams street, was acquired by Charles R. Starkweather in 1847. Mr. Starkweather had five children: Charles R. Starkweather, seller in yesterday's deal, is the only one now alive. The others were Frank H. Starkweather, Julia Starkweather Mason, mother of Roswell B. Mason, well known Chicago attorney; Chauncey Starkweather and Dr. Ralph Starkweather.

When this property was divided among the five children a description of each was written on a slip of paper and the five drew for their share. Dr. Ralph Starkweather, the oldest, received the immediate corner, now held by his son Ralph, the most valuable of the properties. The brothers and sister were given other property in addition to their shares, however, to equalize the holdings.

Realtors Want Permanent Home.

The "Own Your Own Home" movement again has bobbed up in the Chicago real estate board. The new quarters committee, composed of J. Soule Waterfield, chairman; James J. Carroll and Thomas J. Fleming, has just issued an appeal to members to submit any properties they think might interest the board in selecting a permanent home.

"Tenancy in the present quarters is subject to six months cancellation by either party" the statement reads. "The building which the Chicago real estate board owns is more than carrying itself as an investment at this time, but may or may not be the best available for our home. A move into the same is being considered by the board, but several other propositions have been submitted which have very attractive features and are well within the financial possibilities of the board."

Propose $10 Poll Tax.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 18.—Joining hands with the Illinois Agricultural association for the common goal of a state income tax, the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards today proposed a poll tax of $10 for each citizen of Illinois, as well as an income tax, to relieve real estate of the burden of taxation.

The action was taken by 300 delegates representing thirty-six real estate boards in the state and came a few hours after Senator Simon E. Lantz of Congerville had introduced into the legislature the income tax bill sponsored by the Illinois Agricultural association. The realtors mean to join in that bill, either as it stands or with amendments.

Wilson & Co.

Please give me what information you can on Wilson & Co. class A and preferred stocks. What is the possibility of dividends on the class A in the future? Has the class A a good outlook for appreciation in value?—H. F. S.

Wilson & Co., Inc., third largest meat packing company in the United States, carries on a business begun in 1853. It was reorganized in 1926. The company has modern and complete packing plants in New York, Chicago and Kansas City and elsewhere in the United States and South America, and through subsidiaries operates 100 distributing branches and owns 2,200 railroad cars.

Prior to the reorganization results had been poor for several years. A deficit of $8,462,000 was reported in 1921 and subsequent earnings had been barely enough to cover interest charges.

The fiscal year ends Nov. 1. Since 1927 earnings have increased each year. Net, available for dividends, in 1929 was $2,304,592, against $2,207,877 in 1928 and $147,397 in 1927. Sales increased each year from 1926 through 1929.

In the year ended Nov. 1, 1930, the company was able to continue its upward trend in earnings despite a 13 per cent drop in sales from the year before. This favorable showing was attributed to increased operating efficiency and substantial improvement in merchandising methods. Throughout the year inventories were kept sufficiently low to counteract in part the severe market declines.

Sales totaled $270,000,000. Net income was $2,542,656. This was 1.37 times dividend requirements on the 288,026 shares of 7 per cent cumulative preferred [par $100].

After paying out $2,000,211 in preferred dividends there remained a balance of $542,455, equal to $1.52 per share on 357,532 class A shares. There were also outstanding 434,983 no par common shares. The company has outstanding $20,140,000 of first mortgage 6s due in 1941 in addition to $1,597,000 bonds of subsidiaries.

Financial condition is strong. On Nov. 1, 1930, current assets were $39,746,777 and current liabilities were $4,329,011. Surplus was $15,129,163.

Although Wilson & Co. was not directly involved in the litigation which recently resulted in a partial modification of the packers' consent decree to permit distribution at wholesale of unrelated food products, the company may find the added freedom of action advantageous.

Bethlehem Steel.

Please advise me if you would consider Bethlehem Steel 5s, due May 1, 1942, and the 5s, due July 1, 1936, as good sound investments.—M. M.

Both these issues are regarded as sound.

CITE EVIDENCE OF CRUDE OIL PRICE FIXING

Washington, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Lack of any economic relationship between the price of petroleum and gasoline was given to the house commerce committee today as evidence that the price of crude oil is fixed.

A. S. Ritchie, independent oil producer, of Wichita, Kas., added to this statement that community of interest between large oil producing, pipe line, refining and marketing companies created a condition favorable to the price fixing of crude oil at the field.

The ways and means committee awaited an opinion from Secretary of State Stimson on the Capper-Garber bill to limit oil imports. Stimson was asked the effect of such legislation on existing treaties.

Chairman Hawley said the committee probably would vote on the 16,000,000 barrel limitation bill Friday or Saturday.

Ritchie told the commerce committee he thought the house bill would stimulate competition among crude oil buyers. Minimum consignments of more than 10,000 barrels required of shippers by pipe line companies, he said, work a hardship on small producers who are forced to the alternative of constructing storage facilities.

Uniform Trust Receipt Law Needed, Bean Says

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Robert H. Bean, executive secretary of the American Acceptance council of New York, told the senate banking investigating committee today there was a probable need for a uniform trust receipt law as a safeguard in dealings in bankers' acceptances. He said the law should be similar to the uniform bill of lading law. He added, however, warehouse credits generally were "very well regulated now" and were "better than ever before."

Public Service of N. J. Earns $30,163,302 in 1930

The Public Service Company of New Jersey yesterday joined the ranks of concerns that had larger earnings last year than in 1929. Its pamphlet report showed a balance of $30,163,302 available for dividends and surplus, which was equivalent after preferred dividends to $4.05 a share on the common stock. This compared with $29,544,617, or $4.13 a share, on a smaller number of shares in 1929. Net income for January was $3,318,245, compared with $2,863,204 in January, 1930.

For the twelve months ended Jan. 31 net earnings of Cities Service company totaled $56,553,823, an increase of 24.53 per cent over $45,413,728 reported for the like period ended Jan. 31, 1930. Net to stocks and reserves increased from $38,303,959 to $46,804,981. Net earnings for January, 1931, were $2,501,691, compared with $5,255,681 for January, 1930.

Describes Rail Purchase as "Modest Investment"

New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Confirming reports that the Southern Pacific had purchased a stock interest in the St. Louis-San Francisco railway, Chairman Hale Holden described the acquisition as having no significance other "than a modest investment in a friendly connection." Reports in Wall street were that the Southern Pacific had acquired within the last year or two between 10,000 and 15,000 shares, representing about 1 1-3 per cent of the outstanding Frisco common stock. Mr. Holden, however, would not say how extensive was the interest acquired or whether it was common or preferred stock.

NORTH AMERICAN EARNINGS SET AT $27,003,085

New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—The preliminary consolidated income statement of the North American company and subsidiaries for 1930 shows $27,003,085 for the common stock, compared with $26,944,700 for 1929.

Earnings for 1930 were equal to $4.53 a share on the average number of North American common shares outstanding during the year, compared with $5.02 a share in 1929. Appropriations for depreciation reserves equaled 10.67 per cent of gross earnings for 1930, compared with 10.57 per cent in 1929.

Gross earnings of $133,751,380 reflected the elimination for the last six and one-half months of 1930 of the gross earnings of the former California subsidiaries, which were sold to Pacific Gas and Electric company June 12 last.

In his letter to stockholders F. L. Dame, president, said the construction programs of the North American company's public utility subsidiaries for 1931 provide for approximately $51,000,000 additions to plants and systems. Expenditures for 1930 exceeded earlier estimates and aggregated about $70,000,000, compared with $45,000,000 in 1929.

Hear Stock Exchange Is Watching Auburn Activity

New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—It was reported in Wall street brokerage circles today that the New York Stock exchange has sent questionnaires to some brokers and interrogated others regarding the market gyrations in Auburn automobile common stock. Official comment from the exchange was unavailable, although exchange officials have recently let it be known that they are scrutinizing current bullish activity in the market as closely as they kept tabs on the bears last autumn. While there have been rumors from time to time of a technical corner in the issue, brokers pointed out that shorts have had no difficulty in borrowing the stock.

Top yesterday, $9.00; average, $8.35.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 5,000 cattle, 34,000 hogs, and 11,000 sheep.

Hog prices were pounded lower on moderate supplies again yesterday, the general average price going down to $6.70, lowest since December, 1923. The average is only 20c above the lowest point since December, 1915, and compares with $9.85 early last October, when top hogs were selling at $10.60. The extreme top fell 40c at $7.50, being $3.80 below the top on the corresponding day in 1930. The market yesterday was extremely uneven, light and light butchers showing the sharpest losses, while medium and weighty hogs declined the least. Most hogs averaging under 200 lbs tumbled 35@50c in value, while others lost 15@25c, closing on the bottom.

Eastern demand continued narrow, while local interests bought more freely after the new low quotations had been established. Only 3,000 were left at the close. Sharp price cuts at other points added to the weakness here. Three of the leading western markets sold top togs at $7.00. Five western points expect only 68,000 hogs today, against 81,500 last Thursday.

Today's Hogs Bid $7.50.

Bids of $7.50 were made for lightweights for today's delivery, but there were no sellers at this figure. Hogs averaging 210@260 lbs were bid $6.75, and 260@310 lbs, $6.35. March lightweights were offered at $8.25, but the highest bid was $7.50. April and May lights were offered at $9.00. Mediums for April delivery were offered at $8.00 and for March at $7.50. March heavy were offered at $7.00.

Cattle receipts yesterday, at 11,000, the largest for any day barring Mondays, since Jan. 21, proved too much for the trade and prices broke mostly 25c soon after the opening. Sales showed losses of 50c compared with the high point of Monday's market. An advance estimate of only 5,000 was posted for today.

Butcher stock ruled weak to 25c lower, some heifers showing more loss toward the finish. Calves declined 50c to $1.00. Stockers and feeders were scarce, but met narrow demand at weak to lower prices.

Sheep Receipts Meager.

Lambs advanced fully 25c on small supplies yesterday, a good showing of top kinds making the $9.00 line to all interests. Prime 96 lb averages reached $8.70, while $8.35 was paid for 107 lb lambs. Aged sheep and yearlings were scarce and unchanged.

Feeding stock sold steady, some 90 lb shearing lambs going at $7.50. Eastern demand for lambs continued good, while receipts are decreasing. Yesterday's total arrivals at 5,000 were smallest for Wednesday since Jan. 1, 1930. During the first three days of the week shippers bought about 50 per cent of Chicago receipts.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(AP)—A decline of 2 points occurred in raw sugar today, with frees selling at 3.30c for spots. After some hesitation at the start raw futures firmed up on covering and buying by trade interests, probably against sales in the spot market, with final prices 1 and 2 points net higher. Approximate sales, 28,500 tons. Prices follow:

RAILROAD NOTES

Effective Feb. 22 the North Western Limited of the Omaha line will clip an hour and 45 minutes from its eastbound schedule, making the trip in 10 hours and 10 minutes. The train will leave here at 9:35 p. m. instead of 8:40 and arrive in Chicago at 7:45 instead of 8:35. The Milwaukee last week announced that its Pioneer Limited will cut an hour and 30 minutes and its fast mail an hour and 20 minutes from the running time to Chicago.

From Feb. 1 to 14 the Chicago and North Western railway showed an increase of 11.11 per cent in car loadings over the same period in January this year. Cars loaded so far in February are 58,314, as compared with 52,483 from January 1 to 14, an increase of 5,831 cars. February loadings also show an increase in average daily loading over December, 1930. In December cars were loaded at a rate of 3,659 per day, as compared with the daily average of 4,165 during the first 14 days of February.

Grain loading on the Burlington continued to average ahead of last year. For the two weeks ended Feb. 14 grain loadings handled by the Burlington totaled 5,682 cars, as against 5,207 cars in the same period a year ago, or a gain of 9.1 per cent. Total freight hauled by the Burlington in the two weeks was 55,148 cars, as compared with 66,804 cars in the 1930 period.

AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE.

LET'S GO!
STUDEBAKER'S AMAZING BARGAINS

Will save you hundreds of dollars. And you can buy with confidence. 5 days' free driving trial goes with each sale.

JORDAN 8 SEDAN. "Here is an ideal car for the family. It's a comfortable, fine running car that's exceptionally clean throughout. Equipped with 4whl. brakes. Pines winterfront, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Reduced to $150.

ESSEX SPORT COUPE, 1928, with rumble seat. Has 4 whl. brakes, and many extras. The finish, upholstery and tires are in splendid condition. This is positively the best Essex buy in Chicago. Reduced to $195.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN, 1928 Dictator that was traded in at a very favorable price, so we'll pass on the saving to you. Has expensive mohair upholstery and a sweet running motor. 4 whl. brakes and every essential extra. Reduced to $250.

PACKARD SEDAN. It was chauffeur driven and given exceptional attention. Result is it's practically 100% today. The beautiful tan finish has not a mar on it and every detail of the interior is in wonderful condition. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, spare tire, bumpers, etc. Reduced to $250.

STUTZ SEDAN. This car will satisfy the most exacting buyer. Has wire wheel equipment, heater, spare tire, snubbers, bumpers, etc. Motor is A1 and the appearance is very attractive. Reduced to $245.

BUICK COUPE. Late model Mast. 6 with rumble seat. The upholstery appears unworn and the finish sparkles like a new dollar. Tires have little mileage and there are a wealth of extras. Motor runs smoothly and quietly. Reduced to $295.

PLYMOUTH SEDAN, 1929, that was only driven a few thousand miles. If you examine this car carefully and give it a thorough demonstration, you will agree with us that it looks and performs like a brand new Plymouth today. Will not remain long at our reduced price of $395.

WHIPPET SEDAN, 1929, this is a close coupled six with new tires, snubbers, bumpers, etc. It was only driven evenings and Sundays for pleasure purposes, so now it's like new in every respect. Reduced to $445.

HUDSON SEDAN. Recent sport model that's equipped with shutter front, heater, trunk, spare tire, bumpers, shock absorbers, etc. This Hudson is a real beauty. It looks and runs as though direct from the factory. An exceptional bargain at our reduced price of $550.

STUDEBAKER ROADSTER, 1930, finished a handsome two tone tan, with wire wheel equipment, and $200 worth of extras. This is a President Eight with a spacious rumble seat and is a world of power and pep. Sold for over $2,000 a short time ago. Offered now at only a fraction of its original cost.
